"Best Time in World For City Bond Issue," Says Robert Maddox

Prominent Banker Tells Finance Committee That It Would Be "Outrageous" for Atlanta to Levy Emergency Tax When She Has Such Splendid Credit.

WILL BE EASY TO SELL, DECLARES FINANCIER

Banker Admits That Condition of Some of Present Buildings Is Deplorable, But Asserts That Additional Tax of $1,300,000 Is Needless Hardship.

It would be outrageous for Atlanta to try to raise taxes by an emergency levy when she has splendid credit, lying idle, Robert F. Maddox, president of the Atlanta National bank and former mayor of the city, told the members of the council finance committee Monday afternoon. He said that now would be the best time in the world to issue bonds, and the city wouldn't have a bit of trouble selling them. He expressed the opinion that the bonds could be sold at a 5½ per cent interest rate without any difficulty.

Mr. Maddox appeared before the committee on an entirely different matter, but spoke on the tax question at the direct invitation of the committee, whose members requested his views on the relative merits of the taxation and bonding methods as the means of raising funds to build new schools.

"Poor Business Policy."

The imposition of an extraordinary tax would be a poor business policy and an unnecessary hardship on the people, said Mr. Maddox, and announced his belief that the people will support bonds.

"I believe your outstanding bonds now amount to about $6,000,000," he inquired.

"Less than that," replied B. Graham West, city comptroller. "A little more than $4,000,000."

"Then there is your wide margin between this amount and your bonding limit of approximately $17,000,000," said Mr. Maddox. "Your credit is lying idle. It is outrageous for the city with no more bounds outstanding than you have to try to raise taxes by a special levy."

Erected Economically.

Mr. Maddox said that as he remembered it twelve schools were built with the proceeds from bonds during his administration. They were erected very economically, he stated, and the city certainly got full value for every cent spent. He told the committee that in his belief the people will authorize whatever issue of bonds is necessary—one million, two million, three million or more.

The condition of some of the present buildings is deplorable, particularly the Tech High and Boys' High schools, and there is no question about the necessity for replacing these and others, he continued, but $1,300,000 actual cash taken from the pockets of the taxpayers in a single year in addition to the regular taxes they must pay, would be a needless hardship, he said.

Delay on Tax Measure.

Consideration of an emergency tax levy, which Mayor Key proposes as the best plan to make possible the erection of new school buildings, will probably be delayed by the committee until the latter part of the week, when it has more thoroughly analyzed the city's financial status for the year.

The mayor will appear in person before the finance body and opponents of his plan also will be heard. One of the mayor's arguments against bonds, which Mr. Maddox answered Monday, is that an effort to finance a bond issue at this time would find the worst possible bond market, and the rates which could be obtained would have to be borne for thirty years, provided, of course, thirty-year bonds were issued.

Mr. Maddox came before the committee to ask that an appropriation be placed in the sheet to partially liquidate a balance of $15,000 due by the city to property owners

Father of Erring Boy Exonerates Officer Who Killed His Son

Muskogee, Okla., January 10.—"You did right," said Thomas J. Wiley, attorney, as he extended his hand to Paul Nobles, police officer, who shot and killed Wiley's 16-year-old son, Eugene, as he leaped from the window of an office room he was robbing early today. Wiley met the officer late today in the office of the county attorney.

"I'm sorry; terribly sorry," Nobles replied. "I didn't know he was just a kid.'

The Wiley boy was one of a boy gang, ranging in age from 13 to 17 years, according to the police. With him today was Paul Bailey, 15 years old, son of prominent Muskogee parents. Bailey was arrested.

Covington Burglar Gets Many Pistols And Fine Cutlery

Covington, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—Another daring burglary was committed in Covington last night, some time between midnight and dawn, when Piper's hardware store, one of the largest in the city, was broken into by unknown parties and a large number of guns, pistols, knives, razors and watches were stolen.

The back door was forced open and entrance obtained.

One of the knives was found in the marble yard near the Georgia depot, and an umbrella was also picked up at the store door. No arrests have been made.

The Piper store was burgalized several months ago, at which time considerable money was taken.

Chained to Flagpole, With Rocks to Break Right in Public Eye

Russellville, Ark., January 10.—Chief of Police Walter Turnbow said today he would ask the city council for authority to place a rock pile in the public square with a set of chains attached to a flagpole in the center. Persons convicted of petty crimes would be chained to the flagpole and forced to serve their sentences breaking rocks, Chief Turnbow said.

LUMBER INDUSTRY OBJECT OF PROBE

Department of Justice Conducting Investigation, Particularly of Southern Yellow Pine Interests.

Washington, January 10.—A general investigation of the lumber industry, and more particularly of the yellow pine industry in the south, is being conducted by the department of justice to determine whether there have been violations of the Sherman anti-trust act.

This became known today after the federal trade commission had transmitted to congress a copy of a report on the activities of organization of lumber manufacturers, which it has prepared at the request of the department of justice. The information was sent to the senate and house on the assumption by the commission that it might be useful to the senate committee on housing and reconstruction which has been investigating building costs and other matters.

Frank K. Nebeker, assitant to the attorney general, said toay that the department's inquiry into the lumber industry was not directly connected with the Lockwood building investigation in New York and he indicated that it had been in progress for some time.

Price Lists.

Numerous extracts from correspondence, said to have passed between officials of regional organizations, are given in the report to support the commission's charges that issuance of price lists from time to time was an "established practice."

It is set forth in the report that

FRAUD ON PUBLIC CHARGED TO ROADS ON OUTSIDE WORK

Employees Say Maintenance and Equipment Costs Are Inflated by Cost-Plus System.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Workers Tell Labor Board Interlocking Control Allows Exploitation of Public Through "Outside Work" System.

Chicago, January 10.—Charges that American railroads are in a conspiracy to create unemployment, and are defrauding the American people out of millions of dollars through operation of a cost-plus system of contracts with equipment and repair companies, were made today by representatives of employees of the roads, appearing before the railroad labor board. The railroad operators presented counter testimony all afternoon, and will conclude their statement tomorrow.

The employees' charges, which declared 80 per cent of the railroad mileage in the country was controlled by the Morgan steel interests, asserted that maintenance costs had been inflated at the expense of the public. This was done, according to the statement of B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, by letting contracts to equipment companies "controlled by the same banks that control the railroads."

"Constitute Fraud."

"Under the guarantee of the Esch-Cummins act, the alleged inflated costs constitute a fraud against the United States government, and operted to throw out fo employment more than 50,000 skilled railway employees," Mr. Jewell said.

Declaring that the charges had no relevancy to the hearing on rules and working conditions under consideration before the board, E. T. Whiter, chairman of the managers' committee of the railroads, asserted that they were made "to divert public attention from the matters in controversy."

Examples designed to show inequalities in present rules were recited in detail, by Mr. Whiter. He declared the present national greements should not, in the interests of honest, efficient and economical management, be continued longer, and said universal application of their provisions was impracticable because the only parties fully qualified to consider such regulations are the individual managements and the employees themselves.

Urges Piece Work.

Mr. Whiter urged a return to the piece work plan. He declared that was recognized as the most efficient method of operation and attempted to show what had been accomplished under the piece work system as compared with the same work now done by the hour.

Specified hours and restricted starting times were deplored in numerous examples brought out to show, Mr. Whiter said, uneconomical practice. Overtime and extra shifts were cited on several roads to show that the work done could be performed by regular shifts in regular hours, if the roads were not restricted by the present rules.

The case was cited of a Norfolk and Western machinist who arrived 15 minutes before his call and was instructed to fix a broken water glass as emergency work. He performed 15 minutes' labor, according to the testimony, and, under the rule, had to be paid for three hours and twenty minutes at time and a half.

$34.84 for One Hour.

Another case, that of a mechanic on the Chicago, Indiana and Western, who was sent to an outside terminal for work which took him one hour to perform, was presented. Due to the train schedules he was compelled to stay out all night and under provisions of the rule, his claim totaled $34.84.

Numerous other examples were presented as evidence of the railroads contention that the present rules are unjust. Statistics were given for eight months on the Norfolk and Western in 1920. In January there were 2,733 calls, with 6,087 1-2 hours actually worked. Hours paid for totaled 13,665 under the rule, with punitive payment of $4,787.66.

Today's session was adjourned before the completion of Mr. Whiter's statement. He will resume his testimony tomorrow after which the railroad employees are expected to bring evidence substantiating the charges presented in their opening statement.

U. S. WITHDRAWS FROM COUNCIL OF AMBASSADORS

Washington, January 10.—Immediate withdrawal of the United States from further participation in the council of ambassadors in Europe was reported today to have been decided upon. State department officials declined to discuss the report, but they did say that the American government would not be represented at the meeting of premiers next week at which France and Great Britain will discuss ways and means for enforcing the terms of the treaty of Versailles affecting particularly the conditions in the Ruhr valley.

Davis Denies Charge Of Cuban Coercion By State Department

Acting Secretary Hotly Contradicts Statement Made by President Carlton, of Western Union.

PERSECUTION ALLEGED BY COMPANY OFFICIAL

In Hearing Before Senate Committee, Cable Landings, British Censorship and News Dissemination Are Featured.

Washington, January 10.—Acting Secretary Davis denied today before a senate committee that the state department had brought any pressure to bear on the Cuban government to prevent the landing of the Western Union Barbados cable as had been charged earlier in the day by President Carlton of the Western Union company.

Charges that the state department was "making threats against the Cuban government" to prevent the issuance of permits for Western Union cable landings on the island, were made before a senate committee today by Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union company.

Mr. Carlton declared the department "was pursuing to the point of persecution" its differences with the company over the attempt to land the cable from Barbados which he said would establish a new line of communication with South America.

Revocation Pending.

Senator Kellogg asked Mr. Carlton, who appeared at his own request, if the Cuban government actually had revoked the permit for landing the Barbados cable in Cuba.

"I understand the document revoking the permit is now before the president of Cuba for signature," Mr. Carlton responded. "This, the Cuban government, of course, is loathe to do, because of the act of the state department is an affront to its dignity, but it cannot resist, because it is not in a condition to do so."

The statement was made at the state department last week that the action of the Cuban government in refusing to permit the cable to land had been without any suggestion from the American government.

English Censorship.

Norman H. Davis, acting secretary of state, and Mr. Carlton conducted a cross-table argument over the Cuban allegation when Mr. Davis flatly denied it. Chairman Kellogg ended the hearing by questioning Mr. Carlton as to the English practices. Clarence H. Mac-

PlansAbandoned For Celebration At Inauguration

Request From President-Elect Results in Dropping of All Inauguration Preparations in Washington.

Washington, January 10.—Abandonment immediately of all plans for a celebration in connection with the inauguration of President-elect Harding was announced tonight by E. C. McLean, chairman of the Washington inaugural committee, in accordance with the desire of Mr. Harding.

Just how far Mr. Harding's action actually will curtail the ceremonies is uncertain. It is taken for granted that at least the inaugural ball, which disappeared from inaugural festivities at Woodrow Wilson's instance in 1913, will be one of the features to be definitely ruled out of the 1921 inauguration.

Crowds Certain.

It also is realized, however, that great crowds undoubtedly will flood the capital for the event, and some of the president-elect's friends think that some sort of parade will result inevitably when Mr. Harding makes his pilgrimage to the capitol to take the oath.

Announcement of the president-elect's decision came only a few hours after congress, through action of the house, completed enactment of a bill appropriating $50,000 for expenses incident to the inauguration. As the measure has passed both houses of congress, just what coure congressional leaders will take in respect to it was in doubt tonight.

May Reconsider Vote.

In the usual course of procedure the bill would go to the white house tomorrow, but the suggestion was made tonight that republican leaders in either the senate or house might move to reconsider the vote of their body and thereby withdraw the bill.

Disbanding of committees appointed by Chairman McLean, membership on which include hundreds of persons not only in Washington but elsewhere, is expected to begin immediately. Upward of $200,000

$75,000 DROPPED BY PHILADELPHIAN TO 'BUNCO GANG'

Contractor in City of Brotherly Love Tells of Loss and Offers to Come to Atlanta to Testify.

FARMER IN MARYLAND NOW $10,000 POORER

Boykin Now Making Preparations for Nation-Wide Campaign for Arrest of Leaders of "Syndicate."

The largest individual loss as a result of the operations of Atlanta's confidence ring was disclosed yesterday in a letter received from Philadelphia by Solicitor General John A. Boykin. The writer, a Philadelphia contractor, whose name the solicitor will not disclose, declared that he had been victimized to the extent of $75,000 by Atlanta swindlers.

Despite the fact that he was practically impoverished by the operation he declares that he is willing to come to Atlanta at his own expense to testify against the men who fleeced him. The solicitor general has sent him a summons.

Another victim to report Monday was an aged farmer of Maryland, who came to the city in company with his son, a banker. He related his losses to Mr. Boykin. In round figures they amounted to $10,000.

Assembling Evidence.

In the meantime, Mr. Boykin is keeping tremendously busy in his office assembling all the evidence he has against the swindle syndicate and making preparations for a nation-wide campaign for the arrest of the leaders of the "pay-off men," who have already been indicted but who have disappeared.

Until that feature of his campaign is completed, the solicitor does not plan to bring the swindle expose before the present grand jury. "I want to have my evidence thoroughly in hand, ready to submit in a concise form," he said Monday. "Right now this office is busy with drawing routine indictments to be submitted to this session of the grand jury. I hardly think that we will get to the swindle cases before next week. However, at that time I hope to be ready to make rapid progress."

Scores of copies of photographs of the men, declared to be the master minds of the bunco syndicate, have been prepared for the solicitor's office and this week they will be mailed broadcast throughout the country.

Arrests Are Expected.

Mr. Boykin has plans, which he is confident will lead to the early arrest of Floyd Woodward and Clyde Smith, both of whom have been prominently identified with the band's operations.

Legal complications will delay the return of the six men held in Memphis on charges of being implicated in the bunco work here. Special Investigator Plennie Miner, of Mr. Boykin's office, and County Policeman Marvin Baker and Deputy Sheriff James E. White are in the Tennessee city to escort the men back to Atlanta.

However, Monday night extradition papers had not been granted and all indications pointed to a lively coutr fight before these men are returned to Atlanta.

Men in Custody.

The men in custody are Walter Chambers and George M. Williams, of Chicago; R. J. Wilson, of Springfield, Mo.; William Fletcher, of Boston; J. W. Mooney, of Kansas City, and John Alexander, of St. Louis.

They are supposed to be plentifully supplied with funds and to be represented by shrewd and able counsel, and three of them are seeking liberty by habeas corpus.

According to present plans the solicitor general does not intend to bring any of the swindle cases to trial during the January term of court. He will however, push the work until the first week in February, when he believes that he can go to trial. Under this plan he will ask for double sessions of the court each day until all the cases are disposed of.

Asks Habeas Corpus.

Memphis, January 10.—Habeas corpus proceedings instituted late today by the attorney for George W. Williams, Walter Chambers and William Fletcher, three of the alleged confidence men held here, will prevent their return to Atlanta to answer to indictments charging swindling until next Saturday.

NEGRO POPULATION OF MACON SHOWS INCREASE OF 4,941

Washington, January 10.—The negro population of Macon, Ga., was announced today by the census bureau as 23,091, an increase of 4,941, or 27.2 per cent. The white population is 29,900, an increase of 7,390, or 32.8 per cent ,and all others, 4.

The negro population of Tampa, Fla., was announced as 11,520, an increase of 2,569, or 28.7 per cent. The white population is 40,057, an increase of 11,267, or 39.1 per cent, and all others 31.

STEPS TO IMPROVE GAS AND TROLLEY SERVICE REPORTED

Power Company Now in Position to Make More Rapid Advancement, Arkwright Tells Rail Board.

BETTER GAS PRESSURE ASSURED TO WEST END

All Materials Necessary for This Improvement Assembled—27 New Street Cars Ordered.

Showing that considerable progress has been made in required improvements of both gas and street car service, and that the company is in a position to make more rapid advancement in the next few months, the Georgia Railway and Power company, late Monday afternoon, rendered its second report ordered by the state railroad commission at the time it granted the the concern increased rates last year.

All materials necessary to make improvements in the West End gas pressure conditions have arrived, and the parts have been assembled, while the work on the Virginia avenue-Highland avenue improvements has been carried forward, according to the report. The new pushers, which are to be used in connection with the West End service, however, have not been received and while awaiting their arrival, the work of laying additional gas mains for this territory is being promoted.

Among the other improvements in the gas service mentioned in the report are the arrival of two new Ingersol Rand compressors, material for the water gas purifier; installation of the waste steam boiler and piping, while preparations are being made for the erection of the DeBrouwer combination charging and discharging machine. The repairing of old equipment is also under way.

Material Received.

In reporting on reconstruction of the Winder street car line, the corporation stated that all of the required material has been received and distributed to points along the line where the work is under way. The entire schedule is about 10 1-10 per cent completed, and the remainder is being pushed forward as rapidly as it can reasonably be done, according to the report.

Twenty-seven new street cars were ordered by the corporation several months ago, and the first five of these are expected about January 15, stated the report. These will be placed into operation immediately, and the others are expected to follow at intervals of two weeks, it was stated, on account of the resignation of the manager of the railway department, the corporation

GAINES IS HEAD OF SCHOOL BOARD

New President, in Inaugural Address, Urges Full Co-operation Between Educators and Council.

W. W. Gaines, well-known Atlanta attorney, was elected president of the city board of education at its first 1921 meeting held in the city council chamber Monday afternoon.

Mr. Gaines was elected to the board of education from the second school district, comprising the second and third wards. At the time of his election last year he was president of the Carnegie library board and resigned that office to accept the place on the school board. He is a native of Kentucky, and a graduate of Washington and Lee university. He is moderator of the Atlanta Baptist association and an official of the Georgia Baptist convention.

W. S. McCalley, Jr., member of the board from the seventh and tenth wards, was elected vice president, and James S. Floyd, vice president of the Atlanta National bank, re-elected to the office of treasurer.

In a brief inaugural address, Mr. Gaines urged full co-operation between the board of education and city council. He indicated that he was in favor of the proposed emergency tax as a means of financing the school system.

Superintendent W. F. Dykes, during the meeting, formally filed with the board of education his annual report, made public in last Sunday's Constitution, in which he declares that the erection of five more modern schools is necessary to accommodate the present overflow of pupils. The report points out that, although the seating capacity of the schools is 27,581, seats are lacking for 2,376 pupils, in spite of the fact that 55 basement rooms are now being utilized as class rooms.

Improvement in System.

The report also showed substantial improvements in the system during 1920. Some of the improvements were the addition of two stories to the Commercial High school; the rebuilding of Milton Avenue school, which was burned, with the addition of one story; the

NATIONAL HEADS OF REAL ESTATE BOARDS ARRIVING

Atlanta Members of Association Have Made All Preparations for Entertainment of Visitors.

BUSINESS GATHERINGS WILL OPEN WEDNESDAY

Georgia Association Organized at Meeting Held Here Monday, With W. H. Stillwell as President.

The formation of a Georgia Real Estate association, with W. H. Stillwell, of Savannah, as its first president, Monday, was the interesting local prelude to the great influx of realtors from the country over to attend the sessions of the executive committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which start here today, although the business sessions do not begin until Wednesday.

More than 500 of the country's most prominent realtors will gather here as members of that executive board and others will attend the session for the benefits to their business they expect to accrue from this distinct event in each year with realty men. In addition to the 500 members, practically all of whom are expected to attend, many will bring their wives and other members of their families with them for the four days of the gathering.

Members of the Atlanta Real Estate board are urged to have their automobiles at the Union station at 11 o'clock this morning to receive the visitors.

Elect Their Officers.

Georgia realty men from all sections of the state, at their meeting Monday, unanimously agreed on the desirability of forming a state organization, elected officers, and adopted a constitution and by-laws.

In addition to Mr. Stillwell, officers chosen were H. B. Scott, Atlanta, first vice president; Charles P. Rowland, Savannah, second vice president, and Marshall Ellis, Macon, third vice president. Two more vice presidents are provided for in the constitution, these to be the presidents of the next two local real estate boards formed in the state. Representatives from Athens and Augusta announced Monday movements in their home cities for such organizations.

The place and time of the next meeting of the association was left to the executive committee, to be composed of all the officers and five members to be appointed from the state at large by Mr. Stillwell. The president is also to arrange for the appointment of a secrtary-treasurer and will announce his other committee appointments at an early date. The new association voted unanimously Monday to affiliate itself with the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the executive committee of which is now gathering in Atlanta for its annual meeting.

Governor Dorsey Speaks.

Prominent speakers at Monday's sessions were Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, who welcomed the visitors and added his approval to their plan of organization and co-operation and F. H. Abbott, who addressed the gathering on the motives of the Advertise Georgia Movement, receiving a unanimous vote of indorsement.

The meetings were also addressed by Ernest Hill, of Jacksonville; George W. Persons, of Memphis; Ward Wight, Benjamin D. Watkins and Henry B. Scott, officers of the local board.

In the party which arrives at noon today from New Orleans, led by Fred E. Taylor, president of the national association, are some of the country's most prominent realtors, who have been making a western trip with President Taylor, studying realty and business conditions in all of the territory visited. Mrs. Taylor is accompanying the organization's president and will be the recipient of many social affairs during her stay here.

Tom Ingersoll, of Chicago, secretary of the association; Frank McNeny, of Dallas, Texas, vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Myer Elseman, of New Orleans; Carroll Walmsley, chairman of the New Orleans board; Gerrish Gassaway, secretary of the New Orleans board, are others who will be in the presidential body.

MRS. RUST HURT BY MOTOR TRUCK; DRIVER ARRESTED

Mrs. R. S. Rust, of 45 West Fifth street, wa sseriously injured about 6:30 o'clock Monday afternoon when struck by a motor truck of the Russell Electric company on West Peachtree street at the corner of Fifth. She was carried to her home and the family physician summoned.

Paul Smith, chauffeur, who was driving the truck at the time of the accident, was placed under arrest and held without bond, pending the outcome of Mrs. Rust's injuries.

She was returning home from town, and had just alighted from a West Peachtree car at Fifth street, when the truck, which was going in the same direction as the street car, outbound, struck her.

Regardless of Consequences, New Scale Will Be Put Into Effect on February 1, President Bugg Informs the Employees.

CONFERENCE CLOSES AFTER ANNOUNCEMENT

Representatives of Men Hold Meeting, But Announce That They Have No Definite Statement to Make at Present.

The conference between officials of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad and heads of railroad labor unions came to an abrupt close Monday afternoon, when President B. L. Bugg, of the road, told the labor delegates that the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic is in such serious financial straits that it will be impossible to continue paying the present scale of wages, and that the road will, regardless of the consequences, put its announced cut into effect on Febrnary 1.

Following this announcement, E. P. Curtis, of Crystal City, Texas, national vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, in his capacity of spokesman for the rail crafts and brotherhoods, replied that the delegates would withdraw and give the matter such consideration as it deserved, and that his side would request a reopening of the conference at a later date.

President Bugg, of the A., B & A., said to a Constitution reporter after the session that the road officials will be glad to reopen the conference at any time a request for such action is received.

POSITION OF MEN.

The morning session of the conference was taken up with the presentation of claims by employees that the railroad should continue to pay the present scale of wages until the matter of a wage cut has been submitted to and passed upon by the United States railway labor board.

Upon the presentation of this 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, when claim, the meeting adjourned until it was reopened by a reply from President Bugg in which he stated the earnings of the road are not sufficient to enable it to pay the present scale of wages and that since the termination of the federal guaranty the road has failed to earn operating expenses by approximately $100,000 per month.

This condition, Mr. Bugg said, has created such a serious situation that it makes it impossible for the railroad to continue paying the present scale of wages.

SIGNAL FOR ADJOURNMENT.

This statement from Mr. Bugg, which virtually amounted to a declaration that the road's officials will as a result of financial stringency be forced to ignore the railway labor board, was the signal for adjournment of the conference after the labor leaders had contended that their position had not been fully understood by heads of the A., B. & A.

The labor delegates repaired to the Piedmont hotel and stayed in session until 7 o'clock Monday night, after which Chairman Curtis announced that his side had no definite announcement to make.

He stated that he did not believe the conference would be resumed Tuesday, but was of the opinion that Wednesday would see a continuance of deliberations.

While Mr. Curtis would make no statement of a definite nature, it was understood that the labor faction Monday night was placing the situation as it now stands before the highest authorities of the railway brotherhoods and crafts with a view to deciding upon a course of action.

$100,000 A MONTH.

After making it plain that the A., B. & A. intends to put the wage cut into effect upon scheduled time regardless of all issues, President Bugg said he had no further statement to make in the matter.

The wage cut, he stated, will amount to approximately $100,000 per month and will represent approximately 50 per cent of all increases in pay granted the rail men since 1917, and, labor men assert, would mean an average reduction in pay of 20 per cent.

In making his statement before the conference, President Bugg declared that in September the road faced a deficit of $110,000, in October $84,000, in November $92,000 and that December was expected to show a deficit of approximately $100,000.

Statement by Curtis.

Asked to make a statement on the situation, Chairman Curtis said:

"The matter is a simple one. The railroad says it must reduce wages. The employees say that wages are fixed by the United States railway labor board, and that any contention arising should be submitted to it and should be the subject of conference between the parties interested before final action is taken."

The present dispute was precipitated when President Bugg, on December 20, notified all crafts that the wage cut would become effective February 1. He stated that it was impossible for the road to continue paying the present wage scale, and said that junketing of the road was threatened.

Last Saturday night, in session at the Labor temple, the railway crafts passed resolutions condemning the action of the road heads and declaring that the employees would not submit to a cut at this time.

The meeting Monday, which was attended by officials repersenting railway labor throughout the south and officials of the A., B. & A., was watched with the greatest interest by railroad officials and employees throughout the nation.

Among prominent rail labor leaders present were: E. P. Curtis, of Crystal City, Texas, vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, chairman; J. B. Hogsed, vice grand president, Brother of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees; H. P. Daugherty, assistant grand chief, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; J. O. Raley, grand vice president, United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers; J. F. McCrary, vice president, Order of Railway Carmen; G. W. Marshall, international representative, International Association of Machinists; K. J. Little, international representative, Sheet Metal Workers; J. J. Dermody, vice president, Order of Railway Telegraphers; A. M. Hull, international vice president, Electrical Workers; T. J. Garvey, president, division No. 3, Federated Shop Crafts, and G. H. Flynt, vice president, Maintenance of Way Employees.

Ask Aid for Y. W. C. A.

Several other representatives of the public and a number of the departments were heard from by the committee during the day Monday. A large delegation of women representing the Young Women's Christian association, led by Mrs. Archibald Davis, president of the board of directors, waited on the body and asked for the restoration of an appropriation to help finance the needs of the organization.

She said the Y. W. C. A. has no income except that of membership fees of $1 each, revenues from the cafeteria which it operates and voluntary contributions. Councilman Al Martin moved that $2,400 be placed in the sheet for the institution. His motion was defeated, the committee voting five to four to put $1,200 in the budget. The organization had received no city aid for the past three years.

The committee voted at the afternoon session in favor of placing the three city license inspectors under the supervision of City Clerk Walter Taylor, and Sledge Collier, tax investigator, under the supervision of the office of tax assessor. Ordinances to make these changes effective will be prepared and introduced in council.

Few Salary Increases.

Very few salary increases were granted at the meeting and these only after the most exhaustive showing of the merits in each case. The committee voted to raise the salary of the bookkeeper at the municipal garage from $110 a month to $130; a clerk in the tax assessor's office from $1800 to $2,100 a year; one deputy tax collector from $1,800 to $2,100. The committee also inserted in the tentative sheet an appropriation for the employment of an additional clerk in the office of tax assessor, and an appropriation to purchase a Ford car for the use of the purchasing agent.

A. J. Orme, former councilman and chairman of the finance committee, asked for an appropriation of $15,000 to be spent toward completing the open channel sewer at Piedmont park. He stated that he intends to ask the county commissioners for an equal sum. The committee will consider Mr. Orme's request later.

Net income of the city for 1921, based on estimates from heads of city departments as given to the committee Monday by the city comptroller, is $5,400,000, with necessary appropriations and fixed expenses sufficient to practically exhaust this amount.

Sources of Revenue.

A resume of the most important sources of revenue for the present year is as follows:

General tax, $3,203,375; back taxes unpaid, $225,000; marshal's deeds, $1,000; business license, $385,000; dray and hack license, $22,000; insurance, $80,000; bridge rentals, $3,000; street railway and telephones, $88,000; dog tax, $4,000; recorder's court, $160,000; Grady hospital, $2,000; contagious disease hospital, $350; assessments, $2,000; school tax from state, $165,000; non-resident tuition, $13,000; from Music Festival association for auditorium fire wall, $5,000; water receipts, $925,000; city auditorium, $10,000; bathing and golf fees, $12,000; tax interest, $35,000, and other miscellaneous items.

Listed below is a digest of the more important expenditures as placed upon the tentative sheet:

Mayor's office, $9,900; city council, $10,200; city clerk, $19,725; law department, $19,900; comptroller's office, $20,400; purchasing agent, $268,250; treasurer, $1,065; municipal garage, $63,230; tax collectors, $9,975; license inspectors, $5,665; tax assessors, $28,900; marshal's office, $12,400; department of weights and measures, $1,550; city hall, $15,320; telephones, $4,500; pensions, $21,986; police department, $468,900; fire department, $453,950; auditorium, $17,187; recorder's court, $5,425; building inspector, $11,175; insurance, $10,000; health department, $75,860; farm and dairy, $16,000; sanitary department, $441,697; sewers, $84,598; Grady hospital, $204,000; contagious disease hospital, $15,629; Battle Hill sanitarium, $89,398; mechanical engineers' department, $4,300; chief of construction, $30,492; streets, $457,000; electric, $170,280; bridges, $10,000; charities and warden's office, $20,745; charitable institutes, $21,600; schools, $1,208,205; Georgia Tech, $25,000; Carnegie library, $67,000; cemetery, $16,280; waterworks, $903,600; bond sinking fund commission, $355,486.79. There are a number of other miscellaneous items.

The committee will resume its work this morning at 9:30 o'clock, hearing from the public and heads of the departments. The department heads are requested to hold themselves in readiness to respond to the committee's call, so as to expedite work on the sheet as much as possible.

GAINES IS HEAD OF SCHOOL BOARD

erection of three new rooms at Faith school, and of two rooms at Stewart Avenue school. A residence adjacent to Formwalt Street school was bought and converted into classrooms, an extra room was rented for Lucile Avenue school and two additional buildings were rented for the use of Tech High school.

A delegation representing patrons of Davis Street school presented a petition said to bear the signature of 800 school patrons in the community asking for a new school building. A motion to refer the petition to the finance committee was carried.

Mrs. Victor H. Kriegshaber appeared as spokesman for the child welfare committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, and asked the board to support a proposal to temporarily close to traffic streets adjacent to certain schools with insufficient playgrounds during recess periods. On motion of Commissioner W. H. Terrell, the suggestion was approved. Mrs. Kriegshaber said that at some shools where playgrounds cannot be provided the children play in the streets, and the idea in closing the streets temporarily was to miminize danger. She said that the method was used in other cities, and found to be very satisfactory.

Mrs. Tripod's Report.

Mrs. A. P. Tripod, chairman of the board of lady visitors, submitted her annual report on the work of the visitors. She reported that during the past year all white schools and several colored schools had been visited. The report, among other suggestions, stressed the need for the erection of an annex at Grant Park school, where, it is said, a building with a seating capacity of 540 is accommodating 574 pupils. This crowded condition in spite of the fact, it was reported, that 140 children living in the community served by the Grant Park school were attending other schools.

Commissioner Terrell took the floor on a point of personal privilege to reply to published reports of an attack on the board of education made earlier in the afternoon by certain members of the finance committee of council. The committeemen had been quoted as charging that the board of education had exceeded its appropriation during 1920.

Mr. Terrell said that the board's expenditures were based on anticipated income of the city, and the board was not responsible for the error made by the 1920 council finance committee in overanticipating revenue by $400,000. He said that the city also took away the state school fund of $138,000 which rightfully belonged to the board, and declared that had not this been done the board would not have gone beyond its budget.

MAY PLACE PYTHIAN LODGE AT DECATUR

Organization of a Knights of Pythias lodge in Decatur will be considered at a meeting to be held in the Odd Fellows' hall Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Invitations have been extended to twenty-two members of the order to attend the meeting.

Passport Rules Stay Unchanged For O'Callaghan

State Department Not to Waive Restrictions in the Case of Cork Lord Mayor.

Washington, January 10.—Passport restrictions will not be waived by the state department to permit entrance to the United States of Daniel J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who on his arrival last week at Newport News as a stowaway and without a passport, was temporarily admitted on parole by order of the labor department. The state department's decision, announced today by Acting Secretary Davis, brought forth the assertion by labor department officials that jurisdiction in the case still rested exclusively with the secretary of labor. This indicated a continuation of the controversy between the two departments, which has been more or less apparent ever since the landing of the Cork lord mayor on American soil.

Secretary Davis, in making his announcement, said that he concurred in the opinion of the solicitor of his department as forwarded to him today, that there was no reason to make an exception in the case of O'Callaghan as regards admission without a passport. He said he was communicating his decision to Secretary of Labor Wilson, and added the intimation that his department, acting under the wartime powers given the president to regulate the entry of aliens might recommend that the department of justice be called upon to deport the Irish mayor.

Labor Department Differs.

Labor department officials asserted the Secretary Wilson did not recognize that the case of O'Callaghan had yet come within jurisdiction of the state department, inasmuch as he had not formally referred it to Secretary Davis. Secretary Wilson had not begun his consideration of the case today, and it was said that he would not take it under advisement until it had come to him through the regular channels of the department. At the state department it was said delay of the secretary of labor in rendering a decision after having paroled O'Callaghan would permit the lord mayor to accomplish his mission of testifying before the commission from the committee of one hundred investigating the Irish questions, regardless of whether he may be eventually deported.

Officials of the labor department declared that should the secretary of labor find O'Callaghan inadmissible to the United States on immigration grounds, it would not be necessary for the secretary to refer the waiving of passport restrictions to the state department. Should the secretary find the lord mayor admissible, however, he would then be called upon to decide whether the exclusion of O'Callaghan from the United States for having entered without a passport was a question to be passed upon by the state department.

Amends Opinion Twice.

While the state department first took the position that O'Callaghan's case had been brought before the department by the action of an immigration inspector in Norfolk, in requesting advice direct from the department, Secretary Davis later stated that he had amended this decision and would not take the case under advisement until it had been brought to his attention formally by the secretary of labor. When Secretary Davis learned that Secretary Wilson was not disposed to consult the state department at all, and that he had paroled O'Callaghan without consulting with the department he again amended his decision and asked for an opinion from the solicitor as to whether the lord mayor was deportable by the state department.

"PRODUCE EFFICIENTLY OR MAKE ROOM FOR THOSE WHO CAN" IS THE NEW ORDER OF THINGS

H. R. TODD, PRESIDENT.
Draughon's Business College
Atlanta, Ga.

Business is being reorganized, and the inefficient members, those lacking in intensive training, are being laid off. "Produce eficiently or make room for those who can," is the new order.

From now on it is going to take real salesmanship to sell either services, ideas, or merchandise, and it is going to take real ability and specialized training to hold a first-class position. Never before has there been a time when specialized training, real business training, was needed more.

Draughon's College has anticipated this very condition. In fact, this established school has always been awake to these changes in business conditions as well as to the opportunities offered. The Draughon faculty has been selected with great care and no teacher employed who is not only college bred and qualified as to scholarship, but each is a specialist in his or her particular line of work.

Realizing that salesmanship not only makes better bookkeepers, better stenographers and better clerical help, but is a sure road to advancement and higher salaries, Draughon's College has arranged for special night classes in salesmanship under the supervision of an experienced and expert teacher, beginning January 11th.

Draughon's system of bookkeeping "Double Entry Made Easy" is the most thorough and practical to be found, and was not made to sell, but its purpose is to make bookkeepers and accountants. Graham-Pitman and Gregg, the two leading systems of shorthand, are both taught and if you never saw touch typewriting and penmanship taught by music, it will be worth your while to visit Draughon's College in Peachtree Arcade and see a live school in action. You will then understand why the student body is made up of the highest type of young people and why this school seldom has a vacant desk, and most of the time a waiting list.

Draughon's College has enlarged not only its scope of intensive training, but its facilities for helping young people in many other ways. Payments may be arranged on scholarship; Liberty Bonds or Cotton Warehouse Receipts accepted on tuition at face value.

Write or phone for 1921 catalogue and state whether interested in a course at College or by mail. Draughon's Business College, Peachtree arcade, Atlanta, Georgia, or Jacksonville, Florida.—(adv.)

HEADS OF REAL ESTATE BOARDS ARE ARRIVING

Don Goss, assistant secretary, having arrived in Atlanta Monday.

Already in Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Sloan, of New Haven, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Piper, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Work, of Toledo, Ohio.

are the members of the executive committees and they arrived in the city during Monday.

The sessions of the convention, which will be held in the assembly hall of the Piedmont hotel, will begin actively Wednesday morning, since Tuesday will be taken up with the registration and greeting of the delegates. Wednesday there will be the meetings of the special committees which are a part of the national organization and which usually hold their meetings at the same time and place chosen by the executive committee.

Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, there will be held the open forum meeting, which promises to be one of the most interesting features of the gathering, in that it offers opportunity for free expression of any opinion regarding real estate in any phase—taxation, housing, needed legislation or any other feature.

Thursday and Friday the executive committee will hold its sessions, a buffet luncheon and automobile ride over the city having been planned by the local board for Thursday, as well as the banquet at Druid Hills Golf club Thursday night, at which Forrest Adair, well-known Atlanta realtor, will be the toastmaster.

Wednesday noon, there will be a luncheon given by the local ladies to Mrs. Taylor, wife of the association's president, at the Piedmont Driving club, and Wednesday night the wives of local board members and visitors will be entertained at a theater party at the Howard. The women of the party will also attend the buffet luncheon and will participate in the automobile ride Thursday.

EARLY VOTE DUE ON U. S. OPERATION OF NITRATE PLANT

Lenroot Motion to Recommit Bill to Form Corporation to Run the Muscle Shoals Plant Up Today.

Washington, January 10.—A vote is expected in the senate tomorrow on the motion of Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, to recommit the bill proposing formation of a a government corporation to operate the federal nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, and on the proposed amendment of Senator Smith, of South Carolina, to give farmers first preference in the sale of the fertilizer products manufactured there. Other proposed amendments, designed in most cases to restrict the operation of the plant may also be decided tomorrow with the prospect said by leaders not to be remote that a final vote may be reached before adjournment.

Charges by Senator Lenroot today that the Alabama Power company was a prospective beneficiary of the proposed legislation were denied today by Senators Underwood and Heflin, of Alabama. Both submitted telegrams from officers of the power company disclaiming any interest in the measure and asserting that a "grave injustice" had been done it in the criticisms of the Graham committee.

In support of his motion, Senator Lenroot said that the question simply was whether congress should proceed to operate the nitrate plant before it is determined whether the Wilson dam is to be completed. The dam, Senator Lenroot said, was a vital adjunct to the nitrate plant.

Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, spoke in behalf of the bill, stating that during the war Chile was the American source of nitrate supply. He added that although he believed war between the United States and Japan was improbable, if it should develop, the Japanese navy would try to shut off America's nitrate supply from Chile. He therefore urged development of the Muscle Shoals plant.

A vote on the Lenroot motion went over until tomorrow.

SEEKING 500 NEW MEMBERS TO AID THE INDIGENT SICK

Anniston, Ala., January 10.—(Special.)—A campaign to add 500 Anistonians to its membership roll was inaugurated today by St. Luke's auxiliary, an organization of women who have undertaken to provide rooms and treatment in a local hospital for indigent sick. The auxiliary has endowed and maintains a bed in St. Luke's hospital, supervises a bed donated by W. W. Stringfellow, local capitalist and philanthropist, and has added a third bed to the number looked after.

Through the auxiliary's efforts medical attention, medicines and supplies are furnished free to needy patients, and a chest is kept filled with garments made by Anniston women for the patients.

GETS TWELVE MONTHS FOR MAKING ESCAPE

J. P. Seagers, alias J. P. YOUR INVISIBLE GUEST

WHILE CHILDREN STARVE WE FORGET

Tonight, in Atlanta,
Plump little bodies
Tucked in white with infinite tenderness,
Fall asleep in comfortable cribs.
In Europe, tonight,
Mothers try
To soothe hunger-tortured babies to sleep.
Too weak to toss, they may escape their misery in dreams
While mothers with sleepless eyes
Watch for the dawn,
And wonder if help will come in time.
Whether or not you have ever known the joy
Of baby fingers clasping yours,
You remember your mother,
Who knew the joy of the touch of yours.
And, after all these years, if she is gone,
Today, you would give all that you have
To feel her hand upon your head.
Motherless, fatherless, shelterless—
Thousands of hungry children roam Europe's streets.
Doctors examine them to decide
If they are starved enough to be fed—
Not from hardness of heart,
But because there is only enough to give
One meal a day to those
Actually nearing death's door from hunger.
Trembling children, fearing to be sent away, ask:
"Do I weigh too much?" "Ain't I thin enough?"
Ten dollars will save a life.
And hundreds of ten-dollar checks and bills are coming with every mail.
Every dollar helps.
But, if 3,500,000 children are to be saved,
You, to whom God has entrusted the power
To save more than one baby's life,
Must do more.
God feeds the sparrows.
He trusts us to feed the children.
How many can you—How many will you save?

stated that it has not yet started a survey of the street railway routes, but expects to begin this work at an early date.

The report in full is as ffollows:

In accordance with the request of the commission the following report is submitted of the further progress made in the improvements, detailed report concerning which was submitted on November 15, 1920:

Gas Improvements.

The two new steam turbine pushers have not yet been received, but shipment of them has been promised by the manufacturers to be made on January 15.

The two new Ingersol Rand compressors have been received. As stated in the report of November 15, in order to install these compressors it was necessary to remove an oil tank and re-erect this tank in another location. The oil tank referred to has been removed and re-erected and the foundation formerly occupied by this tank has been blasted away. The site for the new compressors has been cleared and the foundations for the compressors are being built. This work will be completed and the compressors installed and in operation within a few weeks from this date.

The waste steam boiler has been installed and placed in operation.

All material for the water gas purifier has been received and has been under course of installation and is at the present date very nearly completed.

The materials necessary to make the improvement in pressure conditions in the West End territory have all been assembled. The work of laying the additional gas mains required for this improvement is scheduled to start Monday, January 10. The new pushers which are to be used in connection with the service to West End have not as yet been received. As stated in the report of November 15, it is intended to convert the system of service in the West End territory from the low pressure to the intermediate pressure system. This cannot be done, however, until the pushers are received. In the meantime the work of laying the additional gas mains for this territory will go forward, beginning January 10.

Steam Piping Installed.

The steam piping at the gas works has been installed so far as needed and the additional steam piping necessary will be completed in connection with the apparatus which it is intended to serve.

The work on the Virginia avenue-Highland avenue improvements has been carried forward since the report of November 15, 1920; 3,302 feet of 10-inch gas main has been laid in Virginia avenue from North Boulevard to Barnett street. Gas was turned into this main on November 24 and the pressure in the Virginia avenue and Highland avenue district was thereby raised 100 per cent. While the complete plans for this service have not as yet been finally carried out, the improvement already made is such that the service in the neighborhood served by the Virginia and Highland avenue main is now very good. We have likewise laid a 10-inch main in East Sixth street from Jackson street to Bedford place, and in Jackson street from Fifth street to Greenwood avenue, a total distance of 1,850 feet. Also, we have laid a 12-inch main in Bedford place from East Sixth street to East North avenue, a distance of 1,700 feet. This main will be connected with the 16-inch main at the corner of North avenue and Bedford place. There also remains to be laid a 10-inch main in Greenwood avenue from Jackson street to North Boulevard and the construction of two governor stations, one at the corner of Virginia and Highland avenues and the other in Boulevard near Tenth street. The material for laying the pipe for these extensions has been assembled and a great deal of it has been installed. A portion of the material necessary for the governor stations has been received, but all of it has not as yet been received.

In addition to the gas mains and governor stations needed for the Virginia and Highland avenue improvements, there are also to be installed pushers, and, as heretofore stated, these pushers have been ordered and shipment of them is promised by the manufacturer on or about January 15, 1921. The conversion of the method of furnishing gas in this district to intermediate high pressure system requires the installation of these pushers, but in the meantime, as heretofore stated, the work already done has produced a noticeable improvement in the gas pressure, although the full improvement planned will not be accomplished until the entire work is completed and the pushers installed and in operation.

The DeBronwer combination charging and discharging machine has been received. A part of the work of the erection of this machine consists of the strengthening of the operating floor and the laying of a track for the new machine. This work is now going forward under contract and is being pushed to completion. As soon as it is completed the machine itself will be installed and placed in operation.

Of the six coal benches which were under repair at the date of the report of November 15, 1920, the repair of five of these benches has been completed and these benches are now in operation. One of the benches then under repair has not yet been completed. The reason for the delay in the completion of this bench is that the materials which had been assembled for its repair were used in part in completing the repairs on the other five benches, so that it has been necessary to order additional material before this sixth bench can be repaired and put in commission. Out of eleven coal gas benches in the plant ten are now in operation as against the five that were in operation on November 15.

Winder Line.

Subsequent to the report of November 15, 1920, the work accomplished in rebuilding the Winder line, in accordance with the plans referred to in said order, has been as follows:

All of the required material has been received and distributed to the points along the line where the work is being done. There have been completed 126 pole holes out of a total of 651 pole holes to be dug; 103 additional poles have been set out of a total of 651 poles to be set. Four and one-half mile sof copper conductors have been strung out of a total of 28 miles of copper conductors to be strung. The crew on the work consists of 23 men, who have been constantly engaged in the work, except when prevented by weather conditions.

The entire work is about 15.1 per cent completed and the remainder of the work is being pushed forward to completion as rapidly as it can reasonably be done.

Street Railway Service.

None of the 27 cars which were ordered some time ago for the purpose of increasing the street railway service have as yet been received. The manufacturers promise that five or six of these cars will be shipped from their works at Cincinnati on or about the 15th of January, 1921, and that the remaining cars of the order will follow at intervals of about two weeks. From time to time, as these cars are received, they will be placed in service.

We have not had an opportunity as yet to make the survey of the street railway routes. The manager of the railway department of the company resigned, effective December 1, and since that we have not been able to fill his place. There has, therefore, been no one to direct the survey, but we expect very shortly to have this place filled and will be able to make a full report concerning the street railway conditions. Respectfully,

GEORGIA RAILWAY AND POWER CO.
(Signed) P. S. ARKWRIGHT, President.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache—no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.—(adv.)

DUCKWORTH BRINGS CHAIN STORE HERE

Clyde A. Duckworth, one of the leading attorneys of Charlotte, N. C., and secretary and general counsel of the Liberty Self-Service corporation, spent Monday in the city in conference with J. H. Carroll, vice president, and J. F. Burdine, organizer and director of sales of the corporation.

Mr. Duckworth was very enthusiastic over the splendid prospects for launching a big Georgia company as a unit in the chain of self-service grocery stores fostered by the parent company. Both Mr. Carroll and Mr. Burdine have been in Atlanta for a few weeks getting things in shape for starting off the Georgia company. They have temporary offices in the Kimball house, where they have met and interested quite a number of successful business men in the formation of the Georgia company. Some of these are former grocery merchants and some are now engaged in the business, but they have evinced great interest in the Georgia company because of the opportunity afforded them to merge their present stocks into the larger company and still control their store, and at the same time share in the profits of the new organization.

Mr. Duckworth states that North Carolina is now well organized, and stores are being opened very fast. South Carolina has also joined the procession, and other states are showing a strong disposition to operate under the Liberty Self-Service patented systems of chain stores. With the start already made for Georgia, Mr. Carroll and Mr. Burdine confidently expect to have the Georgia company in operation within a very short time. Investors or other business men seeking such a connection can find these gentlemen at the Kimball house.

four days before the expiration on December 23, 1918, the maximum prices on lumber fixed by the war industries board, the Southern Pine association met at St. Louis.

The day after the meeting, according to the report, a representative of the Edward Hines Lumber company, of Chicago, wrote Mr. Hines in part as follows:

"All those in attendance reported that their stocks were 60 to 70 per cent under normal, and all expect to advance their prices on the 23d, that is to say, the advances running from $1 to $3 on all items with the exception of timber."

Official Minutes.

While no reference to price discussion was contained in the official minutes of this meeting, the commission's report says an examination of the files of "some prominent manufacturers" revealed a transcript describing the meeting, attached to which was a mimeographed price list bearing the printed signature of the secretary of the meeting.

Contained in the report is a table showing "average realization, average costs and average margin per thousand feet of the Kansas City group of southern pine manufacurers for the years 1915 to 1919 inclusive, and average price and margin for May, 1920, as compared with average costs for the first three months of 1920." This table shows that in 1915 the realization was $1.09 below cost, that in 1916 it was $1.98 above; in 1917 $6.42 above; 1918 $6.41 above; 1919 $8.94 above, and in May, 1920, $26.35 above.

Attack Untruthful And Is Unwarranted, Says Lumber Leader

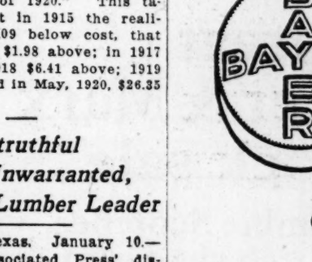

Houston, Texas, January 10.—When the Associated Press' dispatch from Washington stating that the federal trade commission had filed with the Calder senate committee on housing and reconstruction a report on the practices of the lumber industry was shown to John H. Kirby, president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, today he declared the attack "untruthful and unwarranted."

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. It is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, it does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is entirely different from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalize wornout, exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. At all druggists.

DO NOT NEGLECT THAT HACKING COUGH

The aggravating little cough that keeps you constantly hacking is simply a forerunner and an indication that there is some destructive force at work in your bronchial tubes, and if neglected will steadily increase until you find your lungs affected. It is absolutely foolish to take chances with a matter so vitally important to yourself and your family. Get a bottle of Lung-A-Tone from your druggist and stop the hacking. Lung-A-Tone is absolutely free from dangerous drugs and opiates, and is the best preventive on the market today. For sale in 60c and $1.00 sizes in all good drug and general stores. A Remnant Sale of Silks of the Very Best Quality

Is Announced for Today at Nine

The values offered are much more interesting than usual on account of the fact that all of this merchandise was finally reduced in price before inventory. We have no basis upon which we could fairly estimate the comparative values to you on account of these material reductions. But this you may be assured of, throughout prices are far less than the replacement prices in the silk market today, and every yard of silk offered is of first grade, without flaw or blemish we are aware of. Lengths are to be found from one-third of a yard up to six yards, and we note below a number of the silks to be seen in this Remnant Sale. No merchandise has been purchased for the purpose of "Sale." Every yard we offer today comes from our regular stock, and each value represents a legitimate mark-down from a price originally asked by us.

WALK-OUT FOLLOWS REDUCTION IN PAY

Anniston, Ala., January 10.—The plant of the Anniston Foundry company was closed down this morning a few minutes after it had resumed operations following a temporary shut down by the walk-out of the moulders and coremakers, numbering about 75 men, who objected to a 25 per cent wage reduction announced by the management.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method that Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as catarrh. You can now get rid of it by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blossers' Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries, which you smoke in a dainty pipe or cigarette. The smoke-vapor is inhaled into all the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs. It contains no cubebs or tobacco and may be used by women and children as well as men.

This medicated smoke carries medicine where sprays, douches and ointments cannot possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing and is entirely harmless. If you are a sufferer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or subject to frequent colds, you should try this Remedy without delay.

A trial pocket size of Dr. Blosser's Remedy (20 cigarettes) at any drug store for 35c. Or, send coin or stamps to The Blosser Co., 45 DD, Atlanta Ga., and they will send you a package postpaid.—(adv.)

CANDY COMPANY OFFICIALS HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Wholesale salesmen and retail store managers of the Nunnally Candy company on Monday evening began a convention which will extend through Tuesday and part of Wednesday. The purpose of the meetings, which are being held at the genera loffices of the company on Edgewood avenue, is to bring about a closer co-operation between managers and salesmep, and to make plans to meet business conditions during the coming year.

The local department of the company was host at a banquet at the Piedmont Driving club to the visiting managers and salesmen at 6 o'clock Monday evening.

Throughout the day Monday talks were made by Atlanta department heads upon business conditions likely to be met during the coming year

C. F. Peitsch, vice president of the Frank Seaman Advertising agency of New York, a concern through which the Nunnally company is conducting its magazine advertising, will Tuesday morning make a talk upon effeceive advertising. Winship Nunnally, president of the company, and who, assisted by J. S. Jetton, generial sales and advertising manager, is directing the convention, will also give a talk Tuesday.

Following these addresses, open discussion upon busines sconditions will be held by salesmen and managers. The meetings are attended by twenty wholesale salesmen, and managers of all the Nunnally branch establishments.

EMERGENCY TARIFF LIKELY TO RESULT IN RETALIATION

Witnesses Warn Senate Committee on Viewpoint of Foreign Nations to Proposed Fordney Measure.

Washington, January 10.—Warning that passage of the Fordney emergency tariff bill would lead to retaliatory measures and would breed unfriendliness to American trade among foreign nations was given today by witnesses before the senate finance committee.

As a result of the testimony it was expected tonight that members of the United States tariff commission would be asked for information on the question. Chairman Penrose said that members of the commission "will be on hand tomorrow to answer any questions," and indicated that he desired further information on how serious the danger of retaliation might be.

The committee will conclude its hearings tomorrow, Senator Penrose announced, and it is planned on Friday to take up the bill in executive sessions. Members said they planned "to stay with it until it is reported to the senate." The chairman said he understood there were numerous amendments to be considered, but he did not know what the attitude of the committee would be or to what extent members would seek to change the measure as it passed the house.

Amendments Sought.

Discussion of the possibility of retaliation, however, brought from Senator Penrose the comment that "it is the first time I have heard the question of probable retaliation so clearly stated." Predictions of retaliatory measures also were coupled with strong opposition and insistent requests for amendments to certain sections.

Louisiana sugar growers, led by Senators Ransdell and Gay, of that state, appealed for protection for can sugar, while Bermuda producers of potatoes and onions, through their trade representatives in New York, opposed inclusion of the two commodities under a tariff levy as now is provided.

Importers of vegetable oils, through witnesses from New York and Philadelphia, officials of the Foreign Commerce association of the Pacific coast, and soap manufacturers from various cities said their industries had been developed during the war and asserted that the tariff as proposed would handicap their growth and might even result in their extinction through retaliation.

Big Investment.

Importers of vegatable oils have invested approximately $10,000,000 in Pacific coast cities to enable proper handling of the vast imports from the orient, C. R. Brown, appearing on behalf of the Pacific coast trade body, declared. He said these interests were sending men into the Far East and rapidly developing the field for selling American-made products into which the imported oils were manufactured. Soap makers, he added, were building great plants along the Pacific coast because of the oil imports and he expressed the belief that it would be a crushing blow to them should the proposed tariff go into effect.

"If the tariff goes in," he continued, "it means that articles into which the vegetable oils go will cost the American consumer more, and it means also that there will be a shortage in some articles because this country could not produce the necessary supplies.

"Those people from whom we have been buying in the Far West are going to regard it as a direct thrust at them. They will say that we Americans, who have been cultivating their trade and their friedship, are insincerer."

Would Be Handicap.

The testimony of H. M. Smith, of New York, and Dr. M. H. Ittner, of Philadelphia, supported Mr. Brown's contention as to what would result from the tariff. Mr. Smith told the committee he believed it wrong for congress to handicap a new industry and asserted that the use of the imported oils and their development by American manufacturers should be encouraged before Europe again could gain control of the business in the Far East from which the cheapest and best of such supplies come.

Asked as to the nature of the predicted retaliation, Mr. Smith said that Americans were now sending vast quanities of steel and construction materials to the orient at a time when Canada and much of Europe is entering actively the field of selling. Canadian prices, the witness said, were not far different from those in the United States and he added "those people can just as well place their orders in the British Columbia as with us." This, he added, is only an indication of how the retaliation may start, explaining there were many other commodities which later could be included if a trade war were begun.

M'INTOSH COUNTY READY WITH FUND TO BOOST GEORGIA

Governor Dorsey yesterday received a warrant from E. C. Cain, Jr., of Darien, chairman of the board of county commissioners of McIntosh county for the entire quota of his county covering the proposed three-year advertising campaign of the Georgia association. While a number of counties have subscribed their quota, McIntosh county, according to the records of the Advertise Georgia enterprise, enjoys the honor of being the first county in the state, through its county commissioners, to pay in the entire amount.

Charles L. Davis, of Warm Springs, president of the Georgia County Commissioners' association, has sent a personal letter inviting every county commissioner in the state to attend the conference to be held in Macon next Monday, when follow-up plans of the advertising campaign will be discussed.

Governor Dorsey has received numerous letters from prominent men all over the state accepting appointment as delegates to the Macon meeting and promising to attend.

Appeal for Pardon By Mrs. Dickerson Considered Today

Montgomery, Ala., January 10.—Supported by letters from Governor Brough, of Arkansas, the penal commission of that state and the mayor and officials of Hot Springs, the appeal of Mrs. Roy (Irene) Dickerson, convicted last summer and sentenced to 12 years in the state penitentiary for complicity in the robbery of the Phoenix-Girard (Girard, Ala.) bank, for a pardon will be taken up by the Alabama pardon board Tuesday afternoon.

The governor of Alabama has received innumerable letters from other citizens of Arkansas, which state the woman was a resident, and these, in addition to affidavits signed by relatives of Rufus and Tom Ford, who also were convicted in connection with the robbery, to the effect that Mrs. Dickerson had sought to induce her husband, Roy Dickerson, who made good his escape after his arrest at Los Angeles, Cal., not to participate, and to show that she was completely dominated by him, will also be considered.

A record of the evidence given in the cases which were tried last summer at Seale, Ala., has been forwarded here and is expected to show that the petitioner was a willing witness for the state in detailing plans for the robbery, and that she made the black masks worn by the robbers at the time.

ILLNESS OF JUSTICE STOPS DECISIONS

Washington, January 10.—This was decision day in the supreme court, but no opinions were handed down, due, it was understood, to the illness of Chief Justice White.

The condition of Chief Justice White, of the supreme court, who has been confined to his home with a severe cold, was said to be much improved today. Because of the inclement weather, however, the jurist's physician, advised him not to attend court.

PLANS ABANDONED FOR CELEBRATION

had been pledged by Washington citizens and business men toward the expenses of the inaugural celebration.

HARDING ASKS ABANDONMENT.

Marion, Ohio., January 10.—In the interest of national thrift, President-elect Harding tonight requested officials arranging for his inauguration to abandon all plans for an inaugural ceremony.

In a telegram to E. B. McLean, chairman of the inaugural committee at Washington, Mr. Harding declared he preferred to simply take the oath of office, deliver a brief address and then take up the duties of his office. He said it would make his position a very unhappy one if the outlay for an elaborate inaugural created the impression of extravagance.

At the same time the president-elect telegraphed Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, in charge of the congressional end of the plans, suggesting that the proposal to erect stands on the capitol grounds for the event be abandoned. This proposal has been the subject of heated debate in congress, with some members severely objecting the use of public funds for such a purpose.

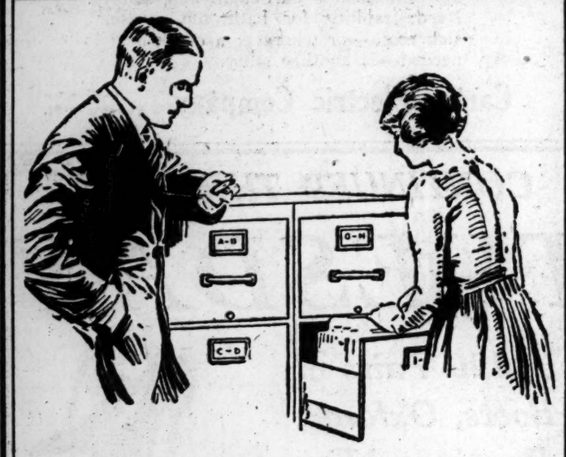

Skin Sufferers Do Not Want Mere Temporary Relief

Of course, if you are content to have only temporary relief from the terrifying itching and burning of fiery, flaming skin diseases, then you are satisfied to remain a slave to ointments, lotions and other local remedies applied to the surface of the skin. Such form of treatment, however, can make no progress whatever toward riding you of the discomfort which often becomes a real torture.

But if you desire to free yourself from any form of skin disease, first of all you must realize that any disease must be treated at its source.

Real genuine relief from eczema, tetter, scaly eruptions or any other form of skin irritations cannot be expected until you free your blood of the germs which cause these disorders. And for this purpose there is no remedy that gives more satisfactory results than S. S. S., the fine old blood remedy that goes down to the source of every blood disorder and routs out the germs which cause the trouble.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Begin taking it today, and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical director will give you expert advice, without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 221 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

Critics Praise Miss Alexander.

The announcement that Miss Clara Alexander will appear here in dramatic recital January 18 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Capital City club will give Atlanta people another opportunity to hear this talented woman, who has been a celebrated figure in New York and London. She recently appeared in Birmingham under the auspices of the Drama league. Her appearance is especially sponsored by Mrs. Edward Ware Barrett.

Of the recent appearances in Memphis of Miss Alexander the Memphis Commercial-Appeal carried the following complimentary notice:

"Miss Alexander's talent is innate. She never studied under a tutor. She developed herself, and what a development that was!

"From the time she impersonated the real negro with his song to his favorite mule with "Rush Along Ma' Honey," until her final number where the antebellum negro won his freedom by coming under the wire first at the derby, she held her hearers spell-bound. Her "Ship of Faith," wherein the negro preacher described the voyage and peril of the sinner, was a classic. Tenderness and tragedy, yet withal the pastoral beauty of the poet, marked her portrayal of the negro in several selections from the poems of Paul Lawrence Dunbar.

"Deepest pathos and tragedy of the world conflict was sent home to every heart by the poem, "Young Fellow, My Lad," that almost epic series of verses from the pen of Edmund Vance Cooke. There was a lump in every throat, a tear in many an eye, as the tearing of the soul of the old English father when his son was lost in France was given dramatic portrayal by the artist."

At East Lake.

The week-end dinner-dance at the East Lake Country club Saturday was the usual bright event.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Reilly entertained Roscoe Erikson, of Chicago, and Lorenzo Washington.

Miss Margaret Lewis, Tye Sanders, W. D. Gutherie, Miss Minnie Lee Birchfield and W. C. Drake formed a party.

Mrs. Dudley Golding, Miss Helen Bowen, Fort Adams, J. B. Osborn, dined together.

Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shelling, Mr. and Mrs. Evan McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Walker, Dr. and Mrs. Carleton Lee, Mr. and Mrs. James Wise, Miss Gladys Byrd, Miss Marie Yawbra, Miss Hallie Poole, Miss Margaret Vaughn, Miss Dorothy Haverty, Miss Kate Law, Miss Nellie McIver, Miss Ruth Hutchinson, Miss Lucille Chancellor, Miss Leila Ponder, Miss Helen Whitehurst, Miss Caroline Gilbert, Miss Caroline Tye, Miss Ethel Tye, Miss Joyce White, Miss Margaret Pratt, Miss Charlotte Hemmer, Miss Virginia Bowen, Miss Lucile DeRake, Miss Lillian Jacobs, Miss Lucile Kuhrt, Miss Maude Couche, Miss Mariana Goldsmith, Miss Mildred Summerlin, Miss Martha Bratton, Miss Dorothy Iseminger, Bernard Neal, Whitney Quillan, Richard Court, Jr., C. HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nauseless calomel tablet called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—(adv.)

Today's Calendar.

Special showing of paintings by Edgar Nye, distinguished American artist, at the Woman's club from 8 to 11 p. m. Auspices Atlanta Art association and art committee, Woman's club.

Colonel and Mrs. W. L. Peel's supper in honor of the King-Ragan wedding party tonight before the rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Carr's dinner in compliment to Miss De Rake, of Baltimore, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burr.

Mrs. Rutherford Lipscomb's tea for Mrs. S. Y. McGiffert, of Duluth, Minn.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens' theater party at the Howard for a group of recent brides.

Mrs. Blair Foster's bridge-tea for Miss Wilhelmina Drummond.

Lucy Cobb Alumnae meeting with Mrs. C. C. McGehee.

Ten club dinner to Dr. W. W. Landrum, of Russellville, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wilkins will entertain at a dinner this evening at their home, "Glen Eden," in Peachtree Heights, in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. E. Raymond Robb.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens will entertain this afternoon at a large box party at the Howard in compliment to a group of 1920 brides.

Brilliant Entertainment.

The annual kettledrum of the Habersham chapter, D. A. R., planned for the afternoon of January 20, will be unique and interesting.

The arena of the Auditorium, where is will take place, has been divided into four sections, each containing fifty tables arranged in aisles, and there will be no crowding or confusion. Thirty-five prizes will be awarded. Large committees will attend the players.

Forming a hollow square in the center a raised platform will be surrounded by four tables 18 feet long, from which refreshments will be served. These tables will be adorned with quantities of antique silver, much of it historic. The most beautiful old urns and kettles will themselves be a sight well worth seeing, and they will be presided over by some of the loveliest and most charming maids and matrons of the city.

At the recent Georgia products dinner people were urged repeatedly to secure their tickets in advance, yet when the day came approximately around 200 were turned away. Tables may be secured from any member of the chapter and refreshments will be provided. Spectators may get tickets at the door for box seats and refreshments at 50 cents each, but not admittance to card tables.

Several large parties have been made up to play there instead of at their card clubs. Gentlemen are cordially invited.

To Mrs. McGehee.

Mrs. Hal Lambdin will entertain at bridge-tea Wednesday in compliment to Mrs. Henry M. McGehee, a recent bride, who was Miss Mary Kline Shipp, of Moultrie.

Invited to meet Mrs. McGehee are Mesdames John W. Topp, J. B. Coppedge, Omar F. Elder, J. J. Chambers, John L. Tye, Jr., William Candler, Fred Shaeffer, oseph Sellars, E. H. McGehee, Barnard Boykin and A. E. Falvey.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Mrs. William Warren and Mrs. Prevost Breckenridge of New Orleans arrived yesterday for the wedding of Miss Carolyn King and Dr. Willis Regan, which will be a brilliant event of Wednesday, and they are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Ragan.

Robert Ragan, Tippin Ragan and Miss Anna Ragan of Rome are at the Georgian Terrace until after the wedding. Other out of town guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Williams of Lynchburg, who are at the Georgian Terrace, and Dr. and Mrs. John E. White of Anderson, S. C., who are the guests of Mrs. White's sister, Mrs. Nelms in West End.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Indorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories tested, approved and most enthusiastically indorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whisky, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow, and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—(adv.)

To Miss Howell.

Miss Elizabeth Howell of Chattanooga, who is being delightfully entertained as the guest of Miss Mary Cohen, was honor guest at mid-day dinner Sunday, when Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell Jr. were hosts.

In the evening Miss Alice Stearns entertained a group of the younger set at supper.

To Miss De Rake.

In compliment to Miss Lucile de Rake of Baltimore, the feted guest of Miss Frank Barr, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Carr will entertain informally at dinner tonight at their home in Druid Hills, and Miss Lillian Raley will entertain Wednesday afternoon.

Woodberry Hall.

Woodberry hall has reopened since the holidays with a splendid student body, and a great program for the coming spring semester.

The college preparatory department has been signally honored by the University of Georgia in placing it high among accredited girls' high schools, and by Mount Holyoke college, which writes for more such students as they have received from Woodberry. An interesting feature of the enrollment is the representative group of Havana and Florida students.

Misses Clara Belle Durden of Graymont and Almarita Booth of Statesboro will return Monday.

Miss Ena Eaglin of Brunswick has entered as a resident student in the high school department.

Miss Betty Ash of Havana will return this week, after a month spent with her parents in Cuba.

Miss Rosa Woodberry will spend Tuesday in Jackson, where she will be the guest of the Woman's club, as the speaker for the evening.

A very interesting report of Near East activities for the orphans of Armenia was made at the Junior Red Cross meeting Friday by Miss Mildred Cole.

Miss Esther Cherry, a Woodberry pupil of expression under Miss Cobb, is planning a series of plays for the Dramatic club of the school.

Barber—King.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roberts Barber, of Valdosta, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lula Lillian, to Dr. Edwin D. King, Jr., formerly of Mobile, Ala., the wedding to take place February 9.

Miss Walker, Hostess.

Miss Ruby Walker will entertain the members of the Pi Pi club of Washington seminary at her home in Druid Hills Wednesday afternoon, and at this meeting plans will be completed for the dance at which the members of the club will be hostesses on Friday evening at Taft hall, the proceeds to be given to the Barclay day nursery charity fund, which is sponsored by the club.

The officers are Miss Allan Carroll, president; Miss Emily Davis, treasurer, and Miss Mary Gillespie Sadler, secretary.

The members of the Pi Pi club are Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Whitman, Mary, Allan and Elizabeth Carroll, Marion Smith, Catherine Smith, Mary Malone, Ernest Campbell, Emily Davis, Gray Poole, Lutitie Johnson, Caroline and Isabel Howard, Virginia Reid, Norma Estes, Arabelle Dudley, Edna and Catherine Raine, Jane Davison, Mary Sadler, Margaret McIntyre, Eloisa Allen, Lois McIntyre, Catherine Haverty, Dorothy Haverty, Carrie Lou Born, Lydia Mathews, Catherine Bailey, Frances Floyd, Ruby Walker, Dorothy Hilton, Jennie Johnson, Frances Adams, Ruth Osborne, Mary Bardwell, Mrs. Samuel I. DuBose, Mrs. Louis Estes, Mrs. Priestley Conyers, Mrs. Robert Simonds, Mrs. George Raine and Mrs. George Woodruff.

Ladies' Auxiliary To Meet.

The Ladies' auxiliary of Theodore Roosevelt camp, Spanish War Veterans, will hold a social meeting at the home of Mrs. T. J. Hartson, 461 Whitehall street, Thursday afternoon, January 13, at 2 o'clock.

The wives, widows, daughters, mothers and sisters of all Spanish War Veterans are invited to attend this social meeting wha are not members of the auxiliary, as well as the members.

Mrs. Hartson will be assisted by Mrs. Charles B. Walker, and a good time is promised all that attend.

Roosevelt auxiliary No. 2 is practically a new organization in Atlanta, and has grown rapidly. The officers of the auxiliary will be installed at the next regular business meeeting.

Y. W. C. A. Dress Review For Schoolgirls.

A large audience was present at the Y. W. C. A. dress review Monday afternoon when the Commercial High girls, dressed as they should and should not be, paraded up and down the Y club room to give their schoolgirl audience a common sense lesson in what is appropriate in dress for girls of 'teen age.

There was the correctly dressed girl for the street wearing a nobby suit with low heel shoes and wool on hose. Then her opposite came in, overdressed for the street, wearing a silk dress, high heel shoes, silk hose and a far too elaborate hat.

The schoolgirl in too elaborate evening dress was in review, and the girl simply dressed followed, leaving off all the paint, powder and penciled brows and lashes affected by the girl who preceded her. The schoolgirl was shown trying to study as she daubed her nose with a powder puff. The girl sensibly dressed for outdoor sports was shown, and then the girl came in going on a hike, overdressed and wobbling along in her high heel slippers. Miss Mayna Brace, girls' work secretary, was in charge of the review.

Especially were correct shoes for girls shown. A group of girls wearing correct footwear were in distinct contrast to the girl wearing high-heel and penciled toes.

Nothing was left undone to bring home to the girls present the value of dressing sensibly.

Mrs. Hopkins, Hostess.

Le Circle des Annales d' Atlanta will meet Wednesday at Mrs. Linton C. Hopkins, president. The members will read from their French magazine, "Conferencia," a lecture given at the Annales in Paris by Louis Barthou, autour de mes livres, La aunesse de Victor Hugo.

The meeting will be very interesting, and all members are requested to be present.

Exhibit of Nye Paintings
Event in Local Art Circles

Patrons and art lovers may look forward with pleasure to the opportunity afforded them by the Atlanta Art association and the art committee of the Atlanta Woman's club to view the paintings by Mr. Edgar, of Washington, D. C., in the gallery of the Woman's club, Tuesday evening, January 11. Mr. Nye's work is already quite familiar in Atlanta, being represented by charming pictures in the homes of his several friends here. Among this number are Mr. and Mrs. E. Marvin Underwood, and it is through their appreciation and generous support of art that the courtesy of this exhibit of fifty canvases is presented to the members and guests.

Mrs. Charles M. Jerome, an authority on art, writes of Mr. Nye and his work:

"Mr. Nye spent several years studying in England, and the work done during this period is typical of English landscape—quiet, dignified and conservative in subject and treatment; it will doubtless appeal to the observer who is not yet quite ready to accept the modern school of riotous color.

"In the more recent work from his studio, the artist shows the influence of advanced technique of handling pure color with a broad, bold stroke; this is particularly true in his water-colors, which are executed with a masterly control of this rather difficult medium.

"For his subjects Mr. Nye has chosen familiar scenes near Washington, sunny Virginia hills, tumbling torrents of the Shenandoah, melting snows in Rock Creek park, and the always fascinating boats in the Potomac and at Baltimore. These he has interpreted with the true artist's vision and appreciation of the beauty and poetry of every-day things about us."

Officers Elected for Year At John Barclay Nursery

The following officers for this year were elected at the annual meeting of the John Barclay Day Nursery association, which was held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the nursery, 1040 Marietta street, Mrs. Paul Dixon, chairman; Mrs. Ernest Dallis, vice chairman; Mrs. Philip Head, treasurer, and Mrs. Roy Dorsey, secretary. Mrs. C. C. Case was elected as chairman of the buying committee, and Mrs. Cyrus Strickler as chairman of the medical committee.

Mrs. Dixon succeeds Mrs. Robert Davis, who was the chairman for last year, and who closed a most successful and efficient year of service to this organization. During the term of office Mrs. Davis was called upon to make a number of important decisions, and she carried the honors and duties of her office in a most capable and satisfactory manner.

Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman and Mrs. Rix Stafford composed the nominating committee for the election of new officers.

The John Barclay nursery is one of the four branches of the Sheltering Arms association, and was built as a memorial to the late John F. Barclay, one of the best known citizens of Atlanta, and a man who was a foremost factor in doing charity work in Atlanta. The nursery is where mothers who work may leave their young children each day to be cared for, in their absence. Mrs. Walter T. Colquitt is the newly elected president of the Sheltering Arms association, and will preside on Thursday morning, at the meeting to be held at the Osgood Sanders nursery, on Walton street.

HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—(adv.)

Miss Connelly Weds Captain W. A. Sirmon.

The marriage of Miss Sally Ruth Connelly, of Monticello, Ga., and Captain William A. Sirmon, U. S. A., which took place Sunday, January 2, in Columbia, S. C., is of interest to their friends in Atlanta, where Captain Sirmon is widely known.

The bride is the attractive granddaughter of Mrs. Elmina Cornwell, of Monticello, and Captain and Mrs. Sirmon are spending several days in Atlanta, en route to Monticello, where they will visit Mrs. Cornwell.

Captain Sirmon served with the 325th infantry of the 82d division in France and made one of the most excellent and distinguished records of the world war. He won the Distinguished Service Medal, the Croix de Guerre, with palm; is a chevalier in the French Legion of Honor, and won other distinctions. Following his discharge from the army he became connected with the Property Foundation Company, Inc., and resided in Atlanta. Last fall he re-enlisted in the United States army and is now in the 60th infantry, stationed at Camp Jackson, S. C. Captain Sirmon is a member of the American Legion. He is on leave for twenty days and will rejoin his regiment afterward.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Honoring Mrs. Goode.

Mrs. Kenneth Goode, of New York, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Max Wright, at her home on Juniper street, will be honor guest at the bridge morning luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Henry Troutman at her home on the Prado, in Ansley Park.

Honoring Miss Howell.

Miss Elizabeth Howell, of Chattanooga, who is visiting Miss Mary Cohen, was guest of honor at a buffet supper given Sunday evening by Miss Alice Stearns at her home on Peachtree street.

The rooms were decorated with foliage plants and silver vases holding pink roses and narcissi. In the dining room the table had an exquisite cover of silk lace and was adorned with a wicker basket of Killarney roses and narcissi, the handle tied with a graceful bow of Dresden ribbon. At intervals were placed silver candlesticks holding pink unshaded tapers and compotes of pink mints and bonbons.

Miss Stearns wore a gown of black charmeuse over a foundation of rich cream lace and accordion pleated chiffon with touches of coral. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Harry Stearns, and her sister, Miss Marion Stearns.

Mrs. Stearns wore a dinner gown of black Chantilly lace over black chiffon.

Miss Marion Stearns was becomingly gowned in an afternoon costume of blue and henna charmeuse.

Miss Cohen was gowned in dark blue satin and Miss Howell wore brown lace over brown satin.

Smith—Capel; Smith—Kelton.

A very quiet double wedding of much interest was that of Miss Laurette Smith to John Whitaker Capel, of Molena, Ga., and that of Miss Mabel Smith to John Kelton, of Glenwood, Ga., which was solemnized at the home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, at Cork, Ga., Wednesday afternoon, January 5, at 1 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was carried out, Rev. Van Deventer, of Jackson, Ga., officiating.

The home was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns.

The brides, who are sisters, are charming and talented, with many friends throughout the state. The grooms are popular business men.

Out-of-town guests who atended the wedding were: Misses Winnie Johnson, of Norcross, Ga.; Corine Watts, of Forsyth, Ga.; Muriel Scarborough, of Fitzgerald, Ga.; Sara Smith, of Florence, S. C.; Lettie and Elizabeth Towles, of Cork, Ga., Walker L. Connally, of Molena, Ga., and Mr. Kimball, of Jackson, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Odom, of Macon, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Towles, of Cork.

The two couples left immediately after the ceremony for their future homes, Mr. and Mrs. Capel going to Molena, and Mr. and Mrs. Kelton going to Glenwood, Ga.

Wedding Anniversaries.

A delightful entertainment was that given by Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Bird at their home in Inman Park, when they celebrated their twentieth anniversary.

The house was beautifully decorated, and music and readings were an effective part of the program.

Punch was served throughout the evening.

The cream was frozen in white and gold wedding bells served with white and gold cake.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Bird in entertaining were their three daughters, Mary, Trezevant and Minnie.

Those invited were: Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Butterworth, Mr. and Mrs. B. Wilson Bird, Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Clinkscale, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Ethridge, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Lanford, Mr. and Mr. G. T. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Maning, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Will Tompson, Mr. and Mrs. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wade, Jr., Mrs. R. A. Weathington, Miss Frances Johnson, C. Lee Calhoun, Hugh A. Butler, Dixie H. Golson, F. Collins Bird.

Mrs. Thornton Named On Highway Board.

Mrs. Albert Thornton, Sr., has been appointed by the Bankhead highway commission chairman from Georgia to look to the adornment of the highway in this state. Mrs. Thornton's appointment was made at the recent meeting of the commission in Birmingham.

She will accept and will bring the subject before the executive board of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which meets here this month.

"There is a good roads committee in virtually every federated club in the state, and I shall appeal directly to the club women to aid in the work of the Bankhead highway."

Mrs. Thornton will address the Ad Men at their regular weekly luncheon on Thursday, when she will discuss the program of public health, which the federated club women of Atlanta have undertaken their practical step in this direction in the program by which they hope to make Atlanta a clean city.

Grant Park Parent-Teachers.

The Parent-Teacher association of Grant Park school held its regular meeting Friday, January 7. A large number of mothers was present, and much business for the new year was taken up.

Mr. Osburn Williams gave a splendid talk on "Vocational Guidance," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The association voted to give $50 to the Far East relief work. This association is doing a splendid work, and is enrolling new members each month.

"Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Atlanta, Ga., for week ending Saturday, January 8, 1921, on shipments sold out, ranged from 15 cents to 19 cents per pound and averaged 15.56 per pound."—(advt.)

Thin? You Can Put on Flesh

If you are thin, weak, nervous or run down, it's ten chances to one that Blood Iron Phosphate will not only help you to put on flesh, but that it will also help you to look and feel stronger and better than you have for months. Go today to Jacobs' Pharmacies or any other good druggist and get enough Blood-Iron Phosphate for a three weeks' trial; it costs only $1.50—50c a week—and it's almost certain to do you a world of good. Anyway, you don't risk anything, for Blood-Iron Phosphate is so good that you can try it for three weeks under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back—proof of its real merit. Better try it today.—(adv.)

Honoring Mrs. Winchell.

Mrs. John D. Little will entertain at luncheon Saturday, January 29, in honor of Mrs. Benjamin Winchell, who arrives with Mr. Winchell January 28.

Hirsch—Montag.

Mrs. Edward Hirshman Hirsch announces the marriage of her daughter, Rhea, to Harold E. Montag, which was solemnized on the evening of Saturday, January 8, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiseburg, on Fairview road, Druid Hills, Rabbi David Marx officiating.

Signal Corps to Entertain Chaperons And Sponsors.

The officer in charge of the signal corps unit and the cadet officers of the Third battalion have arranged a theater party at the Howard theater at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, January 15, in honor of the battalion, chaperon and sponsor and the company sponsors of the Third battalion. After the show the party will visit Nunnally's. It is requested that the party assemble at the Howard not later than 2:30.

The following are included in this invitation: Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Wallace, Major and Mrs. Pendleton, Miss Callie Orme, Miss Maud Couch, Miss Irene Thomas, Miss Elizabeth Goldsmith, Miss Emily Davis, Miss Kate Palmour, Miss Julia Garner, Miss Evelyn Sheffield, Miss Mary Nevin, Miss Wilmotine Perdue and Miss Genevieve Harper.

Ten Club Meets.

A special meeting of "The Ten" club will be held at the home of Hugh M. Willet, Tuesday, at 5 o'clock.

The meeting is called incidental to the visit to Atlanta of Dr. W. W. Landrum, the czar of all "The Ten" clubs in the United States and kindred organizations, and Dr. John E. White, who was for many years one of the leading members of the club.

The paper for the evening will be by W. W. Orr, on "The Dark Ages."

SOCIAL ITEMS

Dr. and Mrs. E. Raymond Robb will be honor guests at a dinner given this evening by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wilkins, at their home in Peachtree Heights.

Miss Pearl Wilkinson has designed and finished an exquisite baby dress which is now on exhibition in Regenstein's window on Whitehall street. The dress may be seen in the window, and it will be sold for the aid of the starving children of Europe, the proceeds from the sale to go toward this fund. Miss Wilkinson has daintly fashioned this long dress for the first months of a baby, and she has demonstrated her fine and beautiful needlework in this article.

Ivan Allan Made President Of Local Retail Merchants

W. M. Brownlee, Retiring Executive, Presented With Handsome Gold Watch—Fine Reports Are Read by Officers.

Ivan E. Allen, president of Fielder & Allen Co., former president of the Southeastern Fair association and former leader of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, was elected to the presidency of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association Monday night at the annual meeting of the association, succeeding W. M. Brownlee. The retiring officer was presented with a handsome gold watch by the board of directors. Sam Rothberg, of Frohsin's, was elected first vice president and Clarence Haverty, well-known furniture man, was named second vice president. The retiring vice presidents were W. H. Brittain and H. A. Maier.

The election of officers, the address of President Brownlee and the annual report of Secretary and Treasurer W. B. Fitzgerald were the principal features of the gathering which was held in the ballroom of the Capital City club. J. P. Allen was chairman of the arrangements committee. A delightful dinner was served and an enjoyable program of entertainment was presented by a number of well-known local vaudeville artists, under the direction of Lucien York.

Entertainment Features.

The entertainment included songs and dance numbers, and the artists were Misses Gertrude Maurer and Nellie Sullivan, Mrs. Calliste Conant Hudson, C. P. Johnson, William Maurer and Fred Brigman. Several popular and patriotic airs were rendered by the Rotary Boys' band.

On motion of F. J. Paxon, Robert C. Alston, prominent Atlanta attorney, was elected an honorary member in the association. He was highly praised for his efforts last year to prevent the removal of the state capitol to Macon. Mr. Alston acknowledged the honor with a short address, in which he predicted prosperity for the merchants.

In his final message as president of the association, Mr. Brownlee declared that the merchants are now going through the most drastic readjustment the country has ever known.

"We are only on the threshold of a financial stringency," he said. "With the enormous debt of the United States, we may expect attempts at unprecedented legislation. Whatever laws are enacted by congress will probably be followed by similar statutes introduced in our states legislatures and in our city councils.

"It behooves every merchant to co-operate with his fellow merchant, and this can be done only through an association such as ours. Strength lies in co-operation alone. A single strand may be snapped at the whim of a child, but when many strands are woven compactly together a cable is formed which is unbreakable. So, a merchant, standing alone, may be swept into oblivion, but when united in effort with his fellow man will be able to obtain just and reasonable legislation."

Will Bring Crisis.

Mr. Brownlee said that merchants are beginning to realize that 1921 will bring a crisis in the business lives of many merchants. He urged the membership to give the incoming president hearty support in helping to solve the many problems which will confront him.

Mr. Brownlee called special attention to the detective department of the association.

"This department has become a real menace to the law-breakers," he said. "So much so that many criminals, shoplifters and store-breakers who have been in our midst have turned to more promising fields because of the record our detective department has made." He announced that during this year the detective department will be under the direct charge of Detective Vic Young, with a special committee, consisting of J. P. Allen, H. E. Fleming and Lucian York supervising its activity. The work heretofore had been under the direction of Secretary Fitzgerald.

Approval was accorded the work of Secretary Fitzgerald. He submitted a comprehensive report of the year's work. A substantial growth in the association's membership was shown, 28 new members being listed. Mr. Fitzgerald reported that all 1920 expenses had been paid and that the new year was begun with a bank balance.

W. R. C. Smith made a stirring address in behalf of the European relief council's campaign in Georgia for funds to feed and clothe European children. J. A. Arnold, representing the Southern Tariff association, which holds a tariff congress here January 27-29; George Napier, attorney general-elect;

IVAN E. ALLEN,
Elected president of Atlanta Retail Merchants.

James B. Nevin and others spoke. Representatives Bentley, Holloway and Moore were present as special guests.

Violin Virtuosity Of Star Delights Large Audience

Efrem Zimbalist, who is not one of the new Russian meteors lighting up the violinistic horizon, but has established himself as a star in the musical world through a number of years of constantly growing artistry, was the attraction in the all-star concert series at the Auditorium last night, and a large audience gave him enthusiastic reception.

His program, scholarly and beautiful to start with, gave room for criticism later in its overweaning tendency to the kind of selections that are wholly for display of virtuosity, but in every instance his work was of high type.

The opening concerto in A major by Mozart he played with an elegance, a grace, well suited to its finely molded lines, to the exquisite form in which is cast its lovely melody, and the Beethoven romance which followed was on the same plane, its utterance full of eloquence, its style that of high-pitched sentiment.

The Auer arrangment of Tschaikowsky andante cantabile was another instance of exquisite repose-fulness in a stretch of pyrotechnical things that found their climax in the Sarasate fantasy on Carmen airs.

In these last Zimbalist proves that he can do more things on one string of his instrument than most musicians can do with the whole violin or an orchestra of them, and people glanced at one another in smiling amazement at the ease and variety of the violinistic "stunts." Yet the player's audience will hardly carry with them the recollection of these feats of virtuosity as long and certainly not as tenderly as the memory of the "Spring Song" of Mendelssohn, which was like a fleeting fragrance in its delicacy and charm.

The classic he showed he could excel in, the romantic he essays with taste and adequate feeling, but like John McCormack, perhaps, he knows that in a large audience the superficially showy gets the most encores. And certainly Mr. Zimbalist had many recalls.

The pianist, Emanuel Balaban, was one of the most delightful accompanists heard here in a long time. He was like the violinist's other self in his sympathy, and frequently drew the lion's share of attention to the piano part, his touch limpid and poetic, or, as in the staccato passages of the piano part in the Tschaikowsky andante, like the dropping of water, reluctant, yet clean and clear.

LOUISE DOOLY.

Food and Liberty Denied Men Held As Auto Thieves

That the way of the transgressor is both hard and hungry is doubtless the opinion of three alleged automobile thieves, J. Miller, aged 27; W. Harrison, aged 22, and G. W. Rhodes, aged 24, all of 272 South Pryor street, who were caught late Monday afternoon by City Detectives Malcom and Meeks, after the trio had completed a three-day trip from Columbia, S. C., to this city.

After they have answered to a charge of attempting to dispose of a stolen automobile in Atlanta, to be brought against them by the detectives, it is stated, they will be returned to Columbia, S. C., there to stand trial on a charge of stealing an automobile in that city.

Although facing this dismal future, it was the least of their troubles Monday night, according to statements at police headquarters.

When the travelers fell in with the detectives they were, by their own accounts, tired and hungry. They had just completed a three-day trip from Columbia in the automobile, over long, rough roads. They were "broke," they added, having had no food during the three days of their trip and the ride had given them an immense appetite.

They were almost glad to reach police headquarters, for they knew they would get a meal there at least. Locked in their cells, however, another, and at the time, more bitter disappointment awaited them.

Eagerly they waited the arrival of the supper hour, and after hours had passed they inquired how much longer they must wait for supper.

They were told that the next meal with which they would be served would be breakfast, since they had arrived after the supper hour.

Four other alleged automobile thieves are lodged in the prison at police headquarters: F. J. Opdyke, aged 23; John Smith, aged 18, and R. R. Taylor, aged 20, were on Monday afternoon brought in by the sheriff at Mayesville, Ga., charged with theft of an automobile in Atlanta. They refused, it is stated, to give addresses.

J. W. Martin, aged 37, of Griffin, Ga., was arrested upon the charge of stealing an automobile by Detectives Malcom and Meeks Monday afternoon.

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

At last you can learn What Edison Did during the War

YOU wondered—everybody wondered, and practically nobody knew how Edison "did his bit." At last the official announcement is out! Come in and get your copy of the bulletin: "What Did Edison Do During the War?"—or write, if you can't call.

It tells what Edison did while Chairman of the Naval Consulting Board—how he spent months at sea, experimenting and inventing devices for foiling the German submarines.

The bulletin also tells how Edison stood the gaff and kept the price of the New Edison down to bed-rock during the era of high costs and soaring prices. The New Edison has increased in price less than 15% since 1914—part of this increase is war tax. The bulletin also tells Mr. Edison's views on our Budget Plan which makes the New Edison easy to buy.

PROTECTING OUR PORTS.

That the great railroad interests of the east, in conjunction with the steamship and seaboard warehouse interests centered in the north Atlantic ports, are maneuvering for an aggressive attack upon the federal policy which, for the first time in history, placed the ports of the south on an equal freight rate basis with those of the north, appears evident, and James A. Hollomon, The Constitution's Washington correspondent, in a special dispatch published yesterday morning, calls attention to the danger in the movement.

For years the great eastern railroad systems and port interests reaped enormous profits from freight differentials that were all in their favor, and largely of their own making, enabling them to enjoy practically a monopoly of all trans-Atlantic commerce, both export and import. It operated to retard the development of the ports of the south and southeast.

As the foreign commerce of the country grew, the fact that practically all of it that was carried over the Atlantic ocean had to be funneled through the New York bottle-neck—a little of it being parceled out to other north Atlantic ports—gave rise to such a congestion back from the north Atlantic seaboard that the shipping interests of the middle west, the west, the Mississippi valley, the south and the southeast raised such a protest that the order was issued equalizing transportation rates to and from all of the ports.

That order placed the ports of the south Atlantic and the Gulf on the same rate basis as those of the east.

The eastern railroad and port and steamship interests protested, but without avail.

Those great interests, however, are not accustomed to yielding a discriminating advantage enjoyed by them, and it is evident that they do not intend to surrender their monopoly of the country's Atlantic commerce without a fight.

Thus the risk before the west and south is cut out for them.

They must take organized action to defeat the effort to nullify or amend the existing impartial export rate schedule and to restore the discriminatory differential.

Southern and western railroads, and the transportation, shipping, industrial and commercial interests of those sections which suffered in common from the old conditions and which are now in common sharing the enjoyment of commercial fair play and transportation equality, should exert themselves to maintain the new order, otherwise they may lose a valuable asset.

This is something that is of vital personal concern to every railroad, every manufacturer, every warehouse corporation, every chamber of commerce, every business man, every citizen in the south and west, and the fight, if there is to be a fight, to maintain the equality of the southern ports is the common fight of all.

"French may abolish the kissing custom." With them it's a cheeky affair, anyway.

In his retirement it is said that D'Annunzio is writing history. That's where a poetical imagination comes handy.

Dispatch from Marion says: "Senator Harding is pale and tired-looking, showing traces of irritability." No wonder—with the office-seekers asking more of the earth than he has to give.

PATRIOTIC WORDS.

In expressing regret at his inability to accept the invitation to visit Atlanta at the present time, President-elect Warren G. Harding says in an admirable letter published elsewhere today that he hopes "at no distant day" to visit Atlanta, and that he wants the people of this section to know that he will do his part "to establish an era of universal good will for America."

It is a source of universal gratification that the chief executive of the nation for the next four years is to be a man who is imbued with a desire to work for the "good fortune" of the whole country, without thought of section boundary lines, and whose guiding purpose is to do as much as it is possible for a president to do "to establish an era of universal good will in America."

It is encouraging to have this first-hand evidence of the president-elect's broad conception of patriotic obligation.

Though the south is democratic, it will take him at his word, and unitedly lend him every assistance in accomplishing his desire to inaugurate an "era of universal good will in America."

So impressed have our people been at the friendly attitude of the president-elect that several southern governors, among them Governor Dorsey, have already accepted invitations to go to Washington with their staffs on March 4 to participate in his inauguration.

They are going there as democrats to take part in the inauguration of a republican president, because they appreciate and reciprocate his repeated evidences of good will.

Mr. Harding has not let pass an opportunity to attest his kindly interest in the south.

With that spirit actuating the president-elect reciprocated as it is by the southern people, the south has every reason to be assured of fair dealing and just consideration at the hands of the new administration.

FARM HOME NEEDS.

Provided with those facilities that can come only through mass co-operation applied through political government, the American farmer has clearly demonstrated his aptitude and ability to equip his household with the conveniences that are necessities to rural happiness and contentment.

Give him good roads, for example, and he will, if able to do so, provide himself with an automobile, and his wife and children with the multitudinous advantages and pleasures to which possession of an automobile opens the door.

But good roads must precede the automobile; and those the individual farmer cannot supply for himself. They must come through a collective scource, of which the individual is only a part—that is, through government—county, state or national, or, better still, all three in co-operation.

This abstract principle as it applies to the American farm woman was argued with convincing effect by Anne Gilbert, who, in an article that appeared in a recent issue of the Outlook, said:

"Whether we (farm women) have a bathroom, electric lights or aluminum cooking ware are individual problems. Roads, schools and the mail are of national concern.

"What we farm women would like would be improved mail service, for, in spite of current belief, rural mail routing is very poorly planned, and on many days of snow, of rain, or of mud, we do not get our mail. We would like better roads so that we could go back and forth quicker when we take our eggs to market or our cream to the creamery.

"But most of all, we want better—far, far better—schools, in order that our children may have the best advantages in education that are available anywhere; that they may grow up to be well educated, thinking, loyal American citizens, whether they choose to live in the city or in the country."

Rural mail service; good roads; adequate school facilities: These are the three pre-eminent fundamental requisites to maximum rural development.

And in them lies the future greatness of the country, for the reason that the farm is the very foundation stone of the state and the main source of what it takes to sustain society as a whole.

Georgia is to be felicitated upon the fact that it is rapidly becoming imbued with a realization of this truth, as is demonstrated by the fact that highway and rural educational development is advancing at this time at a rate never dreamed of a few years ago.

Sure, it's trouble to make out the income tax return, but while you're at it, see to it that trouble won't be coming to you afterwards.

Cuba's consolation, in her present financial troubles, should be that American tourists stood to her to their last dollar.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

PHOSPHORUS IN FOOD.

Whale meat has come to be a practical, comparatively cheap, exceedingly wholesome and very nourishing article of diet with forward looking, well posted American people. Probably Mark Twain did not foresee that when he advised the young man who wanted a diet helpful for an aspiring author to eat a couple of whales every morning. In "thim days," and long before the modern quack food specialist bust upon the horizon, fish was "brain food."

There is, of course, nothing in the notion that any particular kind of food or any particular element of food goes to nourish or strengthen any particular organ or part of the body. It is as silly to imagine that lean meat is "muscle food" as it is to imagine that fish is brain food. The height of absurdity in this realm of imagination is reached by some few thousands of our revered college presidents, noted attorneys, eminent bankers and prominent physicians who have been taken in by the plausible appeal of a kind of glorified cottage cheese which purports to be a "nerve food"—the bigger they come the harder they fall for the pseudo-scientific bunk.

Phosphorus is present in a great many foods and is an essential element of food. But it is childish to suppose that phosphorus or any compound or derivative of phosphorus is particularly beneficial to the nerves or the brain, notwithstanding the specious pleas of venders who have phosphorus-containing foods or medicines to market.

In a man weighing 70,000 grams (154 pounds) there are about 1,400 grams of phosphorus in the bones, 130 grams in the muscles, and only 12 grams in the brain and nerves. Therefore, it would be less absurd to think of phosphorus-containing medicines or foods as good for weak nerves or weak brain. Mind, I do not say there is no such things as a weak brain. Far be it from me to deny what is only too evident on all sides. But I do say that Barnum said a bigger mouthful than Sherman did, at that. And Barnum had the general rabble in mind—what would he have said of the highbrow membership of the great American Wisenheimer family?

The yelk of an egg contains more phosphorus and in a more readily assimilable form than the daily dose of any medicine or medicine food known to man. Cheese, any kind, is rich in phosphorus, even though no testimonials are written for it by old Dr. Gink, emeritus president of Skookum college. Beans, too. Oatmeal and whole wheat are rich in phosphorus. Chocolate contains a lot of it, and even crude brown sugar and molasses are fairly rich in phosphorus, although the refined white sugar is innocent of it. Children by the way should be given a generous allowance of crude brown sugar, the cruder the more wholesome and nutritious, and the cruder molasses, instead of the sickening ultra-refined white sugar.

Confidence That General Crowder May Bring the Warring Political Factions in Cuba Together — Present Situation Acute and Depressing to Business With the United States.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

Washington, January 10.—(Special.)—It is to be hoped that General Crowder, who originally framed the national election laws for Cuba, and who is perhaps the best posted man in the United States on Cuban politics and ceremonies, will be able to bring the warring political factions on the island together, and restore not only domestic tranquillity for the Cuban people, but insure a quick resumption of normal trade relations between that little republic and her great big "daddy," just to the north of her.

As it is, the trouble down there between the federals and the liberals has reached such an acute stage, with the drastic depression of a moratorium crippling all industry, that not only are the Cuban people suffering, especially with the bottom knocked out of the sugar business, but the manufacturers and merchants of this country, who supply practically everything sold in Cuba except domestic produce, are feeling the effects. Indeed, it is one of the contributing causes of the existing depression in this country.

* * * *

There has been a great deal of confusion as to the authority of the president in dispatching a special envoy to Cuba to assist in the restoration of normal financial and political conditions—

The fact is, this country exercises a protectorate over Cuba, by the provisions of the Platt amendment, enacted in 1901, after the United States had reconstructed the island, following the Spanish-American war of 1898.

The Platt amendment follows:

"That the government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba."

This section of the Platt amendment also constitutes article 3 of the treaty of July 2, 1904, between this country and Cuba, into which it was incorporated textually.

* * * *

In governmental circles it is generally believed that General Crowder will be able to pacify the factions, not only diplomatically, but under the pressure of the Platt amendment, and the firm determination of President Wilson not to temporize any moment with the conditions there. It is not that this government desires to dictate policies of administration to the existing government of Cuba nor to extend a hand of sympathy to the liberals, who are urging supervision of Cuban elections by the United States, that this action has been taken, but entirely in the joint interests of protecting the sovereignty of Cuba and the restoration of a financial normalcy, and to that end, congressional leaders say, General Crowder may be relied upon to act with discretion, but with effective firmness.

* * * *

To understand the Cuban situation—

Although the national elections were held in November, it is not yet known who will assume office when the term of President Menocal expires on May 20.

On the face of the returns, Dr. Alfredo Zayas, candidate of a coalition of conservatives and other elements, has been elected president, but enough votes were missing to furnish the possibility of throwing the victory to his opponent, Joel Miguel Gomez, candidate of the liberals. The Cuban courts have found some ballots to have been fraudulent and thrown them out, but the legal processes are not expeditious and certain by-elections have to be held to determine the final result.

In the meantime the moratorium placed in effect by the Cuban government to expire December 30 has been extended to February 1.

As an evidence of the hardships placed upon the people doing business in Cuba, among whom are thousands of Americans, the terms of the moratorium are convincing. They follow:

"Drafts, notes, letters of exchange, personal obligations, orders and other credit documents now due or that may be due up to December 1 will not be collectible until that date under the terms of the moratorium just announced by the Cuban government.

"Mortgage credits transferrable, or deeds of trust which may be due before December 1 will be extended until that date.

"Depositors can draw only 10 per cent of the total of their checking accounts, and not more than 12 per cent of the total time deposits below $2,000.

"Creditors of current accounts may draw against their account in necessary sums required to pay taxes, customs duties, fiscal revenues and other local taxes from the province or municipality.

As a national result, too, the trade relations with this country, through the south Atlantic and gulf ports, and New York and Boston were brought to a sudden crisis and millions of dollars owed by Cuban traders to American interests have not and for the time can not be paid.

* * * *

There are hundreds of thousands of dollars owed to manufacturers and merchants in Atlanta, to illustrate, that can not be paid until the moratorium is raised and the financial situation clarified.

It is to remedy these conditions that President Wilson has acted with commendable dispatch and firmness.

President-Elect Harding Will Work For Era of Universal Good Will

In response to a letter written in behalf of the Atlanta newspapers and signed by Clark Howell, John S. Cohen and Buford Goodwin, representing, respectively, The Constitution, The Journal and The Georgian-American, President-elect Warren G. Harding has written that it will be impossible, at this time, for him to accept the invitation tendered him to meet the editors of the daily newspapers of the south, who were to be invited to come to Atlanta as the guests of the Atlanta newspapers, had the president-elect accepted.

The response of Senator Harding in full is as follows:

"UNITED STATES SENATE.
Washington, D. C.

"Marion, Ohio, January 5, 1921.—Mr. Clark Howell, Editor Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.—Mr Dear Mr. Howell: I beg you to understand that it is due to no lack of appreciation that there has been no acknowledgment of the exceptional message which came to me, signed by yourself and Messrs. Cohen and Goodwin, in which you urged my acceptance of an invitation to address the session of the Southern Tariff congress to be held in Atlanta January 27 to 29, and in which communication you did me the very great courtesy to tender me a luncheon or dinner as a guest of the daily newspapers of your great city.

"This invitation from yourself and your contemporaries appealed to me very strongly, and if I could have found a way to accept, I should have rejoiced to do so. It is the simple truth that I have delayed acknowledgement because I have been trying to figure out a plan whereby I might have this great satisfaction.

"Frankly, I hold the meeting of this congress to be of signal importance, quite without regard to our partisan prejudices. Moreover, I entertain a very sincere desire to know the people of the southland better and to have them know me as one who wishes to serve them and bring the people of the north and the south and the east and the west into complete concord and abiding confidence. There is really no conflict in our interests and the good fortunes of common country are of concern to us all, and I should like the people of the southern states to know that one who is to be in the executive office for four years to come wants to make it a part of his work to add to the good fortune of all our country.

"I know something about the high character of the southern press. I should have been glad to meet with the newspaper workers and to have expressed fraternal greetings and invite their support and co-operation in making the incoming administration one of real service to America. It is a keen disappointment not to have this satisfaction on this most inviting occasion, but I want you to believe, and I want the people of your state to know, that I am going to entertain the hope to come at no distant day and do my part to establish an era of universal goodwill in America. Very truly yours. (Signed)

"WARREN G. HARDING."

U. S. JUDGE HEARS MOTOR TRUCK PART SUIT FOR $3,367.80

Trial of the suit filed in the United States district court by the Beaver Manufacturing company against the Superior Motor Truck company for the sum of $3,367.80, which the complainant alleges is due from the truck concern for motor truck parts, was begun Monday morning before Judge Samuel H. Sibley.

Fourteen witnesses were sworn, and it is thought that the trial will consume all of Tuesday. Two witnesses, one each for the plaintiff and defendant, gave testimony Monday. The defendant company contends that the material purchased from the plaintiff was defective, while the plaintiff is seeking to show that it was as represented when sold.

CHURCH LEADERS WILL HEAR MAYOR ON SUNDAY MOVIES

This afternoon at 4 o'clock Mayor Key is scheduled to speak before a group of church leaders at the Y. M. C. A. and discuss his plans for free Sunday movies at the Auditorium. The mayor's program for civic and social reforms and school improvments will also be presented. Invitations to attend have been issued to the members of the Christion council, the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association and the committee on church co-operation.

BEN HUR TRIBESMEN INSTALL OFFICERS

Installation of officers of the Progressive court, No. 29, Supreme Tribe of Ben Hur, will be held tonight. In addition to the installation of officers, other important business will be transacted. Refreshments will be served and a dance held.

Officers to be installed, to serve for the next six months, are as follows: W. C. Mead, chief; J. L. Weathers, judge; G. O. Weathers, teacher; J. E. Daily, scribe; B. L. Robertson, K. of T.; C. W. Duncan, captain; E. Lashley, guide; A. O. Vaughn, K. of G., and Miss Ethel L. Allen, musician.

BAKERS PLANNING FOR CONVENTION HERE THIS MONTH

Atlanta bakers will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce building to discuss plans for the meeting of the executive committee of the Southeastern Association of Bakers, which will be held here January 18. L. A. Ruppersburg will preside.

The committee, which will meet in Atlanta, is composed of twenty representatives of the baking industry. The committee will discuss a number of problems of importance and probably will decide upon the meeting place for the next annual meeting of the association. The last annual convention of the Southeastern Bakers was held in Birmingham, the headquarters of the association. T. A. McGough, of Birmingham, is president.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEN RETURN FROM AUGUSTA

State Superintendent P. D. Webb, of the Georgia Sunday School association, who has returned from the school of methods held in Augusta during the past week, states that a total of 356 students were enrolled during the week, and that as many others attended the school sessions as visitors. Thirty-six of these completed the work and were given certificates.

The most progressive principles and methods for meeting Sunday school problems were presented each day by a faculty thoroughly conversant with its subject. The faculty included many of the foremost religious authorities of the country.

EMBALMERS OF STATE WILL HOLD MEETING

Applicants for embalming licenses will be examined at a meeting of the Georgia State Board of Embalmers in the Piedmont hotel on Wednesday. Other business also will be disposed of. Members of the board are W. Edward Platt, of Augusta, president; Stiles H. Dunbar, of Athens, secretary and treasurer; H. M. Patterson, of Atlanta; Lester Marval, of Waycross, and Albert Goette, of Savannah.

Says Capital Can Be Found to Develop Water Power Resources

Editor Constitution: N. P. Pratt, in his letter to The Constitution published in your issue of January 5, says:

"Whatever is the matter, it appears to be true that capital cannot be secured to develop important water powers in Georgia, the reason given being that such investments are not permitted to make such a fair return on the actual values involved as will give their legitimate securities the necessary standing in financial quarters."

Mr. Pratt's Mistake.

There would be no objection to Mr. Pratt's statement, if he had said:

"Mr. Atkinson and his associates say that capital cannot be secured."

The statement, that capital cannot be obtained for the development of the water powers of Georgia because the present rates are too low, is absurd to any one familiar with what is taking place in the United States and Canada today in water power development. In Alabama, where the rates, according to United States census reports, are much lower than those in Georgia, a development of 500,000-horsepower on the Coosa river is being projected. The application has already been made to the federal water power commission for a permit for this.

Buffalo Illustrates.

Buffalo has been mentioned by the officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company as having a lower rate than Atlanta. The rate will be made lower in Buffalo and a 100,000-horsepower plant added to the present equipment, as the result of an application made by the city of Buffalo to the federal power commission for the right to install a municipal plant at Niagara.

To dissuade the city from pressing its application, and to get Buffalo, instead to join a corporation in urging the commission to grant a permit to the corporation, two corporations have proposed to make the installation and to supply the city of Buffalo with current at a cost of $15 per horsepower. Negotiations are still in progress, but no suggestion has been made that inadequate rates will prevent the acquiring of capital to construct the plant which will be needed.

It is, however, most interesting to note that the proposal by private corporations to supply Buffalo at $15 per horsepower is still much higher than the price being paid in the city of Toronto, which is 84 miles from Niagara Falls, while Buffalo is only 20 miles from the falls, from whence the power comes for both cities. It illustrates the clutch of the corporations. Toronto was paying $18.50 per horsepower in 1912. This price was reduced to $15 per horsepower in 1913. At present the price is $14.50 per horsepower, 50 cents per horsepower less than the proposed price for Buffalo. The Toronto rate enables the city of Toronto to supply light to its people at an average cost of 2.5 per K. W. H. for residences, and 2.2 per K. W. H. for places of business. The average rate paid by Toronto merchants and office buildings is less than one-fourth the rate being paid by many Atlanta merchants—far less than the average rate paid by all of our merchants, office buildings and places of business. The average rate paid in Atlanta homes is over three times the average rate paid in Toronto homes, the average bill for light in the Toronto home being 91 cents, while the minimum bill possible in Atlanta is $1.

Notwithstanding this extraordinary difference in rates, the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario from which Toronto gets light and power, is experiencing no difficulty in getting capital for new developments. The commission was developing and distributing $65,000-horsepower in 1919. It will at the expiration of this year be developing and distributing 1,000,000-horsepower, which is far more than three times the total developed power in the state of Georgia.

Los Angeles Forges Ahead.

Los Angeles was mentioned by Mr. Arkwright, of the power company, as a city having a lower rate than Atlanta. The chamber of commerce of the city of Los Angeles is backing a plan to bring the output of their municipal plant to 500,000-horsepower. At rates far lower than those paid in Atlanta, the power department of the city of Los Angeles shows that the net earnings from 1916, up to and including the fiscal years 1920-1921, after operating expenses had been paid, were $4,396,425. The report of that department shows that there has been invested and charged to the capital account of the power development a total of $11,535,534. They have developed approximately 100,000-horse power.

But in 1918, the actual cost of the developed properties actually belonging to the Georgia Railway and Power company, when it was supposed to have developed 100,000-horsepower was $14,123,730, or in actual money $2,588,196 more than the capital charged against the Los Angeles plant, while the capital charges against the Georgia Railway and Power company were in 1918 $41,808,000, or $30,272,466 more than the $11,535,534 capital charges against the Los Angeles plant.

And yet in the face of these facts Mr. Atkinson has the hardihood to return from a four months' vacation in Canada to hard pressed Georgia, where people are suffering from the exorbitant price of coal, light and power, while their wealth of water power goes to waste, to repeat again his wail for increased rates, and to reiterate in heart-breaking words, that water has nothing to do with the matter. Mr. Atkinson is alone in that belief.

Chamber of Commerce Shows Way.

How can Atlanta hope to carry such a burden and compete with such development as this in Los Angeles?

The resolutions of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce say:

"That the chamber of commerce give its full support to the bureau of power and light and the city administration, in a comprehensive ten-year power program for the development of 500,000 horsepower in addition to the approximate 100,000 horsepower now developed. Tentative plans have been suggested from which it is calculated that this amount of horsepower will cost approximately $100,000,000 and be derived from the aqueduct and Owens river sources, and from such other prospective sources which, in the opinion of the engineers entrusted with such development, seem to be the most favorable sources from which this amount of power can be secured most advantageously."

At the rates prevalent in 1919 more than one merchant in Atlanta had an average bill for light of $500 per month. At the Los Angeles rate, this bill would have been at the municipal rate only $323.20, a difference in one year in favor of the Los Angeles merchant of $2,121.60, amounting in thirty years with interest compounded at 5 per cent to $140,959.10. The Atlanta merchant with a $100 monthly bill for light, using the same method of calculation, would in thirty years incur a cost of $14,271.21 more than the Los Angeles merchant. A $25 bill a month in a store in Atlanta would in thirty years amount to $5,868.18 more than in Los Angeles.

Atlanta and Los Angeles.

The period thirty years is used because that is the time usually allowed for financing an issue of bonds to take care of a development of this nature. Notwithstanding the enormous difference in rates between Atlanta and Los Angeles, in that city, which has developed so marvelously, the chamber of commerce seems to apprehend no difficulty in procuring capital to develop its resources.

Under the circumstances, the people of Atlanta and Georgia will not believe that the present rates in Georgia have anything to do with the failure to develop our water powers. On the contrary, these facts make perfectly plain the unconscionable burden placed upon Atlanta and the state of Georgia, both in rates and in the lack of development by the present system.

Does any one suppose that Atlanta and Georgia can not do what other cities and states are doing?

Is it not a disgrace to the state that while applications have been filed from twenty-seven different states with the federal power commission, not one has been filed from Georgia, and that under the law as it now stands the cities and state of Georgia must wait until the corporations decide to act?

A Worth While Valuation.

If an audit and valuation of the properties of the Georgia Railway and Power company could be made by more than one expert, one of whom should be selected by the city of Atlanta as was long ago proposed, it would be valuable, providing that the investigation went back far enough to disclose the whole history of the watering of the stock of the Georgia Railway and Electric company and the Georgia Railway and Power company. If the audit were limited to the past few years, or the city of Atlanta had no voice in the selection of at least one of the men making the valuation, it would, in my opinion, be folly for the city of Atlanta to spend money in it.

I wish to thank you for keeping the subject of our water powers before your readers. It is only necessary to get them to think to insure a solution of our present difficulties.

How to Make Out Your Income Tax Returns for 1921

BY WILLIAM B. CASTENHOLZ, A.M., C.P.A.
Director Department of Higher Accounting
LaSalle Extension University of Chicago

Gross Income to Be Reported.

Gross income includes the following:

1. Compensation for personal and professional services (salaries, wages, fees, commissions, bonuses, and rent equivalents, i. e., maintenance allowances).

2. Business income (either as an individual proprietor or as a partner in a business operated for profit).

3. Profits from sales of and dealings in property.

4. Income from investments in property or securities, such as rent and interest.

5. Dividends from stocks (other than stock dividends declared before November 1, 1918, and received before March 27, 1919). Dividends out of profits accumulated prior to March 1, 1913, are not taxable. (But all accumulated profits subsequent to February 28, 1913, must first have been distributed.) Dividends are subject to the surtax only; they are taxable whether paid in cash or in property either real or personal).

6. Gains, profits, and income derived from any source whatever, unless exempt from tax by law.

7. Profits derived from sales in foreign commerce.

The above items will be discussed in detail later; it should be borne in mind that income may be in the form of cash or property. (Sec. 213 and Arts. 31-54, Reg. 45.)

Exclusions From Gross Income.

Gross income for tax purposes does not include the following items, which are exempt from taxation:

1. The proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon the death of the insured to individual beneficiaries or to the estate of the insured.

2. Amounts received by the insured while living as a return of premiums paid by him, either during the term or at the maturity of the insurance contract.

3. The value of property acquired by gift, devise, or descent (but the income from such property shall be included in gross income).

4. Interest upon:

(a) The obligations of a state, territory, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia.

(b) Securities issued under the provisions of the federal farm loan act of July 17, 1916.

(c) The obligations of the United States or its possessions.

(d) Bonds issued by the War Finance corporation.

But statements as to the income derived from the above and the amounts of securities held must be submitted. Interest on United States government obligations is exempt to the extent provided in the various acts creating the obligations; but interest on the Liberty bonds is exempt from all normal tax. (This phase will be fully covered later.)

5. The income of foreign governments received from investments in the United States in stocks, bonds, or other domestic securities, or from interest on deposits in banks of the United States, when such investments and deposits belong to such foreign governments.

6. Amounts received as compensation for personal injuries or sickness, through accident or health insurance or under workmen's compensation acts.

7. Income derived from any public utility or the exercise of any essential governmental function and accruing to any state or territory, or the District of Columbia, or any political subdivision of a state or territory, or income accruing to the government of any possession of the United States or any political subdivision thereof.

8. Income received during the war by a person in the military or naval service of the United States as salary or compensation, up to $3,500. (Sec. 213 and Art. 71-36, Reg. 45.)

Deductions From Gross Income Allowed.

1. Business expenses:

(a) Cost of goods sold.

(b) Repairs.

(c) Professional expenses (expenses in connection with obtaining professional income, such as office rent, telephone, etc.).

(d) Compensation for personal services actually rendered and of reasonable proportions.

(e) Bonuses to employees made in good faith and as additional compensation for services actually rendered, which when combined with the regular compensation constitute a reasonable compensation for the services rendered.

(f) Pensions paid to retired employees or to their families or dependents, all limited to the amount not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

(g) Rental on leaseholds, fixed by the number of years the lease has to run. (Includes amortization of buildings erected by the tenant.)

2. Interest paid or accrued with the taxable year on indebtedness, except on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the interest upon which is wholly exempt from income tax (except the interest upon loans made to purchase United States government securities issued after September 24, 1917; such interest is fully deductible).

3. Taxes paid or accrued within the taxable year, imposed by the United States or by the states, territories, or any political subdivision thereof, except federal income and excess profits taxes and taxes for local benefits.

4. Losses sustained during the taxable year not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if

(a) Incurred by the taxpayer's trade or business, or

(b) Incurred in any transaction entered into for profit, or

(c) Arising from fires, storms, shipwreck, or other casualty, or from theft.

Such losses must be evidenced by closed transactions, so that they may be fully substantiated.

5. Debts ascertained to be worthless, and charged off within the taxable year.

6. A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, and wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence.

Rates of Taxation.

Normal tax:
1st $4,000 above exemptions... 4%
Remainder of net income..... 8%

Surtax—First $5,000 exempt:
Net income between $5,000 and $6,000 .....1%
Net income between $6,000 and $8,000 .....2%
Net income between $8,000 and $10,000 .....3%

etc., etc., up to $100,000, when the quota of division of net income increases.

Exemptions.

Single person $1,000
Married person or head of a household 2,000
Additional exemption for each dependent minor child..... 200

Exemptions are credits against net income and are deducted from net income for computing the normal tax only. These exemptions are not allowed in computing the surtax as a specific exemption of $5,000 exists for surtax purposes. The individual's status at the end of the taxable year determines his exemptions.

Bits of New York Life

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, January 10.—Prohibition has put a check on the spendthrift that bobbed up every few months to dazzle the Flaming Lane. There hasn't been a spendthrift to excite the town for more than a year. There is no place to show off any more with champagne only for sale by the street bootlegger.

Beauty dinners to Parisian queens of Bohemia, with diamond tiaras and pearl dog collars for souvenirs used to be semi-annual events. The most accomplished spendthrift New York ever knew was Harry Thaw and now he is feeding rabbits in a Philadelphia sanitarium.

The next was Jacques Lebaudy, the Frenchman. He would order fifty suits of clothes and then refuse to tip the bellboy who brought them to his hotel room. He once bought a flower shop for a girl who admired some orchids in a window on Madison avenue. And yet he was caught using a plugged nickel in a telephone booth.

His miserliness and profligacy ended in his murder by his wife on Long Island last year. Antoine, one of the best known head waiters, told me that he didn't believe there had been a one hundred-dollar tip passed along Broadway in a year.

He told of a Chicago man of wealth dining a group of friends at a smart restaurant. When it was finished he called the head waiter and said: "Do you want a good tip?" That resulted in a pleased look and a low bow of acquiesence. "Well," said the Chicago spendthrift, "play Man o' War his next race."

The biggest four-flushing spendthrift the town ever knew was the absurd "Scotty" of Death Valley. He did have a trans-continental special train and he gave an occasional dollar tip and threw small change to newsboys, but he was merely a tool of some scheming promoters who wanted to lure eastern capital into some kind of a wildcat mining proposition in Death Valley. It was one of the biggest press agent flivvers in history for the New York newspaper men had "Scotty's number from the first interview.

Several young men have run through small fortunes in the past five years high-flying on Broadway, but they were only flashes in the pan and never achieved the Sunday supplements. Most of the spendthrifts who really caused a sensation were megalomaniacs and paranoics.

Owen Johnson, the novelist, was riding on a Long Island train trying to read his evening paper, but was annoyed by two inebriated men in the seat back of him. Their conversation was meaningless drivel, but they spoke in loud voices and had evidently been on a spree of several days.

One finally leaned over to Johnson and said: "Shay, my fren, what day ish today?"

"Friday," said Johnson curtly.

"Gosh," he said in alarm as he arose unsteadily, "I gotta get off here."

A wealthy New Yorker, who acquired his wealth in the past few years, had his secretary phone for a compartment on a fast train for the west. He also instructed her to get a lower berth for his valet. The secretary reported she could get the apartment, but no berth for the valet.

"Heavens," he cried, "how in the world will I get on my shoes."

Bowery lodging houses are again experiencing prosperity. Many of the old-timers are back for the winter. Last winter they had jobs and lived in better places. It verifies a Bowery axiom: "They always come back."

What the Stars Predict.

This is an uncertain day.

The stars indicate that good fortune will come to those married today.

A royal wedding is predicted for the early spring.

There will be great changes in the fashions, which will tend to be more modest than in recent months.

Persons whose birthday this is should pay great attention to business affairs.

AMERICUS KIWANIANS GIVE PRESIDENT PIN

Americus, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—Americus Kiwanians have presented President Lewis Ellis with a handsome gold pin, in recognition of his zeal in advancing interests of the organization here. Mr. Ellis, who is an Americus attorney, is just beginning his second term as president of the local Kiwanis club, and recently was a candidate for state president. The pin was presented him at the regular weekly Kiwanis luncheon at the Windsor hotel, funds for its purchase being contributed by local Kiwanians.

CHAMBER TO OPPOSE FREIGHT RATE CHANGE

Freight rates discriminatory against South Atlantic ports and favoring New York will be opposed by Atlanta, through the chamber of commerce, in co-operation with the South Atlantic Ports' association, according to the statement of chamber officials Monday.

The recent agitation in the east for the restoration of the freight rates effective a few years ago, which gave the ports in the east a preference by shippers in exporting, is the stimulus to the statement of Secretary Charles E. Robertson, of the local chamber.

"Soon after the armistice," Mr. Robertson said, "the five South Atlantic ports, realizing the possibilities of Latin-American trade, organized the South Atlantic Ports' association. Out of that grew the South Atlantic Maritime association for the operation of ships to South American and Cuban ports, and from that organization grew the South Atlantic Export company to obtain cargoes for ships sailing from the five harbors.

"As a result of these movements export through these ports is considerable and is growing rapidly. In order to get the products of the west and middle west for exports it was necessary that freight rates to these ports be made equal to or less than those to New York. All of the interests in the southeast, including those of Atlanta, united and an adjustment of rates was obtained from the railroad administration.

"These rates since have been enforced over the strong protest of New York interests, in spite of the fact that until recently the New York port was greatly congested and long delays were unavoidable. The export tonnage from the middle west had begun to move through Atlanta to the South Atlantic ports in increasing volume. Evidently New York interests again are making an attempt to have the old rates put back into effect and this, if successful, would be greatly harmful to the entire southeast.

"Atlanta's interests are vital, because practically all of the export tonnage from the Lake industrial region en route to Cuba and South America through Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville passes through Atlanta. This is valuable in itself as a means of stimulating Atlanta's export trade.

"The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is in accord with the South Atlantic Ports' association and will give every assistance in opposing before the interstate commerce commission the movement to restore the old discriminatory rates."

A modern and commodious hospital is planned for Atlanta by the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, according to statements made Monday by Charles C. Wheeler, district deputy state councillor of the order.

Mr. Wheeler says that while the hospital is intended primarily for members of the order, it will also be open to all people of moderate circumstances. The name will be the Junior Order and Daughtres of America hospital.

Tentative plans, approved by the ways and means committee of the Atlanta council, will be laid before the district convention Monday. If approved by this body, final arrangements will be completed at the meeting of the state convention in August.

TECH HIGH TO HOLD REUNION BANQUET

An "All-Tech High dinner," in which present and former teachers and the present senior class, alumni and old students of Tech High will participate, will be held at Ruse & Cason's cafe, in the Kimball house, January 18. Covers will be laid for 300 diners.

Dinner will be served at $1 a plate. It is thought that Professor Siler and Professor Culver, both former principals, will attend.

The dinner will be in the nature of a reunion of the ten classes which have graduated, as each year's class will be seated at a table to itself. Reservations may be made at the Tech Y. M. C. A. or through Professor Sutton at Ivy 4877.

BANQUET IS HELD BY CHINESE CLASS

The Chinese class of the Young People's division of the Second Baptist church held an enjoyable banquet at the Sunday school rooms Sunday evening. A regular Georgia spread, with Chinese delicacies added, was presided over by Yuen Lee, a native Chinese member of the class.

The gathering was addressed by Dr. and Mrs. Marcus L. Taft, former missionaries to China, upon evangelical work in the Orient. Other interesting talks were made by Raymond Paty, T. Y. Young, and P. K. Chan. Chinese college students sang a hymn in their native language.

NEW Y. M. C. A. NIGHT CLASSES ARE OPENED

The city Y. M. C. A.'s new night school classes in salesmanship and public speaking were auspiciously launched Monday night at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. attended by many Atlanta business men, including those who have enrolled and others interested in the subjects.

The new classes will meet twice a week, the class in salesmanship under the instruction of Ralph Tracy, state agent for the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company, and the class in public speaking under the instruction of Robert H. Jones, well-known Atlanta lawyer.

A talk on "The Value of Salesmanship and Public Speaking to the Young Man of Today," was made at the meeting Monday night by George F. Eubanks, former president of the Kiwanis club.

To Introduce Bill to Revise Divorce Laws

Basing his proposed action on the recent recommendations of the Fulton county grand jury and the belief that there is an urgent need for improvement in Georgia divorce laws, Representative-elect Murphy M. Holloway, of Atlanta, announced Monday night that he will introduce in the next general assembly a bill to create a Fulton court of domestic relations and amendments devised to greatly strengthen the entire act already in effect.

After making a careful study of divorce laws as they exist today, Mr. Holloway stated he had reached the conclusion that the system's paramount need is a court such as he proposes to create. He emphasized, in discussing the act, the fact that his action and suggestions are not made in any spirit of reflection upon the court judges of Fulton county. Courts of domestic relations have already been established in many other states, he pointed out, and according to reliable information they are checking the divorce wave.

More than 850 divorces were granted in Fulton county in 1920, the representative-elect stated, and a large number of these was the result of unpremeditated action, in his opinion. Should ptitioners be compelled to file notice of intention to bring suit for divorce, Mr. Holloway believes that many such cases after being thrown in the court of domestic relations would be settled without permanent separation.

No Social Reform.

"In my opinion, no social reform will result in fixing marriage restrictions," he said. "Moral laws give rise to civil laws and each are equally earnest on the encouragement of marriage. I am loathe to believe that any evil results from lack of marriage restraint. I believe, however, that the large number of divorce suits, while not entirely out of proportion to other classes of litigation, evidence a domestic unrest that is by no means wholesome.

"This condition," he continued, "can not be charged entirely to defective divorce laws. Nevertheless, some beneficial corrections can be made. The great and fundamental trouble arises from the method of application. One of the outstanding defects of the divorce law that I would point out is inaccessibility in the sense that it does not take jurisdiction of a domestic controversy until a divorce or alimony petition has been filed. Certainly there should be some means, and especially in jurisdictions as large as Fulton county, to proffer the service of a count of competent jurisdiction to a home doomed to ultimate wreck and divorce proceedings without the intervention of harmonizing influence.

Made Careful Study.

"I have made a careful study of our divorce laws as they exist today, both from a standpoint of necessity and abuse, and I have reached the conclusion that the system's paramount need in this country is a court of domestic relations," he said. "Such a court should be officered by men who would be just as zealous in their efforts to restore harmony in the home and thereby prevent the filing of the petition as they would be in the disposition of the case after it had been filed.

"I believe, too, that this court should be sustained largely by the patrons rather than place the entire financial burden on the taxpayers, and that its jurisdiction should extend to all matters of divorce, alimony, the care and custody of children, juvenile probation and child desertion.

"I doubt if there is a county in the south that is blessed with more able judges than Fulton, and surely these suggestions are not made in a spirit of reflection on those good men," he continued. "However, it is my firm belief that a court of domestic relations if once established under proper jurisdiction and aided by a few minor corrections in the divorce law that one of our greatest social problems would be materially relieved," he stated.

Naval Balloonists Only Twenty Miles From Ontario Town

Mattice, Ont., January 10.—The three American naval balloonists who are "mushing" their way back to civilization from Moose Factory, Ont., where they found shelter after one of the most thrilling adventures in the annals of the American navy, will arrive here tomorrow afternoon. They are encamped tonight at Skunk Island, a day's journey from Mattice.

Information to this effect was received here late tonight from Earl Trowse, one of the guides sent out in advance by newspaper men awaiting their arrival. The three officers are reported to be in good physical condition.

ARREST STORY IS DENIED.

Ottawa, January 10.—Official denial was made here today of published stories that the Canadian mounted police would "arrest" the three American naval balloonists on their return to civilization, in a friendly action to obtain an explanation of why they technically violated international air regulations by landing in Canada without due formalities.

Commissioner Perry, of the mounted police, asserted Sergeant L. MacLaughlin was waiting for the airmen mushing down from Hudson Bay to deliver to them official documents from Washington. His forces had no intention of demanding any kind of explanation, he said.

Legion Opens Drive Thursday For Europe's Little Children

Declaring that the campaign of funds to save the 3,500,000 starving children of Europe is prompted by the same spirit of service which carried them overseas to the battle fields of Europe in 1917, Atlanta Legionnaires formed ten teams Monday night which will scour the city beginning on Thursday morning in a two-day drive for Atlanta's quota.

Members of the American Legion met at the chamber of commerce, where they were addressed by Eugene Black, chairman of the local campaign. Mr. Black told of the 11,000,000 war orphans of Europe and quoted Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of the A. R. C., as reporting that 3,500,000 children are absolutely dependent upon American aid if they are to survive the present winter.

The speaker made a most pathetic appeal for these babies and little ones who receive only one meal a day consisting of rice and cocoa. "Go to your homes and look at the rosy-cheeked baby there who gets three meals regularly and is still hungry," said the speaker. "Then think of these millions subsisting on one meal and being weighed each time to determine how little will keep them alive."

A telegram from A. L. Henson, state commander, heartily indorsing the participation of the legion in this movement was read.

Chairman Fonville McWhorter declared that every member who has the legion's welfare at heart will rally to its support at this time, insuring its success in this undertaking. He especially urges legionnaires who were not present last night to give their names to team captains, or to himself, instead of waiting to be approached.

It has been arranged with the majority of employers of legion members to give Thursday and Friday as campaign days in order that every minute may be devoted to the worthy enterprise.

All team captains and members will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the chamber of commerce to perfect the final organization. Thursday at noon the teams will be guests at a luncheon tendered by Chairman Black for the purpose of reporting progress and exchange of ideas on the canvass.

Dr. Morton Asks Atlantans To Help Serbian Students

The Atlanta Woman's club entertained at an elaborate luncheon at the clubhouse in Pearchtree street Monday at 1 o'clock in honor of Dr. Rosalie Slaughter Morton, Prince Alfonso Lousede Bourbon, Infante, and Gutzon Borglum, the noted sculptor, who is in Atlanta making arrangements for the Stone Mountain memorial.

Immediately following the luncheon automobiles conveyed the guests to St. Mark's Episcopal church, where the regular bi-monthly meeting of the club was held, instead of at the clubhouse as is customary, so that the many Atlantans who wished to hear these distinguished speakers might do so.

Mrs. Irving Thomas, president, after calling the meeting to order, introduced Dr. J. L. Campbell, of the College of American Surgeons. Dr. Campbell urged those present to go to hear the lecture on January 14 at 8:30 p. m. at Wesley Memorial church, where several of the most learned experts on cancer will speak.

After short talks by Prince Bourbon and Mr. Bourglum, Dr. Rosalie S. Morton was introduced.

Dr. Morton is the founder and chairman of the International Serbian Educational committee, and probably knows more about the Serbian people and what they have suffered than any woman in America today, since for four years she has been constantly among them as physician and friend. Her tales of the sufferings of the Serbian people were illustrated with slides showing that America and the world has only half guessed what agony of soul those poor people have gone through.

When the war broke out, Dr. Morton was a professor in the New York Post-Graduate Medical school and hospital and an attending surgeon at the Vanderbilt clinic of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the medical school of Columbia university.

She immediately obtained leave of absence and hastened to France. She served on the line of hospital ships sailing between Salonica and France for a while and later on the Salonica front.

For distinguished services rendered to the Serbian soldiers she was not only given a commission carrying the rank of sergeant-major, the highest rank given to an American woman during the war, but also decorated by the Serbian government as a chevalier of the Order of St. Sava.

Because she served in a French hospital for Serbian soldiers, Dr. Morton was officially authorized to wear the French doctor's military uniform. She has been made a commandee of the Order of St. Sava, has been decorated with the Order of St. John, the Medal of Mercy, the Medal of Charity and the Serbian Red Cross.

And now Dr. Morton, having brought fifty Serbian students to America and having found herself unable to supply the necessary money for their maintainence comes to Atlanta asking for help. It takes one hundred dollars a student per month for this work.

Mrs. Thomas appointed Mrs. R. M. Stripling chairman of the Serbian educational committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, who upon appealing to those present collected $422. Any one wishing to help in this cause is asked to send checks to Mrs. R. M. Stripling, care Atlanta Woman's club.

Dr. Morton will speak at Oglethorpe university at 10:30 Tuesday morning.

LAWYERS PREPARING TO FILE DAMAGE SUIT

That suit for $100,000 against A. J. Silvers, proprietor of a local 5 and 10 cents store, will be filed on behalf of Mrs. Caroline Cohen, of Fort McPherson, either Tuesday or Wednesday, was the statement Monday night by Assistant District Attorney W. Paul Carpenter, one of Mrs. Cohen's counsel.

Mrs. Cohen will allege that she was subjected to needless humiliation in the office of the 5 and 10 cent establishment, following her recent arrest by Private Detective Vic Young upon what she declares to be a false charge of shoplifting from the Silvers store. No suit for damages will be brought against the detective, Mr. Carpenter states.

The latest development in the case came Monday afternoon when Attorney Carpenter demanded that Silvers return the goods taken from Mrs. Cohen following her arrest. He states that the goods belonged to his client, and that she had them with her when she entered the store. The goods demanded have not yet been returned, according to Mr. Carpenter.

Mrs. Cohen lives with her daughter at the hostess house at Fort McPherson.

Among other instances of mistreatment Mrs. Cohen received at the hands of the police, according to her story, she was denied the use of a telephone to communicate with her friends.

COLLEGE MAY USE "INTELLIGENCE TESTS"

Substitution of "intelligence tests" for prevailing college entrance examinations for students from non-accredited high schools will be considered at the annual meeting of the Association of Georgia Colleges at the Piedmont hotel Friday and Saturday.

The convention program, which will include a dinner at 7 o'clock Friday night, will consist largely of addresses by educators of state-wide prominence. Officers for the coming year will be elected.

ODD FELLOWS' LODGE TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Newly-elected officers of Capital lodge No. 60, I. O. O. F., will be installed Tuesday evening for the coming year. The officers are F. H. Womack, noble grand; C. B. Wright, vice grand; O. R. Penn, recording secretary; J. A. Bradshaw, financial secretary; H. M. Patterson, treasurer. Recording Secretary Penn, before going to Philadelphia five years ago, held this office for thirteen consecutive years. Refreshments will be served at conclusion of the installation ceremonies.

ATLANTA BANKS WILL NAME 1921 OFFICERS

Four National Institutions Will Hold Meetings During the Day.

Few changes are anticipated in the rosters of the officials and the directors of Atlanta national banks as a result of the annual meetings of stockholders, which will be held today in conformity with the national banking laws. Annual reports will be read to the stockholders and directors will be elected, who in turn will elect the executive officers.

Stockholders of the Atlanta National bank will meet at 12:30 o'clock; of the Fulton National, at 12 o'clock; of the Fulton National, at 3 o'clock, and of the Fourth National, at 12 o'clock.

The Central Bank and Trust company also will hold its annual stockholders' meeting today. The annual meeting of the Georgia Savings Bank and Trustcompany will be held next September, and the Citizens and Southern bank holds its meeting in June.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Trust Company of Georgia had been called for Monday, but was postponed two weeks. Stockholders of the Atlanta Trust company will convene Wednesday.

Not Same Ed Jones.

Police Monday continued to comb the city in their efforts to find the slayer of Wallace Battle, negro, of 22 McGruder street, who was shot and killed Sunday morning. It was thought the negro was shot by another negro named Jones. Ed Jones, a negro who lives at 112 Pratt street, asked The Constitution Monday to state that he is not the Ed Jones sought by the police.

TO MAINTAIN AIR SERVICE SCHOOL AT GEORGIA TECH

Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of the Georgia School of Technology, is in receipt of the following letter from Major General P. C. Harris, adjutant general of the army:

"January 5, 1921.

"War Department, The Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C. January 5, 1921.

"Dr. K. G. Matheson, Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear Sir: This is to advise you that the application of the governing authorities of the Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, Ga., for the establishment and maintenance of an air service unit of the reserve officers' training corps has been approved by the secretary of war. Very respectfully,

(Signed) "P. G. HARRIS,
"The Adjutant General."

"Captain L. E. Goodler, Jr., U. S. army and of the air service, now on duty at 'Tech,' has been assigned as the officer in charge of the air service unit. Captain Goodler is a graduate of 'Tech' class of 1908. As a student he was most prominent in 'Tech' athletic activities.

"The authorization of the air service unit gives 'Tech' one of the five of these units to be established at educational institutions. There is only one other authorized for the south—this one at the Texas A. and M. college. The air service course will provide for the theoretical work and ground school instruction being conducted during the academic year, and the actual flying during the six weeks' summer camps.

W. B. SLOAN HEADS ELECTORAL COLLEGE

R. M. McCranie, of Telfair County, Elected Secretary at Meeting Monday.

After electing W. B. Sloan, of Gainesville, chairman and filling several vacancies, the Electoral College of Georgia in session at the capitol Monday cast the ballot of this state for James A. Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt for president and vice president of the United States, respectively.

Clayt. Robson, of Milledgeville and Atlanta, was elected by the college to fill the vacancy of the elector of the fifth district, A. M. Lucas being unable to attend. No such person as F. M. Curwood, elector of the fourth district, appeared to be in existence, and B. M. Blackburn, of Atlanta, was elected for the place. It is understood the name of Curwood was placed on the ballot by error.

R. M. McCranie, Telfair county, was elected secretary of the college, and M. A. Nevin, the young son of James B. Nevin, editor of The Georgian, was chosen as messenger to transmit the state's vote to Vice President Marshall.

The members of the college in addition to those named above for the vacancies are as follows:

From the state-at-large: Judge A. W. Cozart, Columbus, and W. B. Sloan, Gainesville.

Second district, C. D. Rich, Colquitt; third, G. C. Alston, Richland; fifth, R. R. Blackburn, Atlanta; sixth, A. M. Outlaw, Forsyth; seventh, Noel Steed, Chatsworth; eighth, T. M. Myers, Hartwell; ninth, Thomas A. Brown, Blue Ridge; tenth, George T. Wilson, Hartwell; eleventh, John M. Cox, Waycross; twelfth, Eugene Talmadge, McRae.

Club Will Discuss Atlanta Gas Rates And Sunday Movies

Sunday movies, gas rates and the proposed emergency tax will be topics Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the Edgewood Improvement club. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at the residence of R. W. Flournoy, at 52 Arizona avenue.

The Edgewood Improvement club is one of the livest community organizations in the city. The club recently gave voice to opposition to the proposal to include movie pictures in the free Sunday afternoon entertainment programs at the city Auditorium during the month of January.

MAGNATES OF MINORS PREPARE FOR FIGHT ON GAMBLING DANGER

Chicago, January 10.—The National Association of Minor leagues at its meeting adopted several amendments to its constitution, including one designed to stamp out gambling and game throwing and another creating a board of control to supervise post-season interleague games.

The meeting was a continuation of the one held some time ago in Kansas City, but the work of revising the constitution was not finished today and will be the first business when the club owners and league presidents reconvene tomorrow for another meeting.

No action was taken concerning the proposal to join with the major leagues in signing a new national agreement, that matter being left until the minor league drafting committee meets with the majors' committee tomorrow.

Blow at Gamblers.

The president of the association was given the responsibility of seeing that baseball in the minor leagues is kept free from the influence of gamblers. An amendment to the constitution which was adopted directed him to take any steps advisable to investigate gambling.

"The president is authorized and directed to maintain a strict supervision over all clubs to prevent open betting or pool selling upon the grounds or in any building owned or controlled by it, and to investigate any rumors charging any player with offering, agreeing, conspiring or attempting to lose any game of ball or of betting upon any game of ball or being interested in any pool or wager thereon," the amendment said.

"The president also is directed to take cognizance and investigate any connection of the gambling evil in any respect in connection with the game of baseball and to recommend to the proper authorities ways and means for the suppression of the same where the suppression comes under the jurisdiction of the local state or federal authorities."

Board for Series.

The board, which will control the little world series between the minor leagues after the regular season will be composed of three men, with the president of the association as chairman.

The association also authorized its president to negotiate with heads of industrial and independent leagues with a view of entering signed agreements with them which would protect the organized clubs in the ownership of players.

Virtually all fines for players and clubs for violating rules were increased and the minor leaguers tomorrow will vote on a proposal to change the salary limits of various leagues.

Memphis, Tenn., January 10.—The annual spring meeting of the Southern association will be held in Chicago tomorrow instead of at Little Rock, Ark., next Thursday as originally planned, according to a telegram received at Southern association headquarters here today from Chicago, where the directors of the association are attending in a body the meeting in that city of the National Association of Minor League Clubs.

GREAT GAMES ARE SLATED FOR BULLDOG

Athens, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—The complete and official 1921 football schedule of the University of Georgia as announced by Professor S. V. Sanford, faculty director of athletics, is as follows:

October 1—Mercer, in Athens.
October 8—Furman, place undecided.
October 15—Harvard, in Cambridge.
October 22—Oglethorpe, in Athens.
October 29—Auburn, in Columbus.
November 5—Virginia, in Athens.
November 12—Vanderbilt in Nashville.
November 19—Alabama, in Atlanta.
November 24—Clemson, in Athens.
November 26—Dartmouth, in Atlanta.

The above schedule comprises ten games and is by far the most difficult schedule ever atempted by a Georgia football team. The game with Dartmouth was a complete surprise to southern bootball followers. This game played as a post season struggle in Atlanta should have proven one of the greatest drawing cards of the year. Professor Sanford and Coach Stegerman arranged this game while attending the annual meeting of the principal colleges in the United States held during the Christmas holidays at Chicago.

This is the first time that the football eleven of Dartmouth has crossed the Mason and Dixon line, and the game with Georgia arranged for next year is a fitting tribute to the Red and Black warriors of 1920.

Georgia, as is well known, was forced to decline a game with "Pop" Warner's Pittsburg Panthers due to the fact that a game with Virginia had already been arranged on the date offered by Pittsburg. The schedule for 1921 will necessitate an early start.

Bolivia has built a road for automobiles that crosses the Andes Mountains 17,000 feet above sea level.

Peace Dove Reigns Over The Majors

Chicago, January 10.—Committees chosen by the two major baseball leagues to draw up a new national agreement today officially voted their approval of the agreement formulated in New York recently which provided for reorganization of the game with Federal Judge K. M. Landis as baseball commissioner. The action of the committee put at rest rumors that the American league was not satisfied with the agreement and that consequently a new fight might break out between the major organizations.

The agreement will be formally acted on by the two leagues, probably tomorrow, but this action is looked upon by baseball men as a mere formality, the National league already having signed the agreement and President Byron Bancroft Johnson, of the American league, having officially announced that the agreement met with the approval of the club owners in his circuit.

Prospects of the minor leagues joining with the majors appeared bright tonight, although no action on the agreement was taken at their meeting today. The minor league drafting committee will meet with the two major league committees tomorrow morning when it is believed that all differences of opinion concerning the rules under which the game should be governed will be settled.

The minor league drafting committee, which will meet with the majors tomorrow, will be composed of George Maines, president of the Michigan-Ontario league, representing Class B leagues; President Walsh, of the South Atlantic league, representing Class C; President Rose, of the Florida State league, representing Class C; President Martin, of the Southern league, representing Class A, and President Hickey, of the American association, representing Class AA. President M. H. Sexton, of the National Association of Minor Leagues, and Secretary Farrell will act as ex-officio members.

Amateur Basketeers Again Busy

City League.

Federal Prison vs. United States Tire Company.
Agogas vs. Southern Dental College.
Grace Methodist vs. Pack's Stars.

Wilson League.

Tech High vs. Grant Park A. A.
University High vs. Hapeville.
Grace Methodist vs. Central Night.

BY J. C. FIFE, JR.

The second round of the two boys' amateur league will be played tonight at the Auditorium. Last week the games were well attended and fine games were dished out to the fans. The games this week are slated to be even better, and there is no reason why the Auditorium should not be packed. Admission may be obtained at the rate of 25 cents for women and children, and 50 cents for men.

The City league games are expected to be the best games, for among the teams in this organization are found some of the best quintets in the city. The Agogas and the Southern Dental College will meet in what should be one of the features of the evening. Both of these institutions have fast teams, and when they meet the well-known fur is sure to fly. The dope at present points to one of the closest games, and both teams have a fine chance of grabbing away the game.

The next game in the City league is between Federal Prison and United States Tire Company. The Tire Company team won their game last week by 1 point, and they have put in a hard week's practice to be in the best condition possible for the game tonight. On the Tire quintet are found some of the best basketeers in the city, and they should be well up in the running for the City league championship. The Federal Prison quintet made a late start this year in the cage game, and they dropped the first game of the year last week. However, they are confident they will give the Tire five a run for their money.

The last game of the night in the City league brings together Grace Methodist and Pack's Stars. Of the two teams, Pack's Stars appears to be the strongest on paper. This team is made up of many of the old Prep league stars, and they have rounded into one of the strongest quintets in the city. Grace Methodist is not any weak sister by any means, for they have a team that would cause the best considerable worry.

Tech High tackles Grant Park Athletic Association in the feature game of the Wilson league. Both quintets are strong, and they are both flashy and fast. The Tech High team is being coached by C. T. Tolbert, and when he gets hold of a basketball team, he surely makes them step around. The G. P. A. A. five has a fine team, and although they dropped the firts game of the year, they should not be counted out of the running by no means.

University High meets Hapeville in the second encounter in the Wilson league. It would be a hard matter to dope out the possible winner of this game as both are unusually strong. The final game of the evening will be between Grace Methodist, second team, and the Central Night School.

GEORGE BEBAN TO COME TO ATLANTA NEXT WEEK

J. Victor Wilson, personal representative of George Beban, the celebrated actor, arrived in Atlanta yesterday to make arrangements for the coming here next week of the star.

Mr. Beban is coming to Atlanta to appear in person at the Howard theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when the feature picture of the Howard program will be his latest production, "Pete," written, directed and acted by himself.

At the de luxe performance at the Howard at 3, 7 and 9 o'clock, Mr. Beban will perform his famous sketch, known the world over, "The Sign of the Rose."

George Beban has not been to Atlanta in years, yet every theatergoer knows "The Sign of the Rose." He appeared in it at the Atlanta theater when that playhouse first opened.

Mr. Wilson states that Atlanta is one of the few stops Mr. Beban will make on a transcontinental trip from New York to the Pacific coast.

Minors Need Real Protection

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF

Draft Price Must Be Raised

There now seems little doubt but that the minor leagues will accept the new national agreement—not particularly because there is anything of any great benefit to them in this agreement, but because the minor league magnates have the utmost confidence in the wisdom and probity of Judge Landis and believe that he will see to a square deal for them, regardless of the agreement.

Up to the present time the year's association of the minors with the major league organizations have meant absolutely nothing to the little fellows with the single exception that they were permitted to be plundered with the full and complete sanction of baseball law.

The draft clause, originally drawn to protect the little fellows, has had just exactly an opposite effect. Major managers soon after the adoption of the old agreement, recognized the potentialities of the draft as a method for highbindery. The draft price was low and the big fellows readily understood that if a player, however little real major ability he possessed, should be given the big league trade-mark by being drafter, a ready sale could be had for him among the gullible minors.

It often happened that a player of no great ability was drafted from one club in a league, was never permitted to report to the major club, and then sold back to another club in the same league from which he was drafted for about twice the draft price.

I recall one particular instance. When old John McCloskey was handling the destinies of the wretched St. Louis Cardinals, he had a contract which called for a personal royalty for him on all the ball players he sold.

Old John knew that his days with the Cardinals were numbered, but at the close of the season he drafted minor leaguers by the wholesale and then began selling them immediately at strictly retail prices.

Among the players he drafted was a big fellow named Murdoch, who had been kicked all over the Southern league and who had made good nowhere. Murdoch looked ferocious enough as he stood at the plate, but he was harmless as a hitter and so ponderous that he was impossible as an outfielder.

McCloskey knew all this—but still he drafted him, press agented him as a minor league find and then sold him to another minor league for a handsome price, most of which found its way back into the ample pockets of Mister McCloskey.

The draft could be made very useful to both majors and minors, but to gain this usefulness the price will have to be raised to a point where a big league mogul will think a long time before he puts out his money. Then we'll see a lot less drafting and a lot more money at the end of each season in the possession of the various minor league club owners.

First Southern College Takes Up Boxing.

News items from the University of Alabama bring the tidings that this institution of erudition has put boxing among its authorized sports and that it is rivaling basketball in winter popularity.

It wouldn't be surprising to see other southern colleges follow suit and in a few years a crop of pugilists developed that don't have to make a cross mark when signing articles of agreement.

A few decades ago, the college man in professional baseball was practically unknown, and I believe that Alabama set the pace in providing the first collegian major leaguer. He was Wilson Matthews, who, after his major career, became a Sally league and Texas league manager, a Southern league umpire and then a newspaper reporter.

Then Tech sent up Weldon Henley, Ed LaFitte, Tommy McMillan and Erskine Mayer. Alabama was not far behind with Derrill Pratt, Joe Sewell and Lena Stiles, while it is understood that Riggs Stevenson, of football fame, goes to Cleveland next season.

Auburn has sent along Carlisle Smith and Ivy Griffin.

Other southern colleges have contributed their quotas.

So it will not be surprising, if boxing really takes hold in the colleges to see a few former rah rahs in harness with tin noses and cauliflower ears. Stranger things have happened.

Atlanta to Give Dartmouth Welcome.

Georgia's bringing the Dartmouth team down to Atlanta for a late November date assures the city of decidedly its biggest and most brilliant football season

The big Green team has been admired in the south for years, particularly because it gave to southern football Walter Elcock, who has done as much as any one man in this section to dignify the gridiron game. There is a fairly large representation of Dartmouth alumni in Atlanta and last season it made itself heard whenever Elcock trotted out his Oglethorpe Petrels.

The addition of Dartmouth to the Red and Black schedule shows conclusively that Georgia is not without ambition. It couldn't have picked two more finished eastern elevens than Harvard and Dartmouth, while its southern schedule, which includes Clemson, Auburn, Alabama, Virginia and Vanderbilt, is about as strenuous as any Dixie college ever attempted.

CHARGES ARE DENIED OF CUBAN COERCION

kay, head of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, another witness, told the committee that English secret service authorities were obtaining copies of all cable messages.

Mr. Carlton several times expressed reluctance to discuss the subject of English surveillance because "it would make trouble," but at last yielded.

"Ten days after messages have been transmitted," Mr. Carlton explained, "our copies of them are turned over to the British secret service, which keeps them for a few hours, and then returns them. No exception is made, and the American official dispatches, like the dispatches to all other countries to and from England, are included, but I have reason to believe that the examination is made of them. I have been assured that the official messages are not even inspected, but they are in the physical possession of the authorities while other messages are being inspected."

The ordrs for the surveillance were issued, Mr. Carlton explained, because of disturbed conditions in Great Britain and Europe. He indicated that other European countries took more complete control over American cable messages passing through their territory than did England.

Heated Argument.

Mr. Davis and President Carlton argued with considerable heat over the state department's opposition to the Western Union's attempted connection with the British cable system in Brazil via the Barbados cable. Mr. Carlton declared the state department had "made threats to the Cuban government to prevent the connection going through that island and that President Menocal now had before him the question of revoking a license already granted for landing of the Barbados cable in Cuba.

"The state department has done nothing of the kind," Mr. Davis said, and President Carlton promptly broke in to characterize this statement as "diplomacy."

The Western Union head insisted that "American officials" had made representations to the Cuban government and Mr. Davis replied that no one but the state department had authority to take such a step.

Cited as Instance.

President Carlton asserted "as instancing the animus of the state department in persecuting an American corporation," that a shipment of cable to his company through a Cuban subsidiary of the Bell Telephone system, had been stopped by the American government.

Secretary Davis also denied this assertion.

"I can still catch that ship," Mr. Carlton interjected. "Do I understand that you will do nothing prejudicial to the telephone company if they bring on the cable?"

Mr. Davis said nothing would be done, "if the Western Union lays no cable surreptitiously in American waters." Mr. Carlton announced he would "get on the wires and catch that ship."

Definite Denial.

Secretary Davis made more definite his denial that the Cuban government had been asked to stop the landing of the Barbados cable.

"Can I tell the Cuban government that?" Mr. Carlton asked.

"Tell them anything you please," the secretary replied. "I've been approached by certain people, suggesting that since the Western Union is making such a dirty fight over this cable," Mr. Davis added, "it would be an easy thing to get the Cuban government to block it. I've replied that the United States ought not to be in the position of going before a foreign government asking action against an American corporation."

Mr. Carlton announced that "some officials of the United States are doing it," and an agreement was made to get evidence later.

Return to their former use of the cables between the United States and Germany seized by the allies during the war was urged by Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company. Mr. Mackay said that while Great Britain and France might have had the right to seize sections of the cables between Germany and the Azores, a Portuguese possession, there was no right for the seizure of the sections between the Azores and the United States, as both the United States and Portugal then were neutral.

Frederick Roy Martin, acting general manager of the Associated Press, told the committee that any increase of communication facilities aided the dissemination of American news.

"The Associated Press is furnishing its news reports to Porto Rico, Hawaii, Alaska and Mexico," he said, "and has gone very extensively into South America. Our reports on the Pacific are sent by radio, and incidentally, copied for free distribution to Japan and China. This is an unprofitable field and we are keeping it up for patriotic motives to maintain the connection between the United States and its possessions."

Desire News.

South American readers, Mr. Martin said, desired news from the United States and the only difficulty in the service was in the lack of cable facilities. Senator Kellogg asked if the government could assist news distribution.

"Only by facilitating private interests in extending cable facilities," Mr. Martin replied. "The Associated Press does not want any government subsidy. We should like to see direct cables to Italy and the Scandinavian countries.

"We have had our troubles with government censorship during the last few years. I will say for our English friends that their censorship is no narrower than our own. Only last Saturday we found that the navy department was censoring a dispatch from San Francisco.

"It has been a keen disappointment to us to find that American cables to South America could not give us sufficient facilities, and we have been forced to contract with the English Western company, at London, to carry a million words a year to our South American papers."

George T. Hargreaves, representing the Universal News Service, said lack of facilities limited press service, and also told of difficulties encountered in reaching South America.

Mother Regains Child Kidnaped By Young Father

Knoxville, Tenn., January 10.—A search for an Atlanta girl aged 2½ years, who, it was alleged, had been kidnaped by her father, R. M. Baldwin, and taken from the Georgia city to Philadelphia and other cities north, terminated near Knoxville Sunday night at a late hour and resulted in the girl being restored to her mother today, according to county officers.

LITTLE GIRL KIDNAPED ABOUT SIX WEEKS AGO.

The little girl was kidnaped by the father about six weeks ago, according to members of the Baldwin family, following differences between the parents, that culminated in a separation, and a court hearing at which the mother was awarded the custody of the child, and the father was given the right to have her one Sunday of each month.

It is claimed by the Baldwins that the mother made it very difficult for her husband to get the child even on these occasions and this is given as one cause for the kidnaping.

Mr. Baldwin's father, who lives at 402 Pulliam street says that when he found his son had taken the girl to Philadelphia he wrote him to bring her back and that this was the reason the mother was able to recover possession of her daughter in Knoxville. All they want, say the Baldwins, is for the little girl to be in Atlanta where they will be able to keep a watch over her.

Preps To Begin 1921 Race Today

BY J. C. FIFE, JR.

The 1921 Boys' Prep league basketball season will open this afternoon with three feature games billed. Tech High will tackle Boys High on the Auditorium court on the second floor, in what should be the best battle of the afternoon. Joe Bean's Marist quintet is scheduled to meet the title-holding G. M. A. five on their new court. The other game of the day will bring together the quintets of Fulton High and Commercial High, on the Fulton court. All of these games will start promptly at 3 o'clock, and the following are the officials assigned: Tech High-Boys' High, Frank Anderson; Marist-G. M. A., Bill Fincher, and Fulton High-Commerical High, Mr. Methenney. University High will be off on the first day of the season.

There is no doubt but a large crowd will turn out for the annual Tech High-Boys' High game. This is always one of the best games of the season, and in years past it went a long way in deciding the championship. Both teams are usually right at the top of their game when they meet, and hair-raising games are usualy dished out. Last year's Boys' High won both encounters. This year, however, Tech High is doped to win the first battle of the year, as they have four veterans on the team, while Boys' High has its 1920 sub team, with only one exception

Tech Hi's Line-Up.

Tech High will start the game with Leonard Mumford and Nolan Richardson, at forwards; Flexible Williams, at center, and Green Warren and Dick DiChristina, guards. This makes up one of the best quintets that has represented the Junior Smithies in some years, and they should be one of the leading contenders for the '21 pennant. Jackson, Stevens and M. Smith are expected to start the Tech High game at the offensive end of the Purple and White machine. Meacham seems to be the most likely candidate for the pivot-off position, with Slate and Carlisle doing the guarding.

The second feature of the afternoon draws Burbage's G. M. A. five and Marist together. This battle should be as good a game as the big game of the afternoon between Tech High and Boys' High. Both of the rival quintets are in fine shape—they are in tip-top shape. Froggy Miers and Anderson are slated to start the game at forwards for the College Park quintet. The center position will be between King and Carlisle, while the guarding work will rest in the hands of Carter and either Whipple or Robinson.

Real Team at Marist.

Joe Bean has developed a wonderful team at Marist this year, and they are sure to set the woods afire. Johnny Bradley is the only veteran on the 1921 Marist team, but they have two subs, Keeling and Healey, back in the game. The Marist team will start the game lined up as follows: Healey and Dorch, forwards; Holland, center; Bradley and Keeling, guards.

The last game of the afternoon brings the lads of Fulton High and Commercial High together on the Fulton court, in the rear of the courthouse. This game should be a fine contest, with the dope favoring the Fultonites. The county boys have one of the best teams they have had since the old days, when Welbourne Venable and Trav Stevenson were in school. They have played quite a few practice games this year, and they have easily won all of them. Mims and Stevenson are slated to start the game at forwards for the county boys, with Cantgin Mootv at center and Miller and Nicherson guards.

BIG ARTS EXHIBIT WILL BE FEATURE OF AD CONVENTION

The Graphic Arts exhibit of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to be shown the convention in Atlanta June 12 to 16, promises to be the most remarkable of its kind ever made.

In a letter just received from Charles Henry Mackintosh, chairman of the exhibit committee, to Vice President Frank E. Lowenstein, he states that he has already received advanced reservations from departments of the national advertising commissions, largely in excess of the space used by them at the last convention in Indianapolis.

The Association of Employing Lithographers say they will require twice the space they had last year. The chairman of the financial advertising department states that their department will positively exceed the display in Indianapolis. The latter was not only the largest departmental exhibit at the convention in Indianapolis, but the largest departmental exhibit ever brought together at any meeting of the associated clubs.

The active co-operation of the department of commerce and the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce has been secured in connection with foreign exhibits.

Twenty-four of the commercial attaches of the American embassies in foreign lands are assisting the associated clubs in gathering effective advertising for this wonderful exhibit.

BORGLUM CONFIDENT BOXING ASSOCIATION WILL UPLIFT SPORT

Cohesion between state governments that have legalized boxing is absolutely essential for the future welfare of the sport in America, according to Gutzon Borglum, eminent sculptor now in Atlanta, who heads the board organized to bring this result about.

It is with this end in view that various states have sent their representatives to the meeting in New York this week and Mr. Borglum believes that when the work of this meeting is completed much will have been accomplished toward bringing pugilism to the highest plane it has ever reached in America.

"The greatest trouble with boxing in America," said Mr. Borglum, "is that there has never been any serious attempt at co-operation between those who regulate the sport in the various states or localities.

For instance, a fighter, a manager, a promoter, or a referee, might be blacklisted by the boxing commission of New York and still there would be no way to interfere with their activities in the neighboring state of Pennsylvania. They could be prohibited from entering a contest by the authorities in New Jersey, but there would be nothing to prevent their activities if they chose to cross the river by ferry and land in New York.

"Then, again, you'll find the same divergence in weights and weighing conditions between the several states. Some of the states permit decisions. Others oppose them, and so on right down the line.

"This meeting in New York was called by me. I asked governors of every state where boxing is legal to send representatives of the highest type to work out a plan that would be beneficial and healthful to the game throughout the land. I anticipate that the meeting will resolve itself into a national boxing association that will govern pugilism in its every phase as the national baseball commission governs baseball.

"Of course, this will largely depend on the attitude of the several boxing commissions to the proposed organization. However, the men on the boxing commissions are as eager and anxious as any one to see boxing benefited and I feel quite sure that whatever action is taken, it will have the heartiest sort of co-operation in every state."

PRODUCE MEN TO HOLD BANQUET THIS EVENING

Wholesale fruit and produce men and their employees will hold a banquet at 7 o'clock this evening at the Peacock cafe, with D. N. McCollough presiding as toastmaster. Covers will be laid for 125 members of the produce trade.

Furtherance of friendly relations and good fellowship is the object of this banquet. Talks will be made and there will be entertainment features, and music by Bateman's orchestra.

CENTER PARTIES GAIN IN FRENCH ELECTIONS

Paris, January 10.—Complete returns from Sunday's elections to the French senate show gains for the center, or moderate parties, both the extreme right and the left losing seats. The results for the 98 seats contested were as follows:

Conservatives 3, republicans 39, radicals and radical-socialists 43, republican-socialists 11.

The returns from two districts, those from the Reunion and Guadeloupe islands have not yet been received.

The unified socialist party and the communist party failed to elect a single candidate.

MOTHERS, DO THIS—

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt, sure relief. It does not blister.

As first aid and a certain remedy, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar in the house, ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

35c and 65c jars; hospital size $3.00

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

It's Mercury! Attacks the Bones, Salivates and Makes You Sick.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and cannot salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you. —(adv.)

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble—Salts fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—(adv.)

Pull Big Raid in Oils

New York, January 10.—Using the early announcement of a cut of 25 cents a barrel in the price of eastern crude oil, following the cut of 35 cents a barrel announced Saturday at Pittsburg, professional traders raided the stock market at the opening this morning by pounding the oil shares. Losses running to three points or more occurred during the first hour in these shares, with the industrials and rails off from a small fraction to 1½. By noon, however, some stocks had made up half of the early losses, while others higher than Saturday's closing. In the last two hours there was a stampede of the bears, prices advancing from 1 to 20 point.

American International, which is sometimes classed as a shipping stock and next included in the oil list, closed at 43, dropped to 42½ and then was up to 46 by noon. This stock was very active on talk of accumulation by insiders on the break from last year's high price of 120½ to the low of 38½ made this month.

Crucible was another very active stock. Crucible, which sold at 73 a week ago today, shot up from 85¼ to 97½ when it was learned that traders who were short were paying a premium of $50 for 100 shares for the mere privilege of borrowing it over night. This and a drop to 6 per cent in the rate on call money was what frightened the bears.

Today's most interesting news development was the announcement at noon of the unfilled orders by the United States Steel corporation of December 31. Wall street, which has been very barish on the stock, was predicting a shrinkage of more than a milllon tons. The figures were 8,148,122, showing a loss of 873,359, or about the same loss reported a month ago, when 9,021,418 was reported for the close of November. At the close of October the figures were 9,836,852. There has been a steady loss since 11,183,083 was reported at the close of last July. The figures of last July showed a steady monthly gain from the low level of 4,282,310 reported in May of 1919, that is, after the armistice was signed and before business began to pick up. The high wartime level was 12,183,083 tons at the close of April of 1917.

Street Is Amused.

Wall street appeared to be amused at today's news that the Middle States Oil company was going to sell 250,000 shares of its stock at $11 a share. The par value is $10. Only two weeks ago the shareholders, which have recently received many stock dividends, were asked to vote on whether they were to receive another stock dividend or an increased cash dividend. They voted for the increased cash dividend. Under these conditions the sale of new stock for cash to raise needed working capital is, to express it mildly, queer financing, not exactly suitable to these times.

First, there was a decline in the call rate for money to 6 per cent. Then there was a drop in the rate on 90-day loans to 7 per cent. That rate has been 8 and higher. Next there will be a drop in the rate on commercial paper.

In the mercantile world, as in stocks, there is now a two-sided market. One silk manufacturer told your correspondent that a week ago he was as blue as indigo; that when he came down to business this morning he would have greeted with delight an order for $2,000, but that he had really received one for $40,000. Cotton goods mills are very busy taking care of the orders just booked at lower prices. In many lines of trade where wages have been reduced and prices cut there was a distinctly better feeling at the opening of the week.

President Wood, of American Wool, announced today that wages of 54,000 employees would be cut 22½ per cent on January 17. This was considered a favorable argument for the stock, and it advanced 5 points from the early low.

James B. Forgan, the Chicago banker, was quoted here today as saying: "It is a delusion to expect any distinct easing in money rates soon. Business men must first largely reduce their loans at banks, and the banks must largely reduce their borrowings at the federal reserve bank." No one questions that; nor is there any doubt but that many are only waiting for more favorable conditions to borrow money. Today Secretary Houston announces two new treasury certificate offerings aggregating $250,000,000, one issue bearing 5½ per cent interest to mature April 15; another falling due October 15 to carry 5¾ per cent. Besides the demands of the government and private business, foreign countries are now negotiating here for loans, including Canada, France, Switzerland, Belgium, Cuba, several South American countries and China.

Reserve Banks.

Nevertheless, despite the views of Mr. Forgan and these overhanging demands, the federal reserve system's ratio of reserves for a year or more have been and will continue to be the best barometer of business conditions. The low level for all time was reached on May 14, 1920, at 42.2, and as late as October 15 the figures were still down to 42.7. Last week there was a gain of a full point to 46.4, against 45.4 a week ago, and 45.3 at this time last year, or the most favorable position reported by the twelve banks as a whole since December 19, 1919. Here is the showing made by individual banks:

	This week.	Last week.	Year ago.
Boston	59.6	58.3	45.7
New York	39.0	40.0	38.6
Philadelphia	58.2	54.2	40.1
Cleveland	59.4	59.1	49.6
Richmond	46.2	45.4	43.1
Atlanta	41.4	40.7	53.7
Chicago	43.6	40.4	40.2
St. Louis	48.2	44.5	53.5
Minneapolis	39.2	39.8	48.7
Kansas City	41.6	41.4	42.3
San Francisco	49.1	49.3	48.1

There is no question but that a climax is being reached in the matter of liquidating railroad labor. In his petition to the interstate commerce commission charging the railroads, J. P. Morgan & Co. and the United States Steel corporation with conspiring to farm out railway equipment repair work to get around the protection of the new transportation law and thus break up the unions, W. J. Lauck, representing the machinists' organization, is not likely to get much sympathy from the public, which is paying the bills for the soldiering work now done by railway shopmen on an hour basis instead of the old basis.

Everybody wants to see justice done to railroad workers, but this class, like others seeking special protection at the hand of the government, must be made to understand that the war is over, and that it is time for everybody to get back to brass tacks. Apparently that is what is going to happen to railway labor. One fairly large railroad has just notified its employees of a reduction in wages, effective February 1, that will cut in half the advances in pay received since December 31, 1917. Another small road cut its wages on January 1. Undoubtedly these reductions will be brought to the attention of the labor board created under the transportation law. Wall street has been laboring under the false impression that railway wages cannot be reduced. It will find that rail labor, like all other labor, must respond to changed economic conditions.

IRREGULAR CLOSE IN STOCK MARKET

Exchange Has Hesitant Opening, Develops Heaviness Before Noon and Becomes Irregular at Active Close.

New York, January 10.—The successive stages of today's stock market were characterized by a hesitant opening, general heaviness before noon, spectacular recoveries in several of the speculative issues during the intermediate period and irregular strength at the active close.

Attendant features includd a vigorous advance in foreign exchange, notably the British rate, decline of call loans to 6 per cent, the lowest figure in three weeks, and the December report of the United States Steel corporation, disclosing another severe decrease in unfilled tonnage.

Strength of foreign remittances, some of which rose to highest quotations in almost half a year, was based in part on reports that the British treasury has in contemplation a plan for refunding its extensive obligations in this country.

Relaxation of demand money, which failed to extend to time funds, seemed to be little more than a belated recognition that the supply of such accommodations is vastly in excess of present requirements.

The drop of about 875,000 tons in United States Steel tonnage is the largest reported in any month since the setback which began last August, and reduces the corporation's bookings to the smallest total in more than a year.

Oils, steels, equipments and motors and shippings, as typified by Mexican Petroleum, Houston Oil, Crucible, Baldwin, Pressed Steel Car, Studebaker and Atlantic Gulf were the paramount issues of the final hour.

Early losses of 2 to 6 points gave way to gains of substantial proportions in most instances, and full recoveries elsewhere. Sales amounted to 1,135,000 shares.

There was only a moderate market for bonds, including the Liberty division, and the general trend was most often indefinite, an irregular tone ruling at the close. Total sales, par value, aggregated $14,850,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

PRICES STRONGER ON WHEAT MARKET

Opening Is Weak, But Export Demand Causes Rise—Corn Closes 1-8 to 1-2 Cent Down—Receipts Very Heavy.

Chicago, January 10.—Indications of export demand gave an upward swing to wheat prices today after a decline at the start. Closing quotations were strong at 1 3-4 to 3 3-4c higher, with March $1.77 to $1.77 1-2 and May $1.68 1-4. Corn finished 1-8 to 1-2c down; oats unchanged to 1-8c advance, and provisions at a setback of 15 to 45c.

Active buying on the part of houses with seaboard connections accompanied the ascent of values in the wheat market and an unusual rise in sterling exchange was also regarded as significant. Besides there were famine reports from India and news of agrarian disturbances there together with shrinkage in estimates of the Argentina exportable surplus. A further stimulus for the advance was word that committee hearings on the emergency tariff would be ended tomorrow and that the bill would shortly be returned to the senate. On the advance, March delivery touched the highest figures since November. Earlier weakness was ascribed to reports from the southwest telling of fairly liberal country offerings and the market became very firm has been a traditional favorite date for calendar speculators to press the selling side. Heavy receipts of corn acted as a weight on prices in the corn market and on oats as well. Provisions were lower in line with hogs.

Coffee.

New York, January 10.—The market for coffee futures showed increasing activity and firmness today. Higher foreign exchange rates were accompanied by reports of a European demand, while there were also reports of a more active business in the spot market and cost and freight coffees. The opening was irregular at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 6 points, and there was some trade selling presumably against purchases in Brazil. These offerings were soon absorbed, however, with active months selling 17 to 20 points net higher in the late trading, with May touching 7.15, or 55 points above the recent low record. That delivery closed at 7.14, with the general market showing a net advance of 15 to 19 points. January, 6.22; March, 6.74; May, 7.14; July, 7.54; September, 7.85; October, 7.98; December, 8.19. White Potatoes.

Chicago, January 10.—Potatoes weak; northern white sacked, $1.20@1.35 cwt.; bulk, $1.40@1.45 cwt.

Sugar.

New York, January 10.—There was no change in the local raw sugar market today and prices were quoted at 4¼c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 5.52c for centrifugal. There were no sales reported, although it was believed that sugar was obtainable at the quoted prices, for late January shipment.

In refined there is a fair inquiry noted and prices are unchanged at 7.75 to 7.90c for fine granulated.

Sugar futures were firmer and closing prices were 6 to 15 points net higher on covering and buying by trade interests, although trading was light. Closing bids: January, 4.70; March, 4.69; May, 4.81; July, 4.94, all bid.

Are You an Employer?

The Georgia Workmen's Compensation Act, affecting all employers of ten or more employees, goes into effect March 1, 1921

THOSE same characteristics which have enabled you to become an employer of ten or more employees will lead you to insure your Workmen's Compensation Liability in a company whose standing and reputation has never been questioned.

Such a company is the London Guarantee and Accident Company, which we represent as General Agents. This company is one of the oldest and strongest companies writing this form of insurance, and is known throughout the world as the "Super-Service Company."

Those same characteristics will lead you to insure through an agency from whom you can always expect the highest type service.

From the beginning your insurance will have the personal supervision of experts. Your particular problems will be carefully studied and the protection will be fitted to your individual requirements.

Our Engineering and Inspection Department will make a thorough survey of plants and factories. Through its recommendations you will not only secure the minimum rate, but will obtain safer working conditions for your employees, and therefore, fewer accidents will occur.

Full and immediate attention will be given claims by our own efficient claim department, which will promptly settle all claims at this office.

A postcard or phone call will bring one of our representatives who will gladly explain the provisions of the law and how it will affect you.

New York, January 10.—There was a continuation of last week's buying movement in the cotton market today and all positions made new high ground for the movement. The feature was the relative strength of January, which sold up to 17.75 or 115 points above the closing quotations of last week. It closed at 17.65, with the general market closing barely steady at a net advance of 61 to 105 points. After opening steady at an advance of 3 to 15 points the market eased off under southern selling, realizing and scattered selling for a reduction. January declined to 16.50, March to 15.43 and May to 15.42, or about 4 to 10 points net lower.

There was good buying by trade and commission houses on this decline, however, while the southern selling tapered off as soon as the early offerings had been absorbed an dto the circumstance that this during the middle of the day. Stop orders were uncovered as prices worked above the best point of Saturday, and the strength of January helped the advance in later deliveries. March sold up to 16.25 and May 16.27, making net advances of 61 to 78 points on March and later deliveries, and last prices were within a few points of the best. There were reports that nine or ten thousand bales more will be brought here from the south for delivery on January before the end of the month, but the short interest was evidently anxious to cover and found very few contracts offering, although they bid the price 150 points above March. The census report showing 11,559,230 bales ginned to the beginning of January was about in line with expectations and was not considered an immediate market factor.

The strength of sterling exchange was accompanied by rumors of an increased export inquiry and there were reports that the increasing activity of domestic mills was accompanied by an increase of demand for domestic consumption. Exports for the day, 494 bales, making 2,543,022 this season, Port receipts 17,212. United States port stocks 1,449,399.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, January 10.—Cotton, spot quiet; middling 18.25.

BULLISH SENTIMENT CAUSES COTTON RISE

New Orleans, Janaury 10.—Bullish sentiment carried the price of cotton strongly higher today, the most active months being more than a cent a pound up at one stage of the late trading. Smaller ginning returns than expected, the rise of nearly ten cents in the rate of sterling exchange, and reports from southern mill centers that many mills were on a full time schedule, beginning with today, stimulated traders friendly to the market to take on large quantities of contracts. The opening was at the advance, and there were no very wide reactions from it during the day. Toward the end the market stood 94 to 106 points higher than the close of last week, and last prices showed net gains of 87 to 98 points. Mach traded up to 14.44 and closed at 15.34.

The ginning report of 11,559,230 bales produced to the first of January was almost 100,000 bales smaller than expected, and had much to do with early gains, but a good part of the buying seemed to be based on nothing more or less than the belief that business in general the country over was reviving, while the strong rise in sterling exchange caused hopes of better conditions abroad.

A feature of the day was the report that from 4,000 to 5,00 bales of cotton was being prepared in this market for shipment to New York and delivery on January contracts in that market. Spots here were 75 points up, with middling quoted at 14.75.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS!

New Orleans, January 10.—Spot cotton steady, 75 higher. Sales on the spot 1,403 bales; to arrive 170. Low middling 9.75; middling 14.75; good middling 17.50. Receipts 5,737; stock 456,126.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, January 10.—(Special.)—There is nothing new in the general situation which warrants more than a temporary reaction. Our mills have yet to fix the price on a great deal of cotton, and with the European mills still without any supplies, we feel that a higher market can be expected ultimately, even though some temporary reaction takes place in the next few days.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New Orleans, January 10.—(Special.)—The trade is disposed to look forward, not backward, in gauging the probable future course of values and is more interested in the developments, denoting improvement in the financial and trade situation and the more encouraging outlook for exports. The formation of the numerous private export corporations and the revival of the government's war finance corporation has made the export outlook for the future decidedly brighter and has strengthened foreign exchange materially, demand sterling advancing to $3.74 today, 8½c up on day and higher than since July, 1920.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, January 10.—(Special.)—There is every indication that the definite turn for the better has been seen and, although caution should be used in the next day or two, we strongly advise purchases on any reaction.

JOHNSTON BROS.

New York, January 10.—(Special.)—The upward sweep of cotton prices will continue for the present so we believe.

ORVIS BROTHERS & CO.

New York, January 10.—(Special.)—The present advance will culminate, but were the economic situation normal with war cotton moving freely in commerce and with the present abundant supplies, we could hardly expect materially higher prices, since the southern banks are encouraging producers to hold so that undermargined loans can be liquidated. Present prices might be maintained provided the general business situation does not require the liquidation which was so urgent and did not take place during the months of November and December of last year. We advise caution in buying on this or any further advance.

Cotton Ginning Report Gives 11,559,230 Bales

Washington, January 10.—Cotton ginned prior to January 1 amounted to 11,559,230 running bales, including 202,276 round bales, 63,964 bales of American-Egyptian and 1,599 bales of Sea Island, the census bureau announced today.

Last year to January 1 ginnings aggregated 10,008,920 running bales, including 109,356 round bales, 31,625 bales of American-Egyptian and 6,458 bales of Sea Island.

The amount of cotton ginned prior to January 1, counting round as half bales and excluding linters, campares as follows:

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, January 10.—Cotton seed oil declined 18 to 20 points early on the heaviness in lard, but scored a fair rally before the close through buying on the strength in cotton and room covering. Final bids were 2 to 8 points net lower. Sales, 10,500 barrels. Prime crude, 6.25@6.50; prime summer yellow spot, 8.70@8.95; March, 8.95; May, 9.33; July, 9.57, all bid.

Dry Goods.

New York, January 10.—Print cloths and convertibles were more active in the dry goods market here today, with prices tending upward. Yarns were firmer and tending higher. New prices were reported being arranged on hosiery lines that will restore some of the popular retail prices in stores next spring. Dress goods were in more active inquiry. Burlaps steady; raw silks easy.

"Bird of Paradise."

(At the Atlanta.)

"The Bird of Paradise," Hawaiian love-play, reappeared at the Atlanta theater Monday night before an audience that seemed to get enjoyment from the rejuvenation of ukeleles, taropaches and their varied harmonies.

The chief feature of the attraction this year is the appearance of a new Luana—in the person of Ann Reader, who pleased her audience in the rendition of the maid who finds countless brambles in the path of one who seeks to love and hold with lips and arms. Her dancing, too, infrequently as that appears in the play of Richard Walton Tully, was well received by the audience.

Miss Reader, of course, as Luana, stands out in the cast, and were it not for Frederick Forrester, who portrays the beachcomber Dean, her acting might be said to be the most acceptable of the cast. The acting of Mr. Forrester in the scene where he is in the midst of his degradation is quite the best thing the cast offers.

The play itself deals with Luana as has been hinted, and her love affair with Paul Wilson (William McCauley), a young American doctor who falls before the lazy spell of tropical nights and sun through the medium of a quite potent fascination for Luana. Paralleling the downward trend of Wilson's life, there runs the upward progress of Dean, the beachcomber, who finds himself at the instance of Diana Larned, pleasingly portrayed by Ellen Mahar. Luana's temperament finds for her a sacrificial death to appease the wrath of Mount Peele, wherein, by the way, a very likable scenic effect is secured this year as before.

Throughout the extent of the play run the wierd melodies of those strange islands, as a setting, mainly, for the queer corteges, dances, rites and religious doings of the natives under the sonorous direction of Hewanewa, priest of Peele.

Good bits of acting are also interpolated by John Milton, as Captain Hatch, a blustering planter; and by John J. Powers, as Mr. Sysonby, a missionary.

"The Bird of Paradise" is at the Atlanta Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with a matinee Wednesday.

PAUL WARWICK.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

"The Haunted Violin," one of the best mystery acts ever seen on an Atlanta vaudeville stage, features the opening bill of the week at B. F. Keith's Lyric theater and completely puzzled audiences Monday afternoon and night.

C. R. Edmonds, owner and self-styled "trainer" of the mystic violin, first appears playing it. Then he places it on a stand, some yards away and makes it play as he wills. In order to show that no one was playing behind the curtains, Mr. Edmonds had all the curtains raised and the violin continued to play. Then he went down into the audience and asked people to name selections, and as they mentioned numbers desired the violin continued. The audiences of Monday were delighted with the novelty number, which baffled every one.

The Monarch Comedy Four, artists in both melody and comedy, draw second honors on the attractive program. Their offerings are well chosen, their comedy is bright and their voices splendid. The quartet is one of the best seen here in some time.

Roland Travers, billed as the "Illusionist Extraordinary," exhibits remarkable dexterity in staging optical illusions, attempting and effecting some of the most difficult feats in his line. Saxton and Farrell, in "Lights," appear in a clever act in which a stage manager aids a pretty girl in putting some spice into her number, and Dippy Diers, assisted by Flo Bennett, has a nut comedy turn that added variety to the bill.

The usual run of news and feature pictures accompanied the vaudeville.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Utterly forsaking the beaten trail followed by the vast majority of vaudeville revues, Billy Hart brings his circus girls as the entertaining headline novelty on the splendid opening bill of the week at Loew's Grand.

Hart, himself, is a veteran show man who does not have to force artificially his familiarity with the "big top." The whole atmosphere of the piece suggests pink lemonade, sawdust and side shows, while the quartet of pretty lassies who do a variety of songs, dances and specialties are as comely as they are clever. The burlesque mind-reading stunt was a riot of fun. The DeForest Sisters, Betty Dennison and Helen Murphy are the feminine members of the cast.

One of the liveliest numbers on the program is contributed by E. J. Moore, a combination conversationalist and magician. It is difficult to say whether this performer excelled more pronouncedly as to language or legardemaine, but in any case his turn was highly popular.

Floyd and Maybelle, the former of whom is a gymnastic dancer of rare attainments; furnish a most enjoyable portion of the bill. So do Frank Willing and Dolly Jordon, who introduce a repertoire of original songs that picks up speed from the start.

A mixed duo appearing under the title of the Marvelous De Onzos open the bill with a skillful set of tricks, notable among them being the feat of bouncing over a series of candlesticks.

One of the most powerful motion pictures seen at the Grand in weeks is on the present program. It is "The Star Rover," an all-star production based on the novel by Jack London.

"Kismet."

(At the Howard.)

The Howard theater was a popular playhouse Monday. Or, rather, "Kismet" and Otis Skinner, appearing at the Howard, made it popular. Hundreds of Atlantans flocked to the theater for the first showing in the south of the $500,000 motion picture that has been described as "the grand opera of the films."

In "Kismet," that enchanting tale of Bagdad of Arabian Nights fame, Skinner has the best of all his roles, that of Hajj, the daredevil begger of Bagdad, who wakes at dawn in rags on the steps of the mosque and before sunset has won wealth, been thrust into jail, had his daughter stolen from him, tried to assassinate the caliph, revenged himself on his enemy and, in general, experienced a veritable lifetime of tremendous adventures.

In addition to the fine work of of Mr. Skinner, "Kismet" is one of the most gorgeous and extravagant spectacles scenically that has ever been made for the screen.

The Howard concert orchestra plays some beautiful music during the showing of the picture, for the original score of "Kismet" was arranged by Enrico Leide, conductor of the orchestra, when it was first shown at the William Fox Academy of Music in New York.

The orchestra's feature number Tuesday and Wednesday is "Marche Slave," a weird and inspiring Russian composition by Tchaikowsky. On the program also are Misses Mary Grace and Kathleen Hogan, child dancers, of Atlanta; Miss Sue Rathburn and Wilma Leininger, composing the Harmony Duo, who sing "Whispering;" the Howard News and Views, and the Howard Magazine.

Katherine MacDonald.

(At the Criterion.)

Few stories printed in The Staurday Evening Post have attracted more attention than the theatrical tales of Rita Wieman. And now these have been incorporated into a charming photoplay, "Curtain," with Katherine MacDonald in the leading role. It is the feature attraction this week at the Criterion theater.

In "Curtain" Miss MacDonald is seen as an actress who achieves a tremendous success as the star of a new play. She is wooed by a millionaire bachelor through a whirlwind courtship and finally marries him and gives up the stage. Later, after she has become the mother of a boy, she discovers that her husband is false to her, having gone to Tia Juana, who has taken her place as the star. How she returns to the stage, getting back her old place, and scores a tremendous hit. How she eventually finds happiness makes a delightful romance and pleasing production.

Katherine MacDonald is as beautiful as ever in her role and is supported by an excellent cast. Race horses, rich men and footlight favorites are the principal factors that are employed to make the picture an intimate view of life behind the stage with a plot that will completely satisfy the seeker for good screen entertainment. The musical score contributed by the Criterion orchestra adds to the enjoyment of the picture.

Elmo Lincoln.

(At the Savoy.)

At the Savoy theater Monday motion picture fans of Atlanta enjoyed their first view of "Under Crimson Skies," the Elmo Lincoln feature of which so much has been written. Elmo Lincoln, the screen's strong man, who gained prominence by his appearance in "Tarzan of the Apes," has the leading role, the part of a captain of a tramp schooner plying the Southern Seas. The story of "Under Crimson Skies" deals with the attempt of a gun runner to smuggle a boatload of munitions to the revolutionists of a South American republic and the false imprisonment of Captain Barstow, who is forced to shoot the ringleader of the crew during a mutiny. There is the necessary love interest to give the story the proper touch of sentiment and a fight on the beach between two physical giants, Elmo Lincoln and Noble Johnson, which gives the picture a tremendous punch. It breathes the same atmosphere of romantic adventure found in the stories of Jack London, Robert Louis Stevenson and Rex Beach, and Elmo Lincoln is at his very best in a powerful role as a seafaring captain.

"The White Moll."

(At the Strand.)

Seldom does a photoplay so stir an audience as did "The White Moll," in which Pearl White appeared as a star at the Strand theater last night. It was Miss White's first appearance in a big special screen production, she having abandoned serials. She is seen in one of the most powerful stories ever shown on the silver sheet.

As interpreted by Miss White and a cast of notable strength, "The White Moll" carries a gripping appeal. The picture is based on the famous story by Frank L. Packard, author of "The Miracle Man," and the adroitness with which the tremendous theme has been worked out in the scenario, written by E. Lloyd Sheldon, raises the picture to the level of a classic.

The story is laid in the under world, where Rhoda, a reformed crook—played by Pearl White—receives a fortune from a rich man for settlement work, and starts out to redeem the gangsters and thieves.

The production opens with a short prologue in which an intensely dramatic church scene, in the form of a vision, is presented.

Pearl White injects into her work all the screen magnetism which she possesses and is admirably supported by a cast headed by Richard C. Travers.

"To Please One Woman."

(At the Rialto.)

When Adam yielded to Eve and ate the fatal apple, he didn't know he was furnishing the theme for the feature picture at the Rialto theater this week. But it's the truth.

Not that Lois Weber's latest picture, "To Please One Woman," has prehistoric settings or is one second later than up-to-the-minute. But the habit Adam started of doing foolish things to please the ladies persists today, and Miss Weber has graphically portrayed just what happens when an unsophisticated young man tries to satisfy the whims of a pretty and selfish woman with a tendency to "vamp" all and sundry.

"To Please One Woman" is a good picture. It's life—not only as it is led in the seaside village of Seagirt, which is the locale of the story—but as one meets it in New York or Napa. The central characters, as noted before, are a selfish woman and a gullible man. In love with the latter is a nice girl. She sees her romance shattered by her sweetheart's infatuation for his flashy charmer. More than that, the latter's influence spreads like a blight through the innocent girl's family. But before the film flashes "finis," the "vamp" meets her reward, and good old true love comes into its own.

"Her Husband's Friend."

(At the Forsyth.)

Two motor accidents play vital roles in Enid Bennett's latest Ince photoplay, "Her Husband's Friend," which made a favorable impression at the Forsyth theater on Monday.

Miss Bennett has the role of Judith Westover, married to a likable young chap whose continual carousing finally force her to divorce him. Just before the final decree is granted he is notified that his whole fortune has been wiped out by a break in the stock market. Before he can make any other arrangements to meet the alimony specified in the divorce papers, he is killed by a motor truck. Unbeknown to Judith, Princeton Hadley, her husband's chum, has gone bond for him and has to make good the alimony. Since he is a comparatively poor man, this puts a bad burden on him.

Later, Judith meets Princeton and falls in love with him. When she learns of his relation to the alimony, complications ensue, but matters finally turn out all right.

Arthur Loeb, the hero of the great Eastland disaster, and the man who saved thirty-seven lives when the big boat overturned in the Chicago river, is making a personal appearance. His pictures of the disaster, his lecture on deep sea diving are very interesting.

"The Light Woman."

(At Alamo No. 2.)

An unusually strong cast of talented players appear in the picturized version of Robert Browning's classic poem, "A Light Woman," which is the attraction at the Alamo No. 2.

The cast includes Charles Clary, whose work on the screen always hits the mark and wins the admiration of the most conservative critics; Helen Jerome Eddy, who appeared with George Beban and later with Sessue Hayakawa, and who has recently been acclaimed a star; Claire DuBrey, "vampire" of the silver sheet, and Hallam Cooley, who is given a role to his taste as a youthful Don Quixote.

The story is a powerful heart drama, unique in its unfoldment, and holding suspense until the word "finis" follows the charming little love scene.

NEGRO CAPTURES WOMAN WHO SHOT BROTHER IN FIGHT

After his brother, Joe McWhorter, colored, was shot by Willie Bell Marshall, a 22-year-old negro woman, of 125 Piedmont avenue, Mat McWhorter followed the woman from the house in which the trouble occurred, 78 Gilmer street, captured her, and brought her to police headquarters, according to statements by police.

Joe McWhorter, of 81 Gilmer street, shot in a quarrel by the negro woman, was rushed to Grady hospital. The woman is held at police headquarters on a charge of suspicion, pending outcome of the negro's injuries. He was shot below the heart and is expected to die.

IF YOU WANT TO SECURE A HIGH SALARIED POSITION

IF YOU are ambitious to succeed and are not satisfied with an ORDINARY POSITION, but would like to secure a position worth while—one possessed with unlimited future possibilities and paying you from $2,000 to $6,000 per annum—call and see us. We can help you secure SUCH a position. We are performing this service every day for others. WHY NOT YOU? One of our students recently secured a position as Cost Accountant at a salary of $500 per week. Another local student obtained a position with a large manufacturing concern at a salary very nearly double what he was previously making. This will give you some idea what our SPECIAL TRAINING and our SERVICE will do for you. We are a Nationally Known Institution of certified public accountants with branches in the leading cities. We have a Special Home Study Course in advanced accounting that anyone can understand and that enables you to become THOROUGHLY COMPETENT in a surprisingly short time. We have trained hundreds who are now holding Big Paying Executive and Accounting Positions. We are constantly hearing of desirable positions and helping our students who are competent to secure them. If you want to get out of the RUT and get a position really WORTH WHILE—get SPECIAL TRAINING. It is the surest, safest and best way. There are MORE and BETTER opportunities in the Accounting Line than in any other Right here in Atlanta over 300 AMBITIOUS and PROGRESSIVE MEN have recently enrolled for our course. These men are in the employ of some of the most influential concerns in the world. If they can see the advantage and necessity of SPECIAL TRAINING—then you can make no mistake in following suit. Call and see us and get the details of our proposition. Make up your mind to double your salary before the expiration of 1921. Low tuition. Easy terms. A NEW SUBJECT

FOR A LONG TIME we've been telling you in this little space about our large, up-to-date Repair Shop. Now, we want to tell you something of another phase of our business. Did you know that we were the largest concern in the South specializing in Electrical and Carburetor Service Stations, which are too numerous to mention? Call on us for a list of them. Maybe you don't realize the value of having your Ignition and Carburetor equipment looked after by the Official Service Station—all we have to say is, don't stay in the dark any longer.

"SERVICE" IS OUR FIRST AND ONLY AIM.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy, and youthful with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. —(adv.)

The United States vs. 606 Bags of Wheat Middlings, Shipped From Kansas City, Mo., to A. P. Morgan Grain Co., Atlanta, Ga., to Gateway Milling Co., on or About September 8, 1919.

CITATION IN REM.

Under and in pursuance of an order duly and regularly presented in the above entitled court and cause, I have seized:

Nine hundred and sixty-six bags of wheat middlings, shipped from Kansas City, Mo., to A. P. Morgan Grain company, Atlanta, Ga., to Gateway Milling company, on or about September 8, 1919, and the same is now in my possession, and I do hereby give notice to all persons having or pretending to have, any right, title or interest, in the said property, to appear before the district court in the United States district courtroom in the city of Atlanta in said division at 10 o'clock a. m. on the first day of February, 1921, then and there to make known their claims and allegations in said matter, and to show cause, if any they have, why said property should not then and there be forfeited to the United States for the causes in said libel set forth.

CLAUDE BOND,
United States Marshal.

This January 10, 1921.

NOTICE

We are authorized to say to the public that the Brickmason's and Mason's Union No. 6, of Georgia, and No. 1, of Atlanta, while willing to and will give all craftsmen our moral supprt at any cost, we are not permitted by our International Union to support any craft beyond that. Otherwise we will violate our International law.

When our scale is complied with we are more than glad to live up to our agreement.

Notice to Building and Heating Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of Dr. T. H. Bates, president, Lake City, Fla., until 2 o'clock Thursday, February 10, for the construction and heating of the High School building to be erected in Lake City, Florida.

Each bid for the construction of the building must be accompanied with a certified check in the amount of $1,000 and each bid for the heating with a certified check in the amount of $300 made payable to Dr. T. H. Bates, president, as a guarantee that if awarded the contract the successful bidder will immediately enter into contract and furnish surety bond as required by the specifications. The checks are to be recognizable at any bank for payment with the simple indorsement of T. H. Bates, President, otherwise bid will be thrown out.

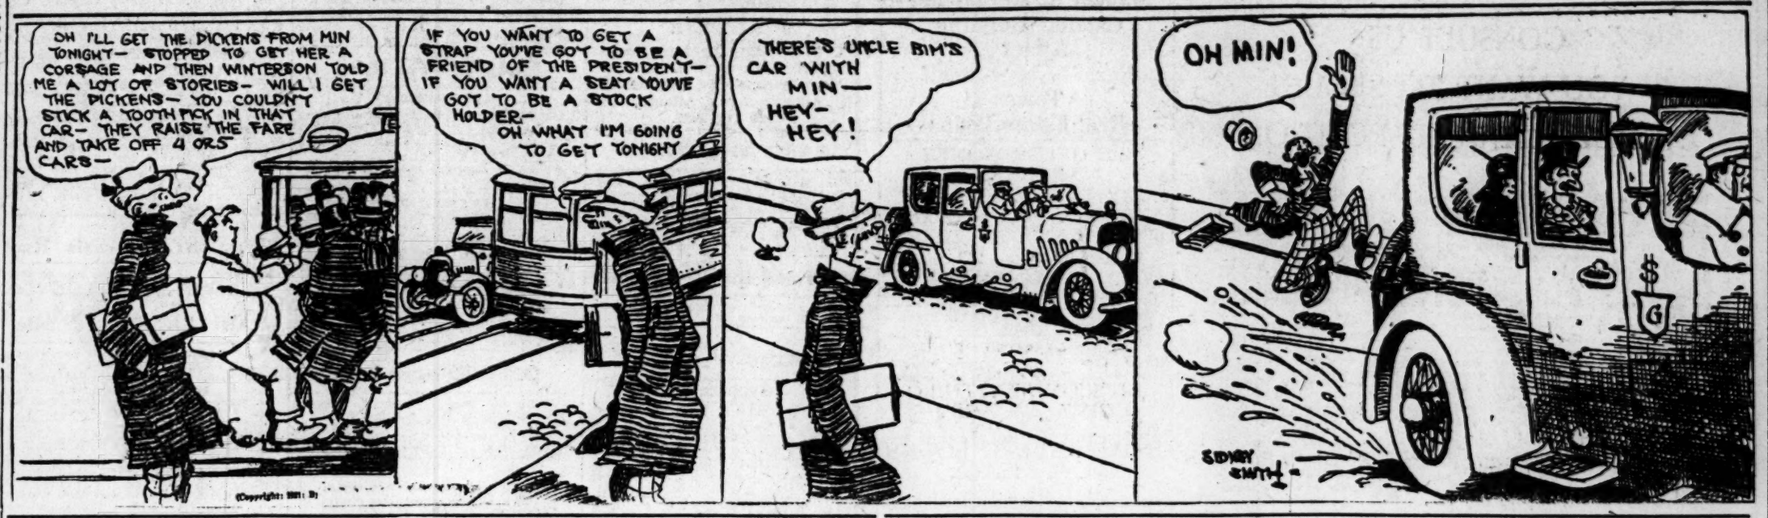

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Drawings and specifications may be seen at the office of Edwards & Sayward, 600 Chamber of Commerce building, Atlanta, Ga., and at the office of Dr. T. H. Bates, president, Lake City, Fla., and at the Builders' exchange, Atlanta, Ga. Building and heating contractors wishing to bid may obtain drawings and specifications from the architects by accompanying their applications with a certified check in the amount of $25 payable to Edwards & Sayward, architects. Failure on the part of any contractor to give a bona fide bid for the work or return the drawings and specifications to the architects after bids are received will forfeit the check.

Subcontractors wishing to get drawings and specifications are required to pay the architects $10 cash for the use of same.

This Is Better Than Laxatives

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try it.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrifaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.

The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—salts, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) are sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Splendid Weather Today and Wednesday, Promises Forecaster

Good news in a weather way is promised Atlanta by C. F. von Herrmann, local weather forecaster, in his prediction Monday. He says that in the next three days Atlanta should have some very fine weather, and that today the thermometer will begin to rise, and by tonight the weather will be much warmer.

"The thermometer Monday morning registered 33 degrees," said Mr. Von Herrmann, "and by Tuesday morning it should be about 36 degrees and will rise rapidly as the day wears on. Both Tuesday and Wednesday ought to be all Atlantans could desire."

Exactly one inch of rainfall was recorded in the last thirty-six hours.

PEPTO-MANGAN WILL HELP FIGHT COLDS

Make Up Your Mind to Keep Free From Colds. Get Your Blood in Good Condition

START TAKING PEPTO-MANGAN

Now Is the Time to Build Up. You Will Be Strong This Winter

Every house has a supply of fuel for winter. People know cold weather is coming. They get ready for it.

How many people get their own bodies ready for winter? Most of us go around all summer in the intense heat burning up enegry, working hard all day and sometimes lying awake nights sleepless in the heat.

Winter comes along. It catches many people totally unprepared physically. Few of us take stock of our health. Whether we will be well, healthy and strong, we often leave too much to chance.

But not everybody. Nowadays people are learning. They know this matter of enjoying good health is a thing they can help control. If you live right, eat right, get plenty of sleep, breathe fresh air and keep your blood in good condition, you will be all right.

It is so simple. If you feel a little off in health—perhaps worn out and pale—don't take chances. There's no need of it. Buy some Pepto-Mangan of your druggist. Begin taking it today. You can get it in liquid or tablet form. Tell your druggist which you prefer. But to be certain that you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan; ask for it by the full name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan." Look for the name "Gude's" on the package.—(Adv.)

City and Chamber Name Committees To Welcome Moose

President Lee Ashcraft, of the chamber of commerce, has appointed the following reception committee from the chamber to meet the supreme council of the Loyal Order of Moose, which body arrives in the city Wednesday, to look over sites for a home that order will build probably in the south:

George E. Watts, chairman; R. H. Martin, A. L. Belle Isle, Fred Houser, W. B. Fitzgerald, W. O. Foote, D. F. McClatchey, T. R. Gentry, Major B. M. Bailey, F. W. Stokes, A. M. Smith, John T. North and J. F. Trazzare.

The reception committee will meet with the Moose represenattives on the second floor of the Chamber of Commerce building, at 8:45 o'clock Wdnesday morning. The party will take an automobile ride, returning to the chamber of commerce about noon, when a luncheon will be served to the entire party in the chamber assembly hall.

Possible sites for the location of the Home for Aged Couples and Orphans will be shown the Moose representatives during both the morning and afternoon trips.

Mayor James L. Key has appointed Councilmen C. E. Buchanan, C. C. Baggs, R. A. Gordon, J. O. Wood, Dr. H. N. Alford and Aldermen W. C. Davis, J. L. McLendon and Dr. A. H. Cochran as a committee to represent the city of Atlanta to meet the supreme council of the Loyal Order of Moose at the chamber of commerce luncheon at 1 p. m. Wednesday in the town hall of the chamber of commerce.

MRS. M. P. MARTIN DIES OF APOPLEXY

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, a long-time resident of this city, who died in her seventy-seventh year Monday morning at her home, 15 DeGress avenue, after a stroke of apoplexy, will be conducted at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning from the Inman Park Primitive Baptist church by Rev. D. M. Matthews. Interment West View.

Mrs. Martin, who was the widow of M. P. Martin, well known through his activities in the Atlanta's Humane society, is survived by one daughter, Mrs. E. V. Haskell, and three sons, W. E. Stark, of Monroe, Ga., D. C. and Ralph Martin, of Atlanta.

Celebrate Founders' Day.

Founders' day and midwinter rally of the Atlanta Baptist Preparatory institute will begin at the Wheat Street Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock. The program will take the form of a memorial in honor of the founder, S. C. J. Bryant, the wife of who died last year. A number of the officers and leaders of the Baptist association will deliver short addresses. Among the numbers on the program will be the presentation of a portrait of the founder, which is the work of Professor R. E. Bell, of Kansas City, Mo., who has made the trip here to be present at the ceremony. Dr. E. P. Johnson, chairman of the trustee board of the school, will preside.

Banquet for C. M. White.

More than a hundred of the leaders of the race in the city were present at the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. to attend a banquet given by the American Woodmen in honor of C. M. White, supreme commander, from Denver, Colo., Monday night. Those in charge of the affair were Dr. L. M. Hill, chairman; R. W. Ketchum, deputy, and Colonel John S. Bigby, of the K. of P. Music was furnished by the Woodmen's Glee club and the K. of P. brass band.

Barbers of Atlanta Enjoy Celebration Of 22d Anniversary

Atlanta barbers and their wives, families and friends Monday night at the Temple of Labor celebrated the twenty-second anniversary of Atlanta Local, No. 23, Journeymen Barbers' Union of America, with a musical entertainment and dance that pleased a large and enthusiastic attendance.

R. E. Rollins, who acted as chairman, introduced as speakers for the occasion E. W. Holt, travelling representative of the order; Judge John D. Humphries, of the criminal division of superior court, and Jerome Jones, editor of The Journal of Labor, all of whom made short talks appropriate to the occasion.

After a musical program featured by the appearance of Ralph Richaardson and Baby Bernadine, the following officers were installed: W. E. Wells, president; C. T. Joiner, vice president; C. D. Keeling, secretary-treasurer; Manson Miller, recorder; R. C. Moreland, guide; W. R. Maye, guardian; O. D. Doster, J. B. Wallace and W. D. Langley, trustees; Manson Miller, T. J. Boggs and R. E. Rollins, finance committee.

Dancing with refreshments followed. The committee on arrangements consisted of R. E. Rollins, chairman; R. S. Mills, J. F. Pittman, R. F. Garmon, B. C. McDuffie, W. D. Langley, M. J Freeman, W H. Pierce.

"Bad Money" Machine Proved Advertising Device of Salesmen

Federal agents, wno located a "counterfeiter's den" in Atlanta aSturday were wearing dry grins Monday. They were also avoiding friends who appeared likely to be in a jocular mood.

And here is why: The agents were anonymously informed Saturday night that counterfeiters were operating at 11 Cone street. They investigated and found a queer looking machine and paper cut the size of bank notes. They confiscated both.

Harry Presidio and James Parkwood, both of New York, who occupied the room were out at the time. They later returned, snickered, and told the revenue agents that they were street salesmen on jewelry and the machine was an advertising device to draw the attention of crowds and that it and their operations generally had been viewed and approved by Chief Beavers.

Whereupon the federal agents departed.

Says Frederick J. Haskin

In the Atlanta Journal, Sunday, January 9th:

"We are about a million and a quarter short of the number of houses we need in order to house our population as well as we did before the war. * * * You think you see a good deal of building going on. Then consider these facts: For seven years before the war we built an average of 430,000 houses a year. In 1917 we built a good part of this number. In 1918 we built hardly any. In 1919 we built about 70,000. And in 1920 the total promises to be less than in 1919."

Is this not food for thought?

HEALTH COMES TO LAD THROUGH ADVERTISING

Despairing Parents, As the Last Resort, Choose Remedy Heard of Through This Newspaper—Boy Is Now Well and Robust

It would hardly occur to you that a miracle could be worked through advertising—one that saved to doting parents the life of their only son? Strange as it may seem, that is just exactly what has been accomplished in a specific instance right here in Altoona. We all have heard volumes about the value of advertising, but that the great results achieved by it, should save life, almost passes our belief. However here are the facts in the case.

Paul McCartney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon McCartney, residing at 1922 Walnut avenue, this city, and who on October 10 last, celebrated the 14th anniversary of his birthday, took sick July, 1918, his illness rapidly assuming such a critical aspect that his life was despaired of. The parents in their frantic efforts to save his life, called in different medical practitioners and at different times had him admitted to both city hospitals.

DIAGNOSED TUBERCULOSIS

The malady was diagnosed by the physicians as tuberculosis and it was suggested that the parents keep the boy out of doors, day and night and feed him entirely on a milk and egg diet. In compliance, the parents had an army cot placed on the back porch, had it properly screened and there, the sufferer reduced to a mere skeleton, lay day and night, his life ebbing. From August 1 until October the patient was unable to take nourishment of any kind, except in occasional, insignificant quantities sufficient to sustain the waning life. The stomach would not retain the food.

Finally, the attending physician told the despairing mother that he could do nothing more that the child must die. Fortunately Mrs. McCartney's father, A. T. Rice, residing at 2925 Pine avenue, brought to his daughter a copy of the Altoona Times, containing an advertisement of Milks Emulsion. "Nature's Remedy" prepared and sold by The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind., and advised her to try it, as a last resort.

EFFECT MARVELOUS

The effect was marvelous. In an interview granted to a Times Tribune reporter last evening, pursuant to an inquiry from the Milks Emulsion Co. to whom Mrs. McCartney had sent a letter of appreciation, she said that in three days after taking the remedy, her boy was able to walk with her aid. After taking ten bottles, he was wholly restored to health. In substantiation of her story the reporter was shown a snap shot of Paul after he had used the emulsion three days—he was a mere bag of bones, as the saying goes, a pitiful figure with skin drawn taut over the bones.

Then in contrast, the mother called to her son who was engaged in strenuous play on the street, and in came a lad, vibrant with health and cheeks glowing like the rose. All this in spite of the ultimatum by a physician, "that he might as well take so much lard," according to the mother's statement!

Mrs. McCartney sent her letter to the company in the hope that other mothers could learn of this remedy, what it did for her son, and perhaps receive from it the same invaluable boon. She called the attention of the reporter to a bottle of the emulsion which ever has the place of honor on the buffet, and to which she says, recourse is had every time any member of the family complains of not feeling well. Paul is attending school regularly, being enrolled at the Curtin building. Mr. McCartney is a well known machinist in the Juniata shops.

This news article from the Altoona Times-Tribune is reproduced by the Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind.

Milks Emulsion is offered, on a liberal trial plan, to anyone suffering from stomach trouble, constipation, lack of flesh or appetite, stubborn coughs or the weakening effects of wasting diseases. Take 6 bottles home and use it as directed. If not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 75c and $1.50 per bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere.
